

BUSINESS MEN BACK SALVATIONIST CAUSE

Coming Convention Promises to Be Important One.

BIG ATTENDANCE ASSURED

Every Part of State to Be Represented at Social Welfare Session Here Next Week.

With 77 of Oregon's leading business men, representing 23 counties outside of Multnomah, already registered as delegates to the Salvation Army service programme convention to be held in Portland next Wednesday, the convention bids fair to be one of the most important from the standpoint of social welfare ever held in the state.

Mr. Eastell, wife of Commissioner Eastell of Chicago, who is in charge of Salvation Army work in the western territory of the United States will address the convention. Her visit to Portland at this time, when the Salvation Army is turning White Shield homes into one of the largest, resource houses in the Salvation Army chain, is expected to bring real benefits to Oregon and the northwest.

War Work to Be Cited. Dr. Charles W. Barr will be a speaker. He was a special envoy to the battlefield and saw the Salvation Army lassies in action under fire. Probably the most interesting and by far the most important phase of the convention will be the report of the state advisory board on its study of the reports sent in by county advisory boards. Conditions were revealed by these county board studies that demanded immediate attention and made imperative the formation of a state-wide advisory board.

Delegations Sent Notice. The following delegations from county advisory boards have been graphed or written that they will be present when the convention opens.

Baker county—F. G. Montgomery, president; Citizens' National bank, chairman; Assessor Frank McCulloch, secretary; Mayor W. W. Gardner, county judge; and C. D. R. S. of Baker, all of Oregon.

STATE'S ROAD WORK HELD IN DANGER

Townsend Bill Declared Detriment to Programme.

L. E. BEAN RAPS MEASURE

Eugene Man Asserts Dealers in Highway Building Materials Are Back of Proposal.

"If the Townsend bill should be passed by congress, the effect would be disastrous to the road programme of Oregon," declares Louis E. Bean of Eugene. "When we were in Washington recently, urging the adoption of road legislation, there was absolutely no sentiment in favor of the Townsend bill and I do not believe it will pass, but the people back of it may prevent us getting what we want, so it is important to throw some light on what the Townsend bill means to us in road building work."

"Back of the Townsend bill are the makers of automobile trucks and automobiles, the cement makers and the dealers in road building equipment. Three organizations are spreading propaganda for the Townsend bill. These are the Federal Highway Council, with E. S. Williams, on salary, as chairman; the American Automobile Chamber of Commerce, with offices in the Riggs building at Washington, D. C., with E. H. Johnson of Colorado, in charge, and drawing salary, and the American Automobile association."

Big Sum Reported Spent. "A considerable sum of money is being expended for propaganda purposes. Among other things the advocates of the Townsend bill assert is a claim that the Oregon legislature adopted a memorial asking congress to pass the bill. I was a member of the special session in January, which is supposed to have passed the memorial, but nothing of the kind occurred. What the legislature did do was to adopt a memorial urging the adoption of the road programme set forth in resolutions by the convention of state highway engineers and highway commissioners held in Louisville, Ky., in December."

"The Townsend bill places the federal road programme in the hands of five men, who are to receive $10,000 a year salary and have their headquarters in Washington. D. C. A group of five men have blanket powers to locate roads, and state authorities have not a word to say as to where roads shall be located."

Bill Federalizes Roads. "The bill federalizes roads. It provides that each state shall have a federal road running north and south and another east and west, and that these in the various states will be connected, making interstate roads. These roads will be federal property, subject to federal regulations, and I presume the state will have nothing to say regarding policing these federal highways."

"This federal commission can adopt as federal roads, highways which have been built by states and take them over by making payment to the state of what it would cost to build these roads at present prices. The standard is such that the state highways in Oregon would not likely be taken over and paid for, but those of New York and Pennsylvania would be."

Money Distribution Discussed. "There is no apportionment of funds under the Townsend bill, the distribution of money being left entirely in the hands of the federal commission. This means that the western states which have a small representation in congress would be slighted and the federal commission would favor the thickly populated states of the east. Any way you look at it, Oregon and other public land states of the west will get the worst of the deal."

