EDUCATION USED TO INDUCT FOREIGNERS

Church Adopts New Method for Americanization.

U. S. IDEALS ARE TAUGHT

Approach Is Made Through Colporteurs, Who Spy Out Land and Gain Confidence.

PITTSBURG, March 6.—More than 200,000 foreigners who live within 20 miles of the Pittsburgh courthouse are being Americanized through the education of women and children by trained workers who speak their home tongue and are acquainted with their home customs.
These workers are selected by church boards from among the foreign population, and after being educated in cookery, nursing and the essentials of Americanism are sent among the people to carry out a system by which the foreigner may be lifted to the level of his American neighbor. For religious purposes they have the active assistance of clergymen who speak the language of immigrants from southern Europe, and who are in sympathy with the people.

Plan Is Simple.
The Pittsburgh presbytery of the Presbyterian church, the pioneer in the movement, has 22 educational stations scattered in all parts of Allegheny county. 43 trained foreign workers and 14 ministers. It also publishes four weekly papers having a combined circulation of almost 100,000, and the leaders of the movement estimate that fully 20,000 foreigners come under the influence of its workers every day.

The plan is simple. Foreigners coming into the district usually collect in groups, each nationality living in its own section of the community where the men are employed. Colporteurs, speaking many languages, are sent among them to spy out the land and inquire into their needs. These men gain the confidence of the people and in time begin the distribution of literature printed in the language of the particular group. This includes short stories depicting American life and sketches of men who have done much to make America. Gradually the foreigners show added interest, and when the woman and children come over the colony is ready for the woman worker from the Presbyterian training school.

Confidence Is Given.
The care of children, how to prepare American meals and vegetables, and the best methods to keep their houses clean are gradually taught the women, who, finding themselves addressed in the speech of their childhood, freely give to the young workers their full confidence.
There is little trouble with the children. They gladly seize upon the opportunity afforded for Americanization, and are eager to learn the language and customs of the country. It often happens that they are not content with the learning they obtain in the public school, but crowd the summer schools conducted by the presbytery. They learn quickly, and after a few months sewing is taught to the girls and manual training to the boys.
They are surrounded with cleanliness, moral and physical, and made to feel that if they are to become real citizens of the country they must learn and follow the mental and physical lessons taught to them by the young women workers. Results have been most gratifying. Many leaders of the movement.
