

OLICOTT FAVORS TWO GAME COMMISSIONS

Governor Wants Sport End Separated From Business.

PRESENT SYSTEM WRONG

Executive Announces He Will Put Question Up to Special Session for Lawmakers' Action.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—"It is my intention to recommend to the legislature at the special session January 13 that an entirely new deal of the cards be made for the handling of fish and game affairs, both from the angle of the sportsmen and the commercial fishermen," Governor Olicott declared today.

"I am convinced that factional differences and strife as to fish and game affairs will continue to the grave detriment of the wild life of the state unless a radical change is made. The sooner this change is effected the better. Fish and game constitute one of our greatest assets and consequently I consider the situation sufficiently important to make my proposed recommendations at the special session rather than delay them another year.

Two Commissions Favored.

Briefly my recommendations will be as follows: "Separate and divorce completely commercial fishing and the sportsmen's interests by the creation of two district commissions.

"Create a commission of three members to handle commercial fishing affairs exclusively, with no power to in any manner interfere with the interests of the sportsmen.

"Create a commission of five members to have sole jurisdiction over hunting and angling from the sportsmen's standpoint.

"Funds derived from hunting and angling licenses should be expended solely under the control of the commission created to protect the sportsmen's interests and the commission governing commercial interests would have sole control of the expenditures of the funds raised for the benefit of commercial fishing.

"The governor would be a member of neither commission. The manner of selection of the membership of each of these commissions is a matter I desire to leave entirely in the hands of the legislature to determine.

Change Called Necessary.

"My decision to make these recommendations has been reached only after due deliberation and after giving serious thought to the various phases involved. I had hoped to reserve my findings until a final report was received from the expert who has been designated to examine into the affairs of the present commission. But I am sufficiently satisfied that, whatever his report may be, the highest degree of harmony and effectiveness cannot be attained under present conditions.

"As it now stands the governor is chairman of the commission. This is wrong in theory and in practice. The offices of the commission are located in Portland. The executive has little knowledge of the commission's transactions except that gained through correspondence and occasional visits at the regular monthly meetings.

System Not Right.

"I am not for the moment in a position to advise the responsibilities that go with my office. But when I have become convinced through actual experience that any administrative system of the state government is based upon wrong principles it would be detrimental to my duty if I failed in hastening to correct the evil.

"With the chairmanship of the commission lodged in the chief executive, a general feeling has grown up that the chairman of the commission is responsible for all of its acts. This even goes to the extent that many people feel the commission should be subservient to the wishes of the executive. They further feel that unless there is such subservience the executive should straightway exercise his power by discharging the commissioners and selecting a new group entirely. This condition in itself is wrong, breeds distrust and distrust in the minds of large numbers of persons who otherwise inherently are true and sincere wish for better game protection and propagation."

THE HAGUE, Dec. 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Long inclined to believe the allies would not make a serious demand for the extradition of ex-emperor William, the Dutch government now expects such a demand will be made, the Associated Press was officially informed today.

"We suppose the demand will come before long and that several powers probably will address a joint letter to Holland, setting forth the case," the official said. "Our feeling is that the very men who sign the demand probably will be hoping all the time that we will refuse. This demand will put a small nation in a difficult position, which seems to us not at all just."

So far as the Associated Press is able to learn, Holland will probably stick to her original intention to refuse demand for extradition of the ex-emperor. There is a growing feeling in some Dutch circles that the ex-monarch himself could end the difficulty in which he placed Holland, if he chose to show himself grateful for a year's sanctuary.

"If could and the whole difficulty so far as Holland is concerned," the official said, "by voluntarily returning to Germany. German press dispatches indicate the German inquiry commission would like to interrogate him. However, from what we can learn, the ex-kaiser is not likely to do anything like that. He is not afraid to return, but his mind does not work that way. It is against his ideas to appear before any inquiry commission, as he still professes to consider himself responsible for nothing wrong."

GENEVA, Dec. 20.—A dispatch from Basle states the German ex-emperor has finally agreed to accept trial by the allies, but adds that he wants to choose the place and time of the trial and desires to be defended by German experts and lawyers. The Basle advices said the ex-crown prince declares he will never appear if he is called before a court of justice.

WAGE PROPOSAL DEcriED

PLAN TO MAKE $4 MINIMUM DECLARED VICIOUS.

Ballot Title for Amendment Restoring Capital Punishment in Oregon Also Completed.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Ballot titles for the proposed constitutional amendments making it unlawful for any person, firm or corporation hiring another to pay a wage of less than $4 a day of eight hours for any man employe or a wage of less than $2.50 a week of 48 hours for any woman employe, and restoring the death penalty in Oregon, were completed by Attorney-General Brown today.

The proposed amendment was prepared by J. E. Medley, 394 East Eighty-eighth street, Portland, and, according to local attorneys, is one of the most vicious pieces of legislation ever attempted in Oregon. It is pointed out by these lawyers that regardless of financial conditions, Oregon operators, under the amendment, would be compelled to pay their workers the minimum wage provided, while in other states employers could adjust their scale of compensation to come within their revenues.

As a result of such a possible condition Oregon industries would be seriously handicapped, and in many instances would be forced to suspend operations, according to persons who have considered the proposed amendment.

The ballot for the capital punishment amendment reads: "Purpose, to restore capital punishment by providing by constitutional amendment that the penalty for murder in the first degree shall be death, except when the trial jury shall, by its verdict, recommend life imprisonment, which repeals all provisions of constitution in conflict with the same."

This proposed amendment was prepared at the instigation of George L. Baker, mayor of Portland.

A Cremona Is a Perfect Christmas Gift

No other gift would give that perfection of enjoyment that a CREMONA, playing a good voice record, will give to any music lover. It is the marvelous CREMONA tone. The tone of the CREMONA phonograph is wonderfully clear and mellow, with a "human" quality. This rare harmony is the result of the proper application of a scientific principle in designing the Sound Chamber.

The Suspended All-Spruce Sound Chamber

The sound chamber of CREMONA is made entirely of heavy, long-fiber spruce and is connected directly with the mechanism that reproduces all sound, through the tone arm. The open end is firmly fastened to the cabinet—an arrangement that gives CREMONA a suspended sound board like that in a piano. Hundreds have heard Cremona this month. Hundreds have bought Cremona phonographs. Prices range from $90 to $285, and terms are arranged to suit purchaser. There are only three days before Christmas in which you may decide on the model you prefer. Do not buy until you have heard Cremona. Every effort will be made to deliver your choice of models by Wednesday night.
