The anniversary celebration is an annual affair of the Independent Order of Oddfellows and is one of the most important events every year participated in by the lodges and general public. Last year 7000 were in attendance, and the unusual success of the snierialment last year is considered assurance of a large attendance to recover yearing.

tendance tomorrow evening.

The programme at the auditorium will open at 7 o'elock with community singing under direction of Walter Jenkins, and at 8 o'cleck, fol-lowing a selection by the Oddfellows' 40-piece uniformed band, will occur Past Grand Master to Speak.

Dr. A. H. Johnson, deputy grand master, will be chairman for the eve-ling, and the principal address will be given by M. C. George, past grand master, on "Oddfellowship." Musical numbers during the evening, in addi-tion to those by the band, will include a cornet duet by Thomas Stebbens and C. G. Rapenny; a violin selection by Miss Helen Harper, assisted by Miss Jean Harper, and a vocal solo by Mrs. A. W. Claxon, accompanied by Mrs. Edith Stiles Miller. The city has contracted for more than $3,000,000 worth of improvement work this year and this construction work will demand the attention of the antire engineering force of the city. To take additional work would require additional men. The city being low in funds, cannot employ more men, hence it was decided not to accept further bids this year.

Improvements on which plans will not be prepared until next fall or winter, for work next year, include the following:
