

JUNE CONVENTIONS WILL CROWD CITY

Eight Associations to Hold Annual Meetings Here.

OREGON PRIMARIES JULY 1

Shrine Leads All Pre-Eminently but in Ordinary Month Any One of Number Would Be Notable.

- HERE'S LIST OF GUESTS PORTLAND WILL GREET... June 5—Order Eastern Star, grand chapter... June 9—State Jewelers... June 14—National Travelers' Protective association... June 16—Kiwanis clubs of America... June 18—State grand lodge of Masons... June 22—Imperial council, Mystic Shrine... June 24—Portland Rose Festival... June 30—Indiana War Veterans... July 1—Oregon Pioneer association.

Portland was eased into convention month by the sessions of the State Medical association and the alumni of the University of Oregon medical school, and from now on, not a single week, and mightily few days, have blank spaces on the calendar. In all the history of conventions, probably there never has been such a list of them held anywhere in the same period, with the possible exception of the exposition months at San Francisco.

Take a look at the list: The grand chapter of the Eastern Star, June 5; the Travelers' Protective association from June 14 to 18; the Kiwanis clubs June 16 to 19; the state lodge of Masons June 16; then that never-to-be-forgotten three days of the Shrine, June 22 to June 24; then two days of Rose Festival, beginning June 24 the last day of the Shrine; a week's breathing spell and the brave old Indian war veterans gather the last day of the month, with July 1 entertaining Oregon's venerable pioneers and the affiliated organizations.

Shrine Leads Them All. Of course, the Shrine leads them all pre-eminently in point of numbers, but in any ordinary month any single convention of them all would be notable. The travelers will bring from 4000 to 5000 persons. The Kiwanis will entertain from 2000 to 2500 delegates, not to speak of as many more friends. Who knows how many thousands will pour in for the Rose Festival? Then the hundreds of the veterans, the 2000 or so pioneers and their friends.

How Many Can See Highway? How many thousands of Portland's guests will see the highway is a matter of conjecture. The travelers hope to get all their delegates on the nation's most imposing drive and so do the Kiwanis. The Shrine committee believes it can take 12,000 a day or say 40,000 in all.

The Kiwanis have a great stunt parade, so have the T. P. A. The Shriners have their own evening dress affair, with 70 bands, etc. There is the electric parade, the decorated parade of the Rose Festival, the dignified march of the Masons—yes, there will be parades.

Avant, dull care! Make it vacation month. Let's give everyone a right royal Portland welcome and over the length and breadth of the country will be carried Portland's fame and Portland's name.

ASHLAND SHRINE MECCA "HOMECOMING" CEREMONIAL STAGED BY HILLAH TEMPLE. Clubs Attend in Body, 50 Shriners Coming From Klamath Falls. Portland Trip Planned.

ASHLAND, Or., June 5.—(Special.)—All roads lead to this city today, when the "homecoming" ceremonial was staged by Hillah temple of the Mystic Shrine.

Hillah temple Shrine clubs attended in a body and participated in the 50 persons coming from the Klamath Falls organization alone.

Hillah temple is now going to Portland en masse, according to an outline as presented here today. Many of the Shriners are planned on driving by auto to the city of the metropolis, but due to the shortage of gasoline they felt it would be better to conserve as much gasoline as possible for the farmer.

IDENTITY POTENTIALS for Hillah were appointed as follows: George S. Cahoun of Grants Pass, for Josephine; R. D. Williams of Roseburg, for Douglas; Worth Harvey of Cottage Grove, for Lane, and Jackson P. Kimball of Klamath Falls, for Klamath and Lake counties, all of whom are planning on making the trip to Portland.

There exists in the State of Oregon and on the Pacific Coast a temporary gasoline shortage. To eliminate this shortage and to supply industrial and agricultural requirements we have been convinced that it will be necessary for motorists throughout the entire Coast to curtail the use of gasoline for pleasure purposes.

The percentage of curtailment will have to be more drastic in Oregon because the situation is more acute here than in California or Washington, caused principally by our gravity test law. In order to conserve enough gasoline from Portland's allotment for agricultural requirements and the convention period it will be necessary to curtail for the next two weeks the use of gasoline for pleasure riding 80%.

Following the convention period and through July and August there will continue to be a shortage, but we are assured by the Oil Companies' representatives that approximately a 50% of normal supply will be available. There has been a great deal said of late about shortage of motor fuel. A great many people think there is some ulterior motive on the part of the Oil Companies—but we are convinced that such is not the case. The report that large quantities of gasoline were being exported has received wide circulation, and it is true that there has been some exportation, which was necessary on account of existing contracts, but for each gallon of gasoline exported from this coast, four gallons have been brought in from the East.

We wish to advise the motoring public that there is no occasion for alarm, but to emphasize and to assure them, as the result of the statements made us by the representatives of the Oil Companies, that the shortage is but temporary and that conditions will again be normal at the end of the ten weeks' conservation.

We notice the Oil Companies continue to dot the city with service stations. It does not stand to reason that they would make such investments if they did not know that the present situation was only temporary.

Gasoline Needed to Provide Beds for Shriners. Woman in Yamhill, Or., Writes of Inability to Move Furniture to Portland. GIVE 'em the gas! "Wanted—to get to the Shrine convention. We need eight gallons of gasoline. Can you help us?"

As an indication of the desire on the part of Oregonians to visit the "convention city of the country" this year, the Shrine committee yesterday received a letter from a woman in Yamhill, Or., as follows: "We have a load of beds and other furniture to get to Portland to be used for the benefit of the Shriners. Would like to take them to Portland next Friday, June 12, or Saturday, June 13, but cannot get gasoline here. Some one suggested you might help us get the eight gallons we think we need for the trip. Can you do this? The furniture is to go to the Kindergarten building at St. Helen's Hall, 223 Vista avenue."

THE NEW DENTAL ERA

Better Understanding of the Relation of Teeth to Disease Means Better Health for Everyone

OFFICE OPEN EVENINGS

For the convenience of people who work all day, this office will remain open every evening (except Sundays) until 8 P. M.

Science has proven beyond question that bad teeth cause half our bodily ills, and physicians everywhere are working hand in hand with the modern dentist in an effort to educate the public to the necessity of keeping the teeth and mouth in as nearly perfect condition as possible.

Infection taken into the blood through the oral cavity, due to pus pockets, decayed teeth and infected roots, causes rheumatism, kidney and stomach troubles, and even more serious troubles have cleared up after extraction or treatment of the infected area.

Between the views of the more radical members of both professions who advocate the extraction of every suspected tooth, and the ultra-conservative views of the "stand pat" element, who take the other extreme, the public is left in doubt as to the best course to pursue.

A complete examination with frank advice and estimate of work which may be required costs you nothing here. You do wrong to remain in doubt regarding the condition of your mouth and teeth when this service may be had for the asking.

For the convenience of people who work all day, this office will remain open every evening (except Sundays) until 8 P. M. Take advantage of this opportunity to have your work done after working hours.
