FROM out of the west came champions of the suffragettes to assist in picketing the republican national convention. Rev. Olympia Wia, long a worker to gain the ballot for women, and Miss Rowena Green of Chicago, 13, was the youngest of those who joined in the task.

"Passive picketing" was practiced by the suffragists at the republican national convention at Chicago, according to the press dispatches. In the effort to induce the delegates to favorable platform recognition of the need for speedy adoption of the amendment, Mrs. Abby Scott Baker, a leader in the national woman's party, was one of those who took an active part.

When Mrs. E. R. Terhune Jr. made an airplane trip from Boston to Atlantic City she took along as a mascot her pet kitten "Aero." The feline favorite seemed to like the experience and purred softly in appreciation of the unique distinction of being the first kitten chosen for a mascot in the air.

There are thousands of fans who laud "Babe" Ruth, but the most consistent and ardent sponsor for the "home run king of baseball" signs herself Mrs. George H. Ruth. She is the wife of the New York Yankee's great fielder.

Frankie Dwan and Bernice Harley are two Wyoming misses who really enjoyed their stay in Chicago while the crowds were swarming and listening to speeches in the auditorium. They accompanied their fathers from

ARTURO TOSCANINI TO TOUR WITH LA SCALA ORCHESTRA

Visit to America Will Last Ten Weeks and Expense Has Been Underwritten by Some of Best Known Music Patrons.

BY EMILIE FRANCES BAUER.
NEW YORK, June 19.—(Special.) In announcing an American tour of Arturo Toscanini with the orchestra from La Scala of Milan, Loudon Charlton made one of the greatest managerial "coups" in many years, and the name of the manager no less than of the distinguished conductor who has long been an idol of the American public assures the dignity and success of the undertaking. This plan was worked out by Mr. Charlton with the co-operation of Ugo Ara, who made two trips to Italy in order to carry out every detail in conformity with the laws of both countries. It might be that never again would it be possible for the orchestra from the great old opera-house of Milan to leave during the height of a season, but inasmuch as there will be no opera at La Scala as yet during the coming season it will probably be the only one it will ever make, the interest is of the keenest. In response to Mr. Charlton's wires to the different musical centers he could already book the attraction twice over. It is estimated that it will cost not less than a quarter of a million to handle the tour which has been underwritten by some of the best-known music patrons of this country, such as Andre de Coppet, Mrs. F. S. Coillide, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, M. Delano, George Gould.
