BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. Judging from the reservation lists forwarded to A. W. Givin, chairman of the accommodation committee of the Vancouver (B. C.) Golf and Country club, Portland will be represented at the Pacific northwest golf tournament. July 5-10, by nearly 125 players

-men and women. Seattle is sure to send at least an equal number of entrants to Van-couver, and with Tacoma, Aberdoen, Spokane, Butte, Victoria and the home-grown Vancouver players to draw from, it appears that the field of entrants at the 20th annual championships of the Pacific northwest section is to assume proportions equal to a national or international golf affair. Fortunately the Vancouver Golf and Country club officials have grasped the magnitude of the task and all three Vancouver courses— Vancouver, Shaughnessy and the nine-hole Jericho links—have been
