

STATE AND FEDERAL OFFICIALS CLASH

Smuggled Whisky Is Cause of Controversy.

U. S. TO PRESS CHARGES

Martin Costello's Automobile, in Which Liquor Was Found, Seized; Heavy Bonds Asked.

ASTORIA, Or., Feb. 28.—(Special.)—A clash took place this afternoon between the officers of the state and federal courts over the possession of 15 cases of Scotch and Canadian Club whisky, the evidence in the case against Martin Costello. This liquor had been seized by Sheriff Nelson February 26, when it was found in Costello's automobile at the Hammond mill wharf. Costello refused to tell where he obtained the liquor, but it is believed to have come from the steamer Windber and that Costello paid $1500 for it. The whisky had been taken from the sheriff and turned over to the custody of Constable Robinson when Costello was held yesterday to await the action of the circuit court grand jury.

The clash occurred when Costello's hearing on a federal charge of having liquor in his possession was called before United States Commissioner Carney.

Government to Press Charges.
Attorney Flagel, of the federal district attorney's office, who conducted the prosecution, stated that he had requested District Attorney Barrett to dismiss the charges against the same offense against the same defendant.

"This Barrett promised to do," continued Flagel, "but owing to the objection made by the sheriff he now refuses. We do not like to prosecute a man in two courts for the same offense, but the government got into this case through accident, but now we are in it we are going to stay in it. I shall insist on seizing the defendant's automobile in which the liquor was found and also on the custody of the liquor. There is something wrong with the procedure in this case. Frankly, I cannot understand why the evidence was taken away from the sheriff and placed in the custody of some other party, who sleeps in the room with it. It is certainly melodramatic to say the least."

Higher Bonds Demanded.
Costello waived examination and was held to appear before the federal grand jury with bonds fixed at $500. Attorney Flagel asked that the bond be fixed at $1500 and when this was refused said he would take the matter before the federal court to increase the bond.

"You apparently do not realize the seriousness of this case," he said, addressing the commissioner, "and the man was found in possession of liquor that he knew had been smuggled into the country and on which no duty had been paid. There may be 15 or 20 counts returned against him and the total fines may reach thousands of dollars."

INFLUENZA GAINS Foothold WHEN RESISTANCE IS LOW

The extent and virulence of the influenza epidemic is due to lowered resistance. Overwork, lack of nourishing food, too little exercise in the open air and worry over the problem of increasing living costs all contribute to the low ebb of physical strength.

Rich, well-oxygenated blood is the body's best defense against influenza or any other germ disease. A person who catches cold easily should interpret this as a warning of lowered vitality. There is immediate need for a tonic.

Mrs. Ida Addis, of No. 622 Second avenue West, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was a victim of influenza. The disease left her so weak that she was practically an invalid. It was then she learned of the remedy which she recommends to others. When seen at her home recently Mrs. Addis said:

"I had been feeling poorly for some time and was an easy victim of influenza. It seemed as though I should never recover my strength. My blood was so thin that my face and lips were without color and I couldn't keep warm. I was nervous and sleepless. Headaches bothered me day after day and I had little appetite."

"When I was becoming discouraged I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and was so impressed by what they had done for others that I procured a box and began the treatment. The pills proved the very thing I needed, for in a few weeks my color returned and with it my appetite and strength. I no longer have headaches and now feel like a different person. I sleep well and am refreshed in the morning. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills an excellent tonic and strongly recommend them to those who suffer from the after-effects of influenza."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 68 cents per box. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood," containing a special chapter on the grip.—Adv.
