Unusual character of a course entitled "Mental and Educational Tests and Measurements" will be conducted at the Central library this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The course is for the summer session, under the direction of Dr. S. C. Kohns, psychologist in charge of the psychological department of the University of Oregon. One of the unique features will be the organization of a class of 50 children whose mental and educational tests will be measured and charted.

Dr. Kohns states: "The course in attempts at education will be preceded in all cases by a preliminary survey of the mental and educational possibilities of each child. If our democracy stands for anything, it stands for the fullest opportunity for individual development. And before that end can be accomplished we must first determine the special abilities and the special limitations of each child and physical, of every boy and girl who knocks on the door of our educational institutions. How can we less hit-and-miss methods in education have passed.

Women of both were elaborately entertained at the party farm of Mrs. Weed on Friday. A very interesting program was given and the members were entertained with luncheon, followed by the regular Kneutson, Nellie Stoner and May Knutson meeting. Dancers who took part in the program were Alta Eastham Travis, La Verne Carr, Dorothy Tomis, Elizabeth Store, Lily Richards.

Federation day at the Gladstone Park Chautauqua will be July 15, when there will be addresses and special features.

The members of the Trav-I-Iers club spent a most enjoyable day with Mrs. J. B. Altman at her home, 703 East Fifty-seventh street north.

The hostesses were Mrs. E. H. Jackson, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Forest Harbaugh. The table decorations were spring flowers with tiny bluebirds hidden among the foliage and also perched upon water goblets holding place cards. The business session was called to order by the president and a letter received from the mother of our little French war orphan was read. The entertainers expressed her gratitude for the interest taken in the welfare of her little daughter.

The annual luncheon of the Women's New Thought club will be held Wednesday, June 16, at 1 o'clock, in the hollyhock room of the Multnomah hotel, with Elizabeth Towne of Holyoke, Mass., as guest of honor. The American Woman's club of

Miss Rhoda E. McCulloch, in a discussion of "The War and the Woman Point of View," written for the committed on the war and the religious outlook, says: "The great war has revealed the fact that one of the worst enemies of the world has been in the minds of women. Women are conscious as never before, not only that they are the backbone of the wards of society, but that the world has actual need of their peculiar contribution to its thinking and achievement."

"The general acceptance of a place in society for women not hitherto granted to them is the discovery on the part of women themselves of unused powers and resources have come to strike the nation as a long slumbering restlessness, and women throughout the world have begun to proclaim in action their rebuffs against limitations in whose reasonable basis they have long believed."

"The ordinary every-day woman has begun to think of politics as never before. Women whose thinking had been stirred for the first time by their sudden plunge into world consciousness began to see the relation between the political situation in their own country and the necessity of sending their sons into the perils of a world war. They will be like the women of the past who played for the sake of the game, but as a means for accomplishing certain results."

"There are many uncertainties in the unpredictable days ahead for the church, for the state and for the world, which the war has discovered for us—the common life of a complex world order. To men the advent of life is an old story, to women the pages, still unturned, are full of the thrill of the unexpected and the excitement of the new. Women would be released from the decisions of tomorrow if the minds of women, with their effective power, were at home, could be brought to bear directly upon the problems of the hour."

"The ordinary every-day woman has begun to think of politics as never before. Women whose thinking had been stirred for the first time by their sudden plunge into world consciousness began to see the relation between the political situation in their own country and the necessity of sending their sons into the perils of a world war. They will be like the women of the past who played for the sake of the game, but as a means for accomplishing certain results."

Out of the very inactivity of mind and purpose which has characterized society more or less condemns all women save those few who dare to thrust their heads above the parapet of the dead level of inaction there is born that spirit of prejudice and intolerance which is tending to blind impulse, which is traditionally accredited to women."

Mrs. George Cochran's convention report on motion pictures said the most interesting feature of the convention was the fact that she had seen a film not worth while. She said state censorship she believes to be the best way to reach the producers.

Children's Mental Abilities to Be Measured.

WOMAN IS SALES MANAGER OF MILLION-DOLLAR CORPORATION

D. C. Miner, Who Came West and Took Position "for Fun of It," Makes Good With A. Rupert Company.

Miss D. C. Miner, who came West and took position "for fun of it," makes good with A. Rupert Company.

G. MINER—Behind this manly signature there has masqueraded in Portland one of the highest paid of women executives in the west, and, for the last five months, president of the A. Rupert company, a million-dollar corporation, and one of the largest packers of fruits, vegetables and other food products in the United States.

Throughout America, Europe and even far off India, this signature is, even today, universally accepted as that of a man. The fact of the matter is, and it probably will surprise many fruit-growers in the northwest to know, that the owner is Miss Deborah C. Miner, sales manager at this concern and upon whose shoulders rested the heavy burden of directing the distribution of almost $1,000,000 during the last half year, the operation of eight large canneries and the sale of fruit products.

Not only that, but she is probably the highest paid woman executive in the west and since she took a "flier" into business in 1911 has come to be the third largest stockholder of the corporation she so ably directed following the death of Mr. Rupert last January.

Now that Walter A. Frost of Chicago has been elected as president, the mark has been cast aside and the real story of her phenomenal success can be made public.

As a woman who desires for a mark that carried Miss Miner into business. In 1911, when a girl in her teens, she decided to visit relatives in the Howland valley. While there she suddenly decided to "take a little flier" at business life.

The sales manager is comely and a brilliant conversationalist. "Delighted, my dear young lady; but tell me, just who is to be my luncheon committee?" she asked. "The company," she replied. "As sales manager, too, she has attended innumerable conventions as a business woman and has always created a stir when her identity became known.

Business was not good. For months she saw no more than loss money. Her parents in the meantime had decided to make Portland their home and she had to find a way to get on her feet. She landed the job.

Business was not good. For months she saw no more than loss money. Her parents in the meantime had decided to make Portland their home and she had to find a way to get on her feet. She landed the job.

As a successful woman herself, Miss Miner has no platitudes to dispense to those who would climb the ladder. Her own watchwords have ever been "Don't watch the clock. Don't watch the pay check." "Use judgment." "Always have time to spare." "The consolidation of the company is always worth while." These are the things that have carried her through for the last ten years and particularly after Mr. Rupert's death.

On his dying request, she promised to direct the business until a man of the broad knowledge demanded could be found for the presidency. The consolidation of the company is always worth while. mental in starting a class for the help of foreign-born women in the branch libraries of Astoria, St. Johns and Seaside. Miss Curry has conducted classes for the assistance of Americanization workers every day in the interest growing as the needs of such work are presented.

Miss W. C. U. will hold a joint meeting with the missionary societies of the district on Tuesday, June 8, at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the W. C. U. and will make the meeting of great interest.

She is the honorary president of the International New Thought alliance and will preside at a meeting to be held under the auspices of the Oregon alliance at Lincoln high school, June 17, at 2 P. M. Her topic of the afternoon will be "The Ideas and Aims of the International New Thought Alliance." Other speakers will include Dr. Minard, district vice-president of Oregon; Rev. Mills, "Claims Against the Government"; Rev. Reis, "Love the Ultimate Test"; Mrs. Bruce, "The Maypole of Life"; Miss McLellan, "Opportunity"; Mrs. Klox, "The Simplest Thing in the World"; Walt Heston, "The New Thought in the World." The meetings are open to the public.

Required for Jiffy-Jell Desserts

They come ready-sweetened. They come acidulated with pure fruit acid, made from lemons or from grapes. A bottle of liquid fruit flavor comes in each package. We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it in a bottle. So Jiffy-Jell is a real-fruit dainty, rich in fruit. Simply add boiling water as directed on package, then the fruit essence from the bottle, and let cool. If you used fresh fruit, plus a lot of sugar, you could make nothing more delicious.

ing the six weeks the camp is open. High school girls may attend July 6 to 13 and August 19 to 26; grade school girls, July 26 to August 2. The time that any one girl may stay will be limited in order to accommodate as many as possible, and of course those who register early will be the favored ones.

Redwood, however, is but one of the two camps to be operated by the Y. W. C. A. this summer. The camp at Gearhart will again be open with its many seaside joys, with cheerful new hostesses, Miss Gahne, who has her overseas experience with which to enrich the outing of those who bear her. Fuller information about camps or picnic may be had at the Y. W. C. A.

The Independence Civic club held an interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. J. S. Cooper Wednesday afternoon. Hostesses for the occasion included Mrs. S. Robble, Mrs. S.
