

IDAHO DEMOCRATS TO MEET TUESDAY

Delegates to National Convention to Be Chosen.

NUMBER TO GO PROBLEM

16-Representative Plan Proposed With No Alternative—Many Prominent Men in Race.

BOISE, Idaho, June 12.—(Special).—The democratic state convention which convenes at Lewiston Tuesday for the purpose of naming delegates to the national convention at San Francisco will be asked and if so will grant the request to endorse ex-Governor James H. Hawley of Boise as the party's candidate for vice-president of the United States. The friends of Mr. Hawley are active in his behalf and have hopes of presenting his name to the national convention for second place on the national ticket. Mr. Hawley is the leading democratic public man of Idaho today. He is its dean in politics. Besides having served his state one term as governor and represented it in the legislature, he has been a candidate for United States senator and for other high offices.

His friends urged his name upon President Wilson for appointment to the cabinet portfolio of secretary of the interior to succeed Franklin K. Lane. They were not successful then, although it was generally admitted that Mr. Hawley is one of the best qualified men in the west on western land matters. They believe they can obtain the endorsement of the state convention as Idaho's candidate for the vice-presidency.

Many Delegates Aspirants.
It is the plan of democratic party leaders to give Idaho as large a representation as possible at the national convention. While there is objection to the plan, it will be proposed at the Lewiston convention that Idaho elect 16 instead of eight delegates and eight alternates, allowing each a half a vote. In support of this plan it is said that there will be greater satisfaction among the delegates to the state convention.

The really knotty problem to solve at Lewiston is to take care of the numerous aspirants for positions on the delegation. Every democrat of any prominence wants to go to the national convention. There is a greater demand for places on the delegation this year than at any other time in the history of the party. That is what leaders say, and they are doing quite a little worrying over deciding on ways and means with which to accommodate the delegate aspirants.

Apportionment Is Problem.
It is the relative proximity of this state to San Francisco that makes a sea in the matter of delegates so attractive to democrats generally in Idaho. Of course, it goes without saying that there will be no alternates if the 16 delegate plan goes through. Half of the 16 probably will be elected at large and other half divided between the two congressional districts.

How to apportion these delegates is another matter. Many of the aspirants state desires representation. Many of the party leaders are at Boise. To give all of the aspirants an equal opportunity is going to be next to impossible. Who, then, is to be left out without giving offense? That is the question that those in charge of the convention would like to have solved. For instance, there are such men as ex-Governor Alexander, ex-Governor Hawley, former United States Senator John F. Nugent, former State Chairman Joseph T. Pence and others here who would like to go as delegates. They cannot all be named, in the conclusion that has been reached.

Fred T. Dubois, ex-United States senator, said to be a candidate for national committee in opposition to Robert H. Elder, will go to the Lewiston convention with fairly good support from the southern and eastern part of the state are claimed for him, including Twin Falls and Bannock. The Twin Falls county delegation contains such men as R. H. Stevenson, formerly of Wallace, who is opposed to Nugent. That delegation endorsed James R. Bothwell for delegate to the national convention. Bothwell has been mentioned as possible timber for governor. He is an ex-judge of the 4th judicial district.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, June 12.—(Special).—Plans are being made for the entertainment and work of the 23 capital prize winners and other club workers who will attend the 1920 junior summer school at the college as a result of their winnings in boys' and girls' club work at county and state fairs last fall. CHEHALIS, Wash., June 12.—(Special).—By paying into court $632, R. M. F. Barker of Baker, Or., yesterday won his freedom and was allowed to go his way in peace. He was alleged to have taken a mortgaged automobile from Oregon City without first securing the consent of the owner of the mortgage. Barker alleged he had the consent.