"What we of Oregon want, and what the other public land states want, is an appropriation of $100,000,000 for four years, beginning in 1922, for post road projects, to be used for co-operation, and $10,000,000 a year for 10 years for forest roads. This programme endorsed by the Louisville convention. In the public land states there will be a preferential co-operation of congress would be by the state to each dollar contributed by the government."

Preferential is Explained. "This preferential is because of the large amount of lands held in these states by the government and which are off the tax rolls of the state. With the forest road money, the plan is to have the government build roads to maintain the forest road projects without state co-operation."

"One thing is certain: If the Townsend bill is passed, it means the end of federal co-operation with states and centralizes power in the road programme in the hands of five men. I do not fear the passage of the Townsend bill, but the friends of that measure are willing to prevent our programme going through if they cannot enact their own pet measure."

Normal School Alumni Organize. Alumni of the Oregon Normal school met yesterday at the central library and organized a local association. President J. H. Ackerman was here from Monmouth to speak at the gathering and outline the need for such a group in this city, as a clearing house for the school's interests in Portland. Miss Fannie Porter was elected president, W. A. Pettes was elected secretary and Miss Emily Marshall, treasurer.

In Paris and in Berne there is no 13 in house numbers, 12 1/2 being used instead.

Castle Rock Grading Pushed. (SPECIAL)—Work on the Pacific highway has progressed sufficiently to warrant the establishment of another camp. Camp 3 was established near the Fuller school house where between 25 and 30 men will be housed. The contractors have pushed the work rapidly and as the past few weeks have been exceptionally good weather for outdoor labor, good progress has been made in the work. The contract calls for seven miles of grade and gravel north from Castle Rock.

Poslam Likes BAD CASES OF FIERY ECZEMA

When Poslam takes hold of virulent and stubborn eczema, it soothes and cools at once, putting a stop to the terrific itching. On raw parts of the skin it feels immeasurably grateful. As Poslam continues to penetrate, there develops just the healing process from such a congestion; and the cure, with the severity of the trouble, and Poslam's work seems remarkable indeed. One ounce of Poslam is worth a pound of ointment less efficient.

Sold everywhere. For free sample write to Emergency Laboratories, 24 West 47th St., New York City.

READ THIS! The folly many people commit in allowing a merchant or salesman the opportunity to work upon their innocence or inability to discern the difference between the REAL or GENUINE article, as against the MAKE-BELIEF, the IMITATION, is strange, to say the least. This is particularly true of the Piano business. For certain it is, the spending of two or three hundred dollars for a cheap STENCIL Piano, the MAKE-BELIEF, the IMITATION Piano, does not mean that you have bought a Piano. No indeed! It means instead that you have only commenced to pay upon it; in other words, the two or three hundred dollars is only the first payment; you will have continual monthly, or even weekly, payments to keep up indefinitely, for broken strings, tuning, action regulating and innumerable other expenses, all of which most assuredly accrue to the cheap stencil Piano. And finally you find, to your utter disgust, that you have paid the price of a REAL Piano, and yet have only an expensive and worthless luxury, ridiculed and condemned by all who hear it as a tin-canny thump-box. Sure, you can trade it off as part payment for a real Piano, but you find it has no REAL trade-in value. And yet, why go this long way round to obtain a real Piano and consequently pay two prices for it? We suggest your eliminating the cheap, the STENCIL Piano in the first place, and see to it that your dollar obtains for you all that it is possible of obtaining. This is only possible wherein you buy a genuine, standard grade Piano in the first instance; thus your purchase of a Piano is a profitable investment from the beginning; moreover, your musical requirements are more easily attained, likewise your unbounded satisfaction in realizing you own the genuine article, will be "A thing worth while," a joy forever.

Buy the best first, last and all the time. It is true economy. Buy a BUSH and LANE Piano—one of the few worthy Pianos of today; built and sold by the Bush and Lane Piano company, and sold at prices and upon terms considerably less than is usually asked for the ordinary Piano, and in many instances less than the cheap and worthless STENCIL Piano sells for.
