Democratic Convention Delegates Caucus Reject Selections

BY CHARLES C. HART,

EAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 26 .-Exact details of everything that happened tonight at the meeting of the Washington delegation to the democratic national convention may never be known. The meeting was cloaked with the strictest secrecy behind closed doors and in sharp contrast to the conferences of the republican delegation at the recent Chicago convention. When the delegation met at the Clift hotel at 5 o'clock, Richard Stripes at Washington, D. C., and chairman of the delegation, took the charman of the delegation, took the charman of the delegation, took the convention of the delegation took the charman of the delegation, took the charman of the delegation, took the convention of the delegation took the charman of the delegation to the charman of the charman of the charman of the delegation to the charman of the charm conferences of the republican gates said afterward that all of the controversy bore on the method of selecting the steering committee.

Whether the committee should be selected from the state at large of by districts is said to have caused the discussion. The latter plan won, and the steering committee is composed of J. L. Keeler, Hoquiam; R. L. Proctor, Seattle; Edward M. Connor, South Bend; H. C. Davis, Yakima, and Mrs. J. M. Simpson, Spokane J. M. Simpson, Spokane.

Trend to Cox Is Noted.

It was declared after the caucus that the sentiment of the delegation continued favorable to McAdoo, although there is a strongly marked trend toward Governor Cox of Ohio. The question of the unit rule, it was asserted, was not discussed, as the method of voting the delegation was a matter to be determined after the steering committee has made its rec-ommendations. Committee places were filled as follows:
