

EARLY ENTRY URGED FOR FLORAL PARADE

Plans Laid For Big Feature of Rose Festival.

MANY PRIZES OFFERED

Enviably Record of Past Attracts Representatives of Motion Picture Weeklies to 1920 Display.

Appeal to all automobile owners to prepare for entry in the floral parade of the Rose Festival...

"Floral Parade" Big Feature. "On my recent trip east, I learned that the majority of persons planning to come to Portland during the Shrine-Rose Festival...

"In addition, the floral parades of the past have gained such an enviable record that the motion picture weeklies are planning to feature the parade. Already motion picture representatives have assured me of this fact."

"Many Classifications Provided. "Out-of-town clubs, societies and organizations will not be in competition with similar entries from Portland. Persons decorating their own cars will not be forced to compete with persons having cars decorated by professional florists."

"The committee in charge of the floral parade this year plans to invoke a censorship which will bar any entry not properly decorated. This censorship is made necessary through the fact that the entry list is certain to be long and persons attempting to enter vehicles with a stray flower here and there will not be passed by the judges."

"Full Information to Be Had. Information concerning entries can be gained by a visit to Rose Festival headquarters, 509 Henry building, Broadway 3821. In this office are sketches of floats and entries prepared by George L. Hutchin, nationally known as the "float painter," who is building the electrical parade to be shown during the Shrine convention and Rose Festival.

"Make your entry now" is the plea of those working on this feature. The special committee engaged in handling the private entries will accept as women's organizations and clubs, as composed of the following: Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, chairman; Mrs. Thomas Honzman, vice-chairman; Miss Valentin Fitchard, secretary.

"Republican candidates for the state legislature had an opportunity to explain their platforms yesterday before the Oregon Civic League, the regular weekly luncheon and meeting of the league at the Benson hotel being given over to that purpose."

"The speakers were: George B. Cellars, E. M. Lepper, D. C. Lewis, C. M. Nynerholm, H. P. Arnold, Wilson Benefield, W. C. Campbell, Arthur B. Carlson, Arthur L. Halsey, Nelson R. Jacobson, J. D. Lee, F. J. Lonergan, Walter G. Lynn, John C. McCue, William E. Metzger. Each quoted his platform and explained briefly what he would work for if elected."

"Rules and regulations governing the programs were drawn up and any deviation provoked fine by order of President Newell of the league. In this way the sum of $2 was collected, which was turned over to the Salvation Army."

"Petition Requests Denver Hereafter Be Known as Derby. A large petition bearing the names of residents of the Kenosha district who seek to have the name of Denver avenue changed to Derby street has been filed with City Commissioner Harbur. A public hearing before the city council, when the petition will be considered, has been set for Wednesday morning, May 26."

"Signers of the petition relate that the street from Interstate avenue to Lombard street is known as Derby street and the same thoroughfare from Lombard street to Prescott street is known as Denver avenue, the two names on one street causing confusion. The petitioners point to the fact that it would be difficult to change the name of Derby street, as the approach of the bridge has become legally known as the Derby street approach."

"Opposition to the proposed change is certain to develop, as residents of the street known as Denver avenue will not agree that the street name should be Derby or anything different than its present name."

SELF-SUPPORTING UNIVERSITY STUDENT WINS IN ELECTION

Democracy of Campus at Eugene Demonstrated in Choice of Carlton Savage, of Waconda, Varsity Debater, and "Y" Officer, as President.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON. Eugene, May 15.—(Special).—The democracy of the university campus was demonstrated in the student body elections last week in the choice of Carlton Savage of Waconda as president of the student body...

"TITLE HELD MISLEADING. BLIND MEASURE SAID TO BE INTERPRETED WRONGLY. Levy for Portland Institution Sought to Aid Employment. Declares J. W. Howard."

"Salem, Or., May 15.—(Special).—'Blind school tax measure,' the title of the proposed law carrying a levy for the blind to be located in Portland, is misleading and does not convey the true sentiment of the measure, according to a statement issued by J. W. Howard, superintendent of the state school for the blind, today."

"Under this heading the voter would see at a glance that the measure is intended to open a way to train the adult blind of this state to learn at least one of the few occupations which are open to the sightless and in time become entirely or in part self-supporting."

"It has long been obvious to all teachers and others having in charge the education of the blind that the old experiment of trying to house and educate blind children under the same roof with blind adults of both sexes is radically wrong morally, educationally and socially. The admission of adults to schools for blind children has long since been abolished in most states, including Oregon."

"Employment institutions and workshops for the adult blind have been established in many countries and in central states during the last 25 years, and they are in a large measure successful. The adult blind are taken off the streets and do not have to wait any more to hear the coppers jingle in their tinpots."

"Paving to Be Resumed. ALBANY, Or., May 15.—(Special).—Paving operations on city streets here, which were begun last summer and not completed before the fall rains commenced, will be resumed next week. The work for which contracts were let last summer and completed includes the paving of Sixth street from Washington to Elm streets, Elm street from Ninth to Thirteenth streets, Salem road from here, which were begun last summer and not completed before the fall rains commenced, will be resumed next week."

"MEMBERS TO BE SOUGHT. CHAMBER SETS ASIDE MAY 25 TO 29 FOR CAMPAIGN. Membership of 4000 Is Goal; 2000 Prospects Already Lined Up. Leaders Are Appointed. The five days, May 25 to 29, inclusive, have been designated as the period for a membership campaign for the Portland Chamber of Commerce, during which time it is hoped to secure the total membership of the chamber to at least 4000. The campaign, it is declared by the committee in charge, will be the most systematic and thorough ever held for the benefit of the chamber."

"Special Diamond Engagement Rings. $50, $75, $100. Its wonderful clear blue flame has made this 112 1/2 Karat stone coveted by collectors of precious stones the world over. At one time it came to light in New York—now it belongs to a wealthy Spaniard in Paris."

GIRLS ARE NOT POPULAR. France Disappointed at Death of Boy Children. PARIS, May 15.—(Special Cable).—France is suffering from a peculiar affliction and the authorities as well as medical men and social economists are much concerned about it. An epidemic of girl babies is sweeping over the country, as a certain magistrate puts it. Naturally France, whose manpower was so greatly reduced by the war, desires that many more boy babies than girls should come into her world."

GIRLS GIVE COUNTY FAIR Exhibits, Pink Lemonade and Everything Are Attractions. Reed college "co-eds" of the dormitory staged a "county fair" Friday evening in the gymnasium which brought a "jitney" harvest large enough to pay for a new piano and furnish the college community with enjoyment besides. Exhibits, all the way from marriage certificates to a live turtle, were shown by the various houses, and the in cup of honor was presented to House "A" by Dean B. K. Young, after a speech by James B. Kerr of the board of trustees. Fair "co-eds" ran a boothlike stand, others told fortunes, sold pink lemonade and ice cream cones and ran side shows. A "jitney" dance with music by the college orchestra was a popular pastime. Wilmoth Osborne made an effective "bouncer" at the dance and plastered fines of a nickel each on all indiscreet dancers."
