PAUL NICHOLSON, HEILIG STAR, "SHE WALKED IN HER SLEEP"

Leading Comedian in Laughable Farce to Come Fresh From Success in Colman's Revue—Show Opens December 18.

BORN and reared in an atmosphere of the theater, Paul Nicholson, to whom has been assigned the role of leading comedian in Black Swan's "She Walked in Her Sleep," a farce of laughing distinction, which comes to the Heilig theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 18, 19 and 20, absorbed all that goes with life so closely affiliated with the stage.

Mr. Nicholson's father, who died some years ago, had been intimately identified with dramatic art in all that belongs to it, and when satisfied that his son Paul was equipped with the advantages of a good education, allowed him to follow his inclinations to become an actor. Even at an early age when the average boy employs himself with toys and all sorts of playthings, Nicholson Jr. found more congenial pastime in staging shows for the young and old, and the neighbors often marveled at the complete details of his productions. Some of the plays presented by him in his improvised theaters were written by himself and showed no mean authorship.

At the conclusion of his school days Paul Nicholson lost no time in entering the dramatic profession, and before long his services for comedy roles were in constant demand, especially where it was essential to employ an actor whose commanding presence aided to unctious characterizations.

Always it was as a comedian with lofty ideals and a quick appreciation of the subtler qualities of fun-making that brought Mr. Nicholson forward as a prominent figure in theatrical affairs. He steadfastly avoided such methods as would savor of the grotesque or burlesque. He was obsessed with the feeling that farcical comedy was entitled to respectful recognition. It was his sole purpose at all times to create honest amusement through legitimate channels, and for that reason managers were anxious to secure him.

Mr. Nicholson's most recent appearance was with the George M. Cohan "Revue," and the glowing press accounts regarding his work with that organization bear ample testimony to his skill as a fun provoker. Prior to the Cohan engagement he played leading roles in "The Blue Paradise," "Princess Fats," "A Pair of Sixes" and other successes.

Senator W. L. Jones achieves prominence as a coal mines official, a state senator and the assistant secretary of labor. W. B. John B. Wells Makes Good.

John Barnes Wells, the famous tenor and composer of New York, holds one enviable record of the United States for return concert engagements. He has sung nine times for the University Glee club of New York, which, like the Toronto Mendelssohn club, under A. S. Vogt, has the reputation of being one of the greatest choral organizations in the world. Mr. Wells also has been engaged nine times in recital by the Singers' club of Cleveland. Last Wednesday he sang with the Orpheus club of Toledo, O., the third engagement with them in four years. His recital numbers, "The Little Elf," "The Owl" and many others, are sung all over the world with universal enjoyment.

MAIL ORDERS INCREASE

Orchardists Use Phones Seldom Because of Extra Toll.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Dec. 13.—(Special.)—Branches of the rural districts are taking concerted action to obtain a reduction of the Oregon-Washington Telephone company rates, recently materially increased by order of the public service commission. The granting of a toll rate of 5 cents for every call between Hood River and Odell exchanges has raised the greatest complaint. A boycott of the system has been threatened.

Mrs. L. A. E. Clarke, postmistress at Odell, states that a material increase in mail order business has been noted the past week. Orchardists

My Practice is Limited to High-Class Dentistry Only—at Prices Everyone Can Afford.

Get Your Money's Worth

Economy Is in Quality, Not in Price!

A patient remarked to me the other day: "Doctor, I want the cheapest set of teeth you make; I must ECONOMIZE."

I showed that patient a model of our very best aluminum plate, and explained to her that that was the CHEAPEST piece of work she could buy.

While her circumstances made it necessary for her to decide upon a first-class rubber plate—the point I wished to make appealed to her (and I repeat the incident in the hope that others will also learn the lesson), that the BEST is always the cheapest.

Moderate prices (often half what other high-class dentists charge) have been a rule in this office—and I do not mean that the BEST must necessarily be the HIGHEST PRICED—but it is better by far to pay a GOOD dentist too much than to pay a poor one anything.

Quality of material and skillful workmanship necessarily imply that the "cost" will be a little more at first—but it also means the "final cost" will be much less.
