The engagement of Miss Katherine McMahon and Orville V. Gamble was announced at an informal party for which Miss McMahon was hostess at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Charles C. Bechtold, Laurelhurst avenue.

Miss McMahon, who has been the center of many pleasant parties, is a Portland girl who during the war gave much of her time and energy to war camp activities.

Mr. Gamble is the son of Mrs. J. M. Leiter, also of Portland. Gamble is well known by the lumbermen of the coast and maintains a central office in Portland for his mills and camps throughout Oregon.

The wedding will be on Christmas day in the name of the First Presbyterian church. A wedding dinner will be served at the residence of the bride's sister.

COMING EVENTS.

Owing to the numerous social events prior to and during the holidays the Knights of Columbus have postponed their dance to January 9. It will be held in the Multnomah hotel. M. P. Brennan is chairman of the committee in charge.

Corinthian chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will close its social activities for the year Tuesday night with a dinner at 6:30 for the members and families. The chapter meeting will open at 8, followed by a Christmas programme, to which friends will be welcome. There will be a Christmas tree for the little folks.

The benefit dance given by the Portland Association of Dancing Masters, at Christensen's hall December 29, promises to be one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season. It is given for the purpose of providing funds to bring the post convention of the American National Association of Dancing Masters to Portland in 1920. The Portland association will have the assistance of the
