EAST'S BEST AGAIN WEST'S IS BEST CARD

New Year's Contest at Pasadena to Be Hummer.

BOTH TEAMS FORMIDABLE

Harvard's Record for 1919 Season Is Impressive, but So Is That of Oregon Lemon-Yellow.

BY HARRY M. GRAYSON.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—For the second consecutive time the University of Oregon is to uphold the honor of the west in the annual Pasadena classic New Year's day. The big event at the Crown city was inaugurated on the first day of 1918, when Washington State college, coached by Bill "Lonestar" Dietz, triumphed over Brown University 14 to 0.

During the 1918 season Hugo Bezdek's Oregon steamroller crushed and humiliated every western team but Washington, with which it played a scoreless tie, and New Year's day, 1917, saw the present Penn State mentor's hustling aggression crown its efforts by tramping on Pennsylvania 14 to 0. This 14 to 0 score in favor of Oregon in this western rivalry has become a sort of habit.

The Pasadena folks were in not featuring intercollegiate football during the recent unpleasantness abroad. Service eleven was pressed into service instead, the Mars Island Marine kicking the Camp Lewis team in 1918 and the Great Lakes Naval Training Station outfit walloping the Marines a year ago.

When the charging crimson and the fighting lemon-yellow clash, some twenty-eight or thirty thousand people will see the east's best pitted against the best team produced on the Pacific coast this season. ## OREGON IS WARMLY GREETED Pasadena Makes Much of Squad Wearing Lemon-Yellow.

WITH THE OREGON TEAM, Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 20.—The team arrived at the Maryland hotel at noon, where they were received warmly by hotel patrons and admirers. When the lemon-yellow warriors from Oregon filed through the lobby they were given rousing applause.

The team was immediately assigned to bungalow 81, on Euclid avenue. Trainer Bill Hayward sent in orders for the regular training table menu.

Holly Huntington was renewing acquaintances with former friends here. This is his third trip to Pasadena.

John Beckett was waiting for the boys at Benicla, where the special was ferried across the bay. John will be down next week to join the coaching staff.

The team went to the park after a light lunch, but did not practice, as the baggage failed to arrive in time.

Harry M. Grayson, former Oregonian sporting editor, was on the reception committee.

Mr. Bertonneau of the football committee welcomed the team at the Maryland.

Mr. Keisling of the Pasadena Evening Post also was on the reception committee.

With the cold snap over Harry Green is again manning to stage from four to six matches each night excepting Saturday and Sunday in the annual three-cushion handicap tournament at the Rialto.

There are three other billiardists who have lost only one game up to date in class A, all of whom will figure in the race for first prize.

W. R. Phillips, wielding a wicked cue in class D, still holds the high record of eight for all classes in the tournament.

San Goddard, class A, W. A. Walby, class A and Jake Weinstein, class B, have all registered runs of six.

Manager Harry D. Green is planning on starting about six matches on Monday and Tuesday nights and perhaps Wednesday night.

HARVARD OFF FOR CLASH WITH YALE.

Trip Marks Epoch in Annals of Crimson Sport.

PARTY NUMBERS 45 MEN

Weights of Easterners Indicate Team of Tremendous "Beet" With Light Backfield.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—The Harvard football team pulled out of the South station, Boston, a little after 2 o'clock this afternoon, bound on a trip across the continent which will end in a New Year's day game with Oregon at Pasadena, Cal. The trip is without example in the athletic annals of Harvard or, for that matter, in the history of the so-called big three teams of Harvard, Princeton and Yale. The crimson has never been allowed to wander very far from its own hearthside when on this side of the water.

Forty-five persons are making the trip, 25 of whom are officially identified with the Harvard party, although they are paying their own expenses. The names of the players and their weights, starting with the probable line-up for the game, are as follows:

Left tackle, Robert Sedgwick, 264 pounds; left guard, Thomas Woods, 222 pounds; center, Charles Tierney, 192 pounds; right guard, Plunk Mowbray, 197 pounds; right tackle, Keith Kane, 182 pounds; right end, Percy Slayton, 180 pounds; quarterback, Captain William Murray, 159 pounds; fullback, Richard Humphrey, 170 pounds; right halfback, Charles Tierney, 155 pounds; left halfback, Ralph Horween, 182 pounds; end, Morris Finney, 182 pounds; Joseph Ryan, 164 pounds; tackle, Henry center, Charles Tierney, 192 pounds; Wynans Hubbard, 190 pounds; center, Charles Tierney, 192 pounds; quarterback, Winslow Felton, 150 pounds; Frank Church, 150 pounds; back, Frederick Higgins, 145 pounds; fullback, Stanley Nelson, 170 pounds; Stanley Burnham, 170 pounds.

Seven Coaches on Board.

The other Harvard men making the trip are Head Coach Bob Fischer, Assistant Coaches Erieck Parson, Ted Mahan, Paul Withington, Dick Wigglesworth, Sam Felton and Jimmie Higgins, Club Physician Dr. Thomas Richards, Faculty Representative Mathew Luce.

The newspaper men accompanying the team were William D. Sullivan, city editor of the Globe; Burton Whitman, sporting editor of the Herald; Howard Reynolds, sporting editor of the Post; William Spargo, sporting editor of the Traveler, and Charles F. Taylor, editor of the American. The women en route are the Mesdames James, Fisher, Knox and Sullivan. A small student demonstration took place as the train was pulling out.

Oregon Backs Heaver.

According to the best available statistics Oregon will be outweighted in the rush line by about ten pounds a man, but behind the forwards will have a big advantage over the Crimson backfield. It is planned by 25 players only 155 pounds and Captain Murray only two pounds the heavier.

Harvard will have Ralph Horween at fullback for most of the game, unless he is injured, and the punting which fell short in the contest with Yale should be considerably improved this time. Horween's weight will come in handy to hit the line. In case anything happens to the idea brother, Arnold Bowen can be shifted from center to fullback.

Squad Stops at Chicago.

The Harvard itinerary shows that the football players will arrive in Chicago tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock and will have about four hours stopover. It is planned that Chicago graduates to entertain the party at dinner. The train is scheduled to leave Chicago Sunday night.

Monday the team will travel through Nebraska and the following day through Wyoming and Utah. Wednesday the train will carry through Nevada and into California over the summit of the Sierra Nevada mountains. On Wednesday afternoon, December 24, the team will arrive at Oakland, thence taking the ferry to San Francisco and arriving in that city Christmas eve.

In San Francisco Major Moore's party will make its headquarters at the Palace hotel, where it will have breakfast Christmas day. That forenoon the Harvard graduates in San Francisco at the University club will entertain the team and the coaches at luncheon. Whether the eleven will have a chance for a workout remains to be decided, but in all probability the players will have signal drill at least.

Christmas night the team will set out on its final lap of the journey to Pasadena.

The football players will have a chance to practice December 26 and will have four other days besides Sunday in which to make their final preparations.

Aberdeen Seniors Win.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 20.—(Special.)—Basketball titles in the interclass games of the Weatherwax high school were won both in the girls' and the boys' teams by the seniors. Similarly in both the boys' and girls' contests the sophomores, juniors and freshmen followed in the order named. In the final games of the series the boys seniors won from the sophomores 25 to 19, while the Juniors defeated the freshmen by a score of 23 to 6. In the girls' play the seniors beat the sophomores 8 to 4, while the juniors were victors over the freshmen 10 to 2.
