Surveys in Oregon for Interchurch World Movement Progressing Favorably-United Presbyterians Active

The following programme has been invited. Seats free.

Mrs. Helen Hucke, Mrs. Louise Christian.

Morgan and Professor C. M. Patter-son, all of Albany, Or. Among the interesting places to be visited is the United Presbyterian church at Oakville, southwest of Al-bany, which is sometimes called the cradle of the United Presbyterian church in the country. Here in the early '50s Dr. Samuel G. Irvine es-tablished the Willamette congregation, the first psalm-singing congre-gation in the western part of the United States. Later on he started a church in Albany which resulted in the union of two branches of the Presbyterian church and was the first in North America to be known as the United Presbyterian church.

In fact, there is a large amount of finteresting historical material met by Nettie Taylor Kloh. Veys, which are nearing completion in several counties. Clatsop county is now being organized for the survey and Sherman county comes next on the list. It is planned to proceed with the survey of Sherman county this rext week. The Rev. Elmer E. Mc-Vicker of Moro is the county leader.

United Presbyterians Active. The new world movement of the United Presbyterian church is calling throughout the country. In line with this, the first United Presbyterian church of Scattle releases its paster. Dr. W. R. Sawhill, for a meeting at Dr. W. R. Sawhill, for a meeting at the First United Presbyterian church in Portland, beginning Monday, Jan-uary 12. Dr. Sawhill has had pas-terships in the larger congregations. One of his charges before coming west numbered 1000 members. He would be a front rank man in any line anywhere. The captains find in him a kindred spirit and the masses call him their own.

A large wall map, detted with thousands of colored pins, changed daily, will tell icaders of the new world movement at Pittsburg, Pa., just what every congregation in the United Presbyterian church is doing in the movement for winning souls. It will be in operation within a few days, ac-cording to Dr. George E. Rafti, gen-cral secretary of the movement. Dr. Rafti will be able to tell at a glance just how many new members in any one congregation in the na-tion, the extent of work in the spirit-ual life department, survey made stewardship duties and canvass of membership and other vital problems.

The map will cover a whole side wall in Dr. Raitr's office. It will be divided into synods and subdivided into presbyteries, and so on down to congregations, sociaties in the church and individuals. The number of churches in any one presbytery, their name and location, will be inclosed in he space or territory covered by that presbytery.

Each of the pins will be used to Each of the pins will be used to designate some special form of work, such as increased attendance at the Sabbath services, min-week prayer meeting attendance, family altar enfollments, stewardship progress, evangelistic work, social Christian
