

LEGAL STAGE READY FOR I. W. W. TRIALS

Judge Wilson to Open Case at Montesano January 26.

11 CHARGED AS SLAYERS

Men Accused of Killing ex-Service Paraders at Centralia Denied Second Change of Venue.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—Practically the last act in the setting of the stage for the trial of the 11 men accused of the murder of the four ex-service men who were shot during the armistice day parade at Centralia has been performed, and the trial will start on the morning of Monday, January 26, at Montesano, Judge John Wilson of Olympia presiding.

The men to be tried are Bert Bland, American, 34 years of age; John Larab, American, 40; James McInerney, Irish, 24; Eugene Barnett, American, 28; O. C. Bland, American, 26; Bert Faulkner, American, 23; Elmer S. Smith, American, 21; Loren Roberts, American, 21; Ray Heister, American, 24; Mike Sheehan, Irish, 60; Britt Smith, American, 37.

The charge on which they are to be tried is the murder of Warren Grimm, who with three other ex-service men was shot down during the parade. The decision to hold the trial at Montesano has been finally made after much objection on the part of George F. Vanderveer, attorney for the accused men. The first change was made upon motion of Vanderveer that the trial be held in some other county than Lewis, where the crime was committed. Judge George D. Abel of this county granted the change and designated this county and January 5 as the date for the trial. Later, Governor Hart designated Judge John Wilson of Olympia as the trial judge.

On December 5 the last of the prisoners was transferred from the Lewis county jail to Montesano, and placed in charge of Sheriff Jeff Bartell. On January 2 Judge Wilson heard a motion for a second change of venue on the grounds of prejudice of the citizens of this county and lack of accommodations. Judge Wilson stated that he would grant the change and that he would set the time and place of trial at the following Wednesday, stating that the trial would be at either Olympia or Tacoma. On the following Wednesday, January 7, after hearing arguments on the law by the attorneys for the state, Judge Wilson revoked the order for a second change of venue and set the date of the trial for January 26 at Montesano.

The attorneys who will conduct the case for the state are Herman Allen, prosecuting attorney for Lewis county; C. D. Cunningham of Centralia, deputy prosecutor; F. P. Christensen, assistant attorney-general of the state, and W. H. Abel of Montesano, acting as assistant to the prosecution. The I. W. W. defense will be handled by George F. Vanderveer of Seattle.

BAD COWS WEEDED OUT

TILLAMOOK COUNTY IMPROVES DAIRY CONDITIONS.

"No Number 2 Cheese in 1920" Slogan Suggested to Manufacturers by Inspector.

TILLAMOOK, Or., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—There are 13,280 dairy cows and 82 dairy farms in Tillamook county, and it is the duty of Dairy Inspector D. R. Tinnerstedt to inspect these farms and see that they are kept in sanitary condition. Last year was the first time that an inspector had been appointed for that purpose, and good results have followed his work.

Besides this inspector the dairymen employ an inspector and graher for the cheese factories to see that a wholesome, high-grade cheese is turned out, and a veterinarian surgeon makes an inspection of all dairy cows, for milk from cows that have not been inspected cannot be delivered at the cheese factories, which has resulted in the removal of tubercular cows from the dairy herds of Tillamook county.

Mr. Tinnerstedt's report, which was submitted to the Tillamook County Creamery association in part follows: "The average score of Tillamook dairies is 61.3, the highest 91.2 and the lowest 27.4."

Six barns were condemned, owing to contaminated and unsanitary conditions, and beyond repair. Three of these barns have been replaced with new, modern buildings, two are under construction, and another is planned for early this year. Three milking machines, 32 milk pails, 41 milk cans and 43 strainers were condemned.

"The advancement of the dairy industry not only depends upon improving the dairy herds so as to get the highest producing cows, but also upon the improvement of the methods employed in caring for the cows, barns, utensils and milk. "To produce milk of good quality, there are some essentials that must be observed. Some of these are cleanliness, well-lighted stables and milk-rooms, plenty of fresh air, and prompt cooling. It is encouraging to report that 83 per cent of the barns are either painted white or whitewashed on the inside.

"A good slogan for every dairymen and cheese-maker in Tillamook county to adopt this coming year is: "No seconds or No. 2 cheese in 1920."

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 10.—Attorney-General A. Nugent, a state democratic leader, which Nugent refused on the ground that "woman suffrage is the greatest menace now threatening the stability of the American government and American institutions." Louis H. Freund, an assemblyman-elect, declared he considered it unethical on Mr. Palmer's part "to interfere in New Jersey affairs."

Mr. Hendley, another, said he believed in state's rights and could not see what business Mr. Palmer had in New Jersey affairs.

West Promising, Hays Says. DENVER, Colo., Jan. 10.—Before departing for Salt Lake City Friday on his swing across the continent in a preliminary marshaling of republican forces for the forthcoming presidential campaign, Will H.
