

SENATE CONTEST IN IDAHO IS FORECAST

Frank R. Gooding Likely Republican Candidate.

GOVERNORSHIP AT STAKE

Colonel Patch, War Veteran, Mentioned as Contender for One Post or the Other.

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—Political fermentation has started in Idaho and leaders of the various parties are beginning to take interest in the developments which promise to crystallize into a definite program before 1920 is many months older.

Aside from the governorship, always a coveted office, there is a United States senatorship at stake this year and nothing will be left undone to win it, both by republicans and democrats.

Gooding to Run. Gooding made it clear some time ago that he would be in the race. There are some republicans who never were Gooding supporters and are not in favor of running him again.

They are insistent in their demands that he become the party's candidate and they hold that after the fight he made a year ago on the Non-partisan issue, it would be a disgrace of unfairness to attempt to sidetrack him or to center a fight on him.

Strong as is the Gooding following, linked with that office now is the name of Governor Davis and his strongest supporters are not at all backward in mentioning him. Just what the governor's opinion on this subject is, has never been learned.

The other prominent republican mentioned is Colonel L. V. Patch, present adjutant-general, a war veteran and one of the more conspicuous ex-soldiers of the late war prominently identified with Idaho politics.

What adds such keen interest to the senatorship this year is the fact that the man elected, whether democrat or republican, will draw a six-year term.

The only chance then to get into the senate after the long term vacancy coming up is by being elected in the event Senator Borah should not desire to succeed himself.

There does not appear to be opposition to Nugent in his party. He will likely be the nominee. Who, then, from the republican ranks, shall contest the seat with him—Gooding, Davis, Patch or a "dark horse"?

In the possible event Governor Davis should resign as a candidate for United States senator, or whom would the republican party turn for its candidate for governor, politicians are asking to see the light.

The democrats are not severing themselves politically as early this year as in the past. It is realized that there will have to be an adjustment of party lines because of the inroads made by the Non-partisans at the last election.

HARRELD CAUSES STORM

OKLAHOMA REPRESENTATIVE'S STAND IS CRITICIZED.

Solon Votes to Give Seat to Victor Berger and Is Antagonistic to Military Training.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 24.—A squall which has been brewing within the republican membership of the house for the last two days over the tentative selection of Representative J. W. Harreld of Oklahoma as a member of the house military affairs committee became a raging hurricane Friday.

The situation was intensified by a protest made to Majority Leader Mondell and others prominent in the republican side of the house by Representative J. Stanley Webster of Washington, who declared that if necessary he would file Harreld's assignment to the military affairs committee from the floor of the house.

Other republican members, including Representative McArthur of Oregon, got behind Judge Webster and said they were prepared to go the limit with him.

Harreld, a republican, was recently elected to the house from a strongly democratic district in Oklahoma. Almost the first act of his public career was to vote to give a seat to Victor Berger, socialist of Milwaukee, under conviction and sentence for disloyalty.

The first protest came from Representative Julius Kahn of California, chairman of the military affairs committee, who opposed Harreld because of his antagonism to universal military training.

Survivor of Quadruplets Are Named Dorothy, Dorinda and Doris. Clothes Donated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—(Special.)—"The mother and three little girl babies are doing very well, thank you," the mother of the Beulah Rescue Home, conducted by the Salvation Army, said last night.

"They are perfect babies and will grow up to be husky little girls," Dr. A. M. Gregory, who ushered the family into the world, added.

Dorothy, Doris and Dorinda are the names selected for the survivors of the first quadruplets born in Oakland, but they look so much alike at two days of age that they are distinguished by pink, blue and white ribbons around their chubby arms.

Dorothy, the first-born, weighs four and a half pounds, and Doris and Dorinda weigh five and four pounds, respectively. The mother, known only as Anna, is a 110-pound, 29-year-old working girl of Oakland. The father of the four babies, who deserted the girl-mother five months ago, is sought by police. He was a civilian employe at Mare Island, and until yesterday the little mother refused to divulge his name. She says she will not marry the father if he is found.

"Are they worth the price?"

LIKE everything else, good clothes are higher priced; but they're no higher in proportion than good workmen.

A man or overcoat that gives full value in service is worth the price.
