ALASKA SOCIETY TO CELEBRATE.— The Alaska society is making preparations for the coming anniversary of the midnight sun, which will be celebrated Monday evening, June 21, by an excursion on the barge Swan.
 It is intended to make this celebration one of the features of the Eskimoes' convention, and an exceptional good time is promised. The members of the committee are: J.
 J. Crossley, chairman; Mrs. F. W.
 Swanton, Mrs. Josephine Scott, W. T.
 Hume and R. W. Thompson. In preparation of the event a general call is extended to the members and friends to be present at a meeting to be held tomorrow evening in the assembly room at the Portland hotel.

AMERICANS TO HAVE PICNIC.—An excursion and picnic for Sunday, June 26, has been arranged by Liberty assembly 528 of the United Artisans.
 The boat Swan has been chartered for the occasion and will leave the foot of Jefferson street at 8 A. M. After journeying down the Willamette and Columbia for several hours, the party will take shore leave during the midday period for a basket picnic and games. Those who wish may dance on the trip and in fact several prize dances have been planned. The party will return at 3 P. M.

HIGHLANDERS TO MEET.—The semi-annual election of officers of Bonnie Rose Castle, Royal Highlanders, will be held next Wednesday night at the East Side Business Men's club, east Alder street and Grand avenue. The office of Illus, grand protector, made vacant by the resignation of John R.
 Young, will be filled. Following the business meeting the remainder of the evening will be devoted to dancing and cards. Friends of the order are invited.

CAPTAIN HYNON IMPROVING.—Captain G. Lee Hynon, who last week underwent his third operation since returning from overseas, is considerably better at the Portland sanitarium, Mount Tabor. Captain Hynon commanded a surgical unit with the first army in France and saw many months of continuous action at the front. Several surgical operations have been required to relieve disabilities incurred during his service.

FIRE WARNINGS POSTED.—To spread the gospel of "safety" first in connection with the conservation of the forests of Washington and Oregon, members of the forest service yesterday posted in various places placards, including 15 different varieties, in picnic and camping grounds, in the forests and in the vicinity of houses and stores. In addition placards will be posted in conspicuous positions in street cars of the two states.

SCHOOL, CHURCH AND HOME.—The
 A. L. Mills open-air school was on Wednesday the scene of interesting exercises which the children, numbering 50, entertained their friends and parents with a programme of exercises to mark the closing of the school. A little play, "Molly's Wish," was presented by 13 children in attractive fairy costumes. The boys of the school gave a flag drill and all joined in singing several songs.

SAMARITAN ORPHANLINGS MEET.— Samaritan lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., its session Wednesday night entertained Dr. Ambrose H. Johnson, grand master of the state of Oregon, who paid the lodge an official visit.
 Samaritan lodge conferred the initi-tory degree upon 15 candidates. The plans are now being made to build a modern new Oddfellows' temple.

Mrs. Bruce Scott Opens Employment Bureau.—Mrs. Bruce Scott, formerly of the federal employment service, has opened a women's employment bureau, 239 Henry street, between Third and Fourth streets. She is now accepting recruiting workers for harvesting the fruit crops; also for finding all kinds of employment for women and girls.
 Specializing in prof., tech. and educational positions. Phone Bdwy. 4327.

GOLDEN RHETORIC OF VOICE OF M'CORMACK STIRS HEARERS

Critic Describes San Francisco Recital of Noted Tenor Who Will Be Heard in Portland Auditorium Wednesday Evening.

JOHN M'CORMACK, NOTED TENOR, WHO WILL SING AT AUDI-TORIUM WEDNESDAY.

OF John McCormack, who sings Wednesday evening at the Auditorium, under the direction of Steers & Coman, Redfern Mason of the San Francisco Examiner, June 7, says:

"John McCormack is an institution.
 He has brought joy into the lives of thousands. He makes the commonplace beautiful and, if he sometimes lapses into sentimentality, he also sings the classics with a classic perfection."

"I question whether John McCormack ever sang better in his life than he did yesterday for the immense throng which gathered to hear him in the Civic Auditorium."

"Inasmuch as he sang of the sentiment of home with all his old-time sweetness, it was the same John Mc-Cormack as of yore. A man cannot by taking thought, add a cubit to his stature. But the artist who lives intensely in his generation may develop capacities which, in a character of less intensity, would have lain dormant."

"The voice is used with its accustomed impeccability of phrase; the diction is as clear as diction can be; the breath control is perfect. It is not in the domain of technique that McCormack has changed. If I might express 'this transformation' in a phrase, I would say that when I last heard him, some three years ago, I think, he impressed me as a great artist. Today he is something more; he is a bard."

"I know that, for the Gael, the bard is rather a poet than a musician. But it is precisely in the emergence of this gift of poetic vision that John McCormack has added to his artistic stature. What has brought about the change one can only conjecture. Yet it is not an unreasonable surmise to attribute the evolution of the greater McCormack to his sympathy with his fellow human beings in these years of the world's agony. When he sang 'Drunken don't doleful,' 'It was with the fervor of a patriot stirred to the depths by the thought of oppressed Erin. Better than any politician, he pleaded the cause of innumerable millions who were being followed the song showed how potent the golden rhetoric of his voice had moved the audience."

GRANTS PASS DAY OBSERVED.— Grants Pass, the United States army and Hill Military academy were the motifs of the monthly get-together day at the chamber of commerce last week. The diners were summoned to mess by the buglers of the academy and a detail of soldiers under Captain Page of the United States army recruiting service graphically illustrated the unfortunate position of a stranger during the civil war attempting to pass a sentinel without "Grants pass." Beautiful souvenirs of the marble caves near Grants Pass were distributed to the diners and the Grants Pass slogan, "It's the climate," was the answer to "Why" for its wonderful fruits, flowers and rosy cheeked maidens.

FRATERNITIES ELECT OFFICERS.—The trowel fraternity of North Portland, a dental fraternity composed of Masons in good standing, elected the following officers at their annual meeting at the Acadia club room: Charles Owens, worshipful master;

 Bankard, secretary; Dr. F. Hurd, inspector. The Psi Omega fraternal-ity, a national dental organization, elected C. C. Shinn grand master, S. Bradford junior master, Cooper treasurer, O. Robinson secretary, W.
 Stanley outer guardian.
