LIBERTY TEMPLE.

Main 313.

Slowly, but surely, Portland is doing her duty. Slowly, but surely, the number of unemployed ex-service men is being whittled down.

Taking care of these men is a patriotic duty; and Oregon proposes to faithfully discharge the duty—if it takes all summer.

But let us hope it is not going to take very much looger. Every man, woman and child in the state can help by thinking first of and giving preference to an ex-service man when in need of help or assistance of any kind, and by asking those who employ help to phone, write or call at Liberty Temple.

Employers in large numbers have done their full duty in this respect and are continuing to readjust their payroll to make room for one or more of these worthy men, but all have not yet awakened to the fact that it is their patriotic duty and pleasure to first consider an ex-soldier or sailor whon in need of an employe, or, where it is possible, to review their payroll and MAKE a place for one or more. The final outcome of this campaign—whether it will succeed; whether it can be said of Oregon gwell done," and how long these men with dependent families will have to wait—3 depends upon how soon the men and those employers who have thus far neglected the matter wake up and decide to DO SOMETHING. Most of them are willing and ready to start in at any reasonable wage that will provide the necessities for their families, providing there is a chance for the future—to grow into the business; and those who are not disposed to take the advice of the committee should "get into line" and be
