AT THE COVEY MOTOR CAR COMPANY PLANT. "Are you running a special sale on ur used cars now?"

"Yes, we not only have a big sale on w but always have had."
"You haven't been advertising a big le, have you?" "You haven't been advertising a big sale, have you?"

"No, we have not been advertising it as a big special sale with an expensive newspaper aproad because we think the public is too wise to be taken in that way. A benifide sale you see at a big reduction must certainly be based on a standard price on a used cur, is there? For instance a new Ford will have a standard price, but who is going to say just what any used one is worth? This being true, my dear man, how is any dealer going to get it across to the public that he is heighing a big special sale when his competitor next door is selling better cars for the same or less money? No, sir, there is no such thing as a used car special sale. Go out and look around, find the best car for the least money and that is special sale enough. Go to the most responsible dealer you can disting, if the price is as low as the other fellow, that's the place to buy,
