

GERMAN MONARCHIST PARTY'S HAND SEEN

Names of Leaders in Latest Coup Significant.

PRUSSIAN HEADS FORCES

New Chancellor Remembered for His Activity in Speeding Up U-Boat Building.

(By the Associated Press.)

The names associated with the new revolutionary movement in Germany indicate its reactionary character. It appears that Germany is in the throes of the frequently predicted counter-revolutionary monarchist struggle.

Dr. von Kapp, reported as having assumed the chancellorship, is a former conservative member of the Reichstag and general director of the German agricultural society. He was one of the deputies who early in 1918 urged the government to speed up U-boat building. He became president of the fatherland party, the notorious Pan-German organization which urged that Germany carry on the war to the bitter end. After the abdication of Emperor William and the signing of the armistice, Dr. Kapp was one of the men for whose arrest the independent socialists clamored on the ground that he and his associates had been responsible for the continuation of the war and the hindering of peace.

Prussian Heads Military.

Major-General Baron von Luettwitz, who, according to the dispatches, has been named commander-in-chief, was military governor of Belgium in the early days of the war. He was a commander on the Verdun front. When the German treaty came up for action by the government last June, he was one of the leaders of the military party prominent in opposition to the peace terms. He has an American wife, who was Miss Cary of Cleveland. He always has been classed as thoroughly Prussian.

Before the war General von Luettwitz held the posts of military attaché of the German embassy at London and later at Petrograd. He was born April 9, 1865. His father, Max Freiherr von Luettwitz, died in 1887. His mother, Irma von Gual-Gyula, is still living.

The new commander-in-chief's marriage to Miss Cary took place July 14, 1912. She was born January 6, 1869. The couple have two children—Irma and Gustav.

Monarchists Bid Time.

There has been a strongly held belief that the Pan-German monarchist party was merely biding its time and awaiting an opportune moment to seize control of affairs. This belief caused the allies' worry when they considered the nearness of former Emperor William's retreat at Brno to the German border and prompted their strong representations to Holland of the danger to the peace of Germany and the rest of Europe of his presence there. In response to this the Dutch government promised to keep a close guard over the ex-tyrant. Former Crown Prince Frederick William also is a refugee in Holland, but his retreat at Wieringen is further removed from the German border.

The fact that the development is apparently of a monarchist nature will cause attention to be paid to any news from Holland regarding the former royal personages. Indications have come from Berlin that the reactionary movement was possibly precipitated by the fact that a Hohenzollern prince, Joachim Albrecht, was about to be tried and possibly imprisoned in connection with the recent demonstration against French officers at the Hotel Adlon.

Government Forewarned.

Dispatches from Berlin yesterday telling of the discovery of a reactionary plot would indicate that the government had explicit foreknowledge of the attempt and this fact makes explanation of the report of easy success of the anti-government forces in entering Berlin difficult. It may be noted that the names of the two men most prominent in military affairs under the old regime, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, so far have not been mentioned in connection with the new development. The field marshal indeed had only recently announced his willingness to become a candidate for the German presidency, while Berlin dispatches in January also credited General Ludendorff with the intention of becoming an active participant in the next German political campaign.

If there has been an effective overturn of the present government in Germany, the effect upon the relations between Germany and the allies and the carrying out of the terms of the treaty of Versailles can hardly be estimated.

Germany Held Impotent.

With a militarist regime in control in Germany there seems little doubt that the outside pressure for the strict execution of the stipulations of the peace pact would be markedly increased, particularly from such nations as France and Belgium. It has been generally conceded, however, that the military requirements of the treaty which have been already put into effect have rendered Germany militarily impotent for a long time to come, at least so far as any aggression on her part might be concerned. This, however, is perhaps not true of the French army leaders, among whom Marshal Foch in particular has been insistent in pressing for greater military protection against Germany for France than was provided for by the peace pact signed last June.

CARY DOUBTS IDENTITY

CONNECTION OF GERMAN WITH FAMILY QUESTIONED.

General Arthur von Luettwitz, Who Married American Girl, Not Thought Revolutionary.

CLEVELAND, O., March 13.—(Special.)—Doubt that the Major-General von Luettwitz, mentioned in Berlin dispatches as minister of defense of the new German government, is General Arthur von Luettwitz, brother-in-law of Sheldon Cary of the Browning company, was entertained today by Mr. Cary.

In dispatches General von Luettwitz is mentioned as military governor of Belgium during the early part of the war, later a commander at Verdun, and after the armistice one of the leaders of the military party prominent in opposition to the peace terms.

Mr. Cary said that since the armistice his brother-in-law has been in virtual retirement in Baden with his family and has not taken any part in Berlin politics.

General Arthur von Luettwitz, according to Mr. Cary, has not evinced opposition to the peace terms. But according to information in letters from his sister, a cousin, Walter von Luettwitz, has been active in the Noske government in Berlin, and has been active in his opposition, in connection with the military party, to the peace terms.

A letter arrived only today to Mr. Cary by his sister, Frau von Luettwitz, who was before her marriage in 1892 Miss Mary Curtis Cary of Cleveland.

"In this letter, which was dated February 12," Mr. Cary said today, "my sister wrote of entertaining New York friends in Baden-Baden, which convinces me that my sister's husband has remained in retirement.

"I do not believe he can have re-entered politics, especially at this time, because my sister would not wish him to do so. I know from word from them that they realize how short-lived a present-day German government may be and consequently how dangerous it may be to the interests and even to the life of the individual to become connected with any temporary government.

"I am thoroughly satisfied my brother-in-law has not the slightest desire to mix in any of the present political fray in Germany."

The marriage of the former Miss Cary to Arthur von Luettwitz, who was in 1912 a young German royalist, created one of the sensations of the day in Cleveland. They were instantly attracted to each other, and their engagement was announced before Miss Cary returned to Cleveland at the end of the summer. The outcome was followed by a stir among Cleveland friends.

It remained for Von Luettwitz, who came to America in the winter of 1917-18 to win the heart of social Cleveland. Those who had expressed their regret at the match instantly changed their opinion when they became acquainted with the brilliant and attractive young noble.

Cleveland will long remember the way in which Von Luettwitz won the heart of everyone he met here, as well as the wedding that was celebrated in the old Second Presbyterian church, which stood at Euclid avenue and East Fourteenth street.

MISSIONS OF ALLIES IN SERIOUS POSITION

Officials Reported in Danger of Molestation.

CIVIL WAR IS EXPECTED

Attitude of Alooofness and Detachment Toward Revolt in Germany Is Expected.

PARIS, March 13.—(Havas.)—The allied missions in Germany have been put in a serious position by the overthrow of the Ebert government, and are in danger of molestation, according to a dispatch from Saarbrücken to the Temps. It is expected, the dispatch adds, that civil war will break out in Germany.

The opinion expressed in official circles at the moment is that the allied governments will take an attitude of aloofness and detachment toward the civil strife in Germany and permit the German people themselves to determine the form of their government.

Disorders Held Unfortunate.

The armed disorders in Germany are looked upon as most unfortunate both for the country and the remainder of Europe at the time when reconstruction had been begun.

The news of the new development in Berlin was received by a considerable part of the official and diplomatic world at the Hotel Continental, where the foreign correspondents were giving a luncheon to President Deschanel. The ambassadors of the United States, England, Italy, Japan, Spain and Belgium and numerous foreign officials were present. The news reached the company just as it was being seated.

VON KAPP BORN IN THE U. S.

New Chancellor "Ruthless" Advocate During War.

NEW YORK, March 13.—(Special.)—Dr. Wolfgang von Kapp, the new German chancellor, was born in New York, June 24, 1868. His father had come here at the time of the revolution of 1848.

Dr. von Kapp is president of the fatherland party and during the war was an ardent advocate of the "ruthless" movement and was constantly urging the construction of more U-boats. The U-boats he gave credit for the fact that Japan did not send a great army to Europe. He had so sharp a quarrel with ex-Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg that there was talk of a duel. In that affair his agent said that Dr. von Kapp would "seek satisfaction at the moment the chancellor is no longer under the protection of the war, his position and the muzzled press."

Dr. von Kapp was a former conservative member of the Reichstag and general director of the German agricultural society. The German fatherland party, of which he is head, urged that Germany carry on the war to the bitter end. After the abdication of Emperor William and the signing of the armistice, Dr. von Kapp was one of the men for whose arrest the independent socialists clamored on the ground that he and his associates had been responsible for the continuation of the war and the hindering of peace.

Major-General Baron von Luettwitz, who has been named commander-in-chief, was military governor of Belgium for a period in the early days of the war. He later was a commander on the Verdun front. When the German treaty came up for action by the government last June General von Luettwitz was one of the leaders of the military party prominent in opposition to the peace terms.

line being subject to the approval of the board."

While shipping board officials would not concede that there had been any negotiations with the Hamburg-American line, it was understood that the company was disposed to enter into a co-operative contract with American steamship lines. Details of the contract remain to be worked out, as the board, it was explained, was not prepared to make any further move in the direction of this development of American commerce without the approval of the senate committee, because a technical state of war existed between the United States and Germany.

The "Stay Satisfactory" Range

—Being riveted tight (no bolts), there's no possible chance for air to get in or heat to get out—the entire regulation is controlled by the Monarch-Duplex Drafts. These drafts are at front and back of range underneath the firebox. Fire must and does burn in the center of firebox, thus forcing an equal distribution of heat over, around and underneath the oven. Then, too, Monarch Ranges are Vitreous Enamel Lined. Of course this lining has nothing to do with the baking, but it does have effect on rust. The natural dampness from fuel cannot penetrate Vitreous Enamel—thus the life of Monarch Ranges has actually been doubled.

—You can get Monarch Ranges with four and six-hole tops and 15, 17, 19, 21-inch ovens, in either leg or cabinet-style. Tops are all Blue Miroc (no blacking needed). Nickel trimmings are all plain (no grease-catching scrolls). Any size Monarch Gas Attachment will fit any size Monarch Range.
