Miss Anderson, Youngest Republican Delegate.

MISS HELEN BREENBACK of Neptune beach, Cal., found a way to solve the problem of the high cost of bathing suits. She found that a pair of overalls could be converted into a satisfactory garment for the beach.

Miss Lillian Marshall won the cup for the most charming bathing suit in the contest at Balboa, Cal. The skirt is transparent and the garment is a creation of black and gold.

Mud baths are said to have become popular with California women and when they emerge from the slimy admixture of earth and water they resemble bronze statues. After the bath, the figures become ivory, then marble, under the shower.

The latest fashions in mountain-climbing costumes have been devised by University of Utah girls, who outfitted themselves for an outing trip in the new Zion National park, which was opened to the public for the first time May 15. Their adventures, in the wonderland of the towering peaks and rugged canyons were marked with thrilling experiences, with the sensations that come when one communes with nature in the secluded spots where it seems no human foot ever trod before. The clothes were designed for comfort in the great out-doors, and the young Miss Anna Anderson of Helena, Mont., had the distinction of being the youngest delegate to the republican national convention at Chicago. She is 21 years of age.

Miss Mary Foy of Los Angeles, delegate and member of the national committee, took a prominent part in the democratic convention. Miss Foy, whose persuasive oratory is credited in part with the choice of San Francisco for the convention, announced her intention to nominate President Wilson for a third term. She was an elector in 1914.

Mrs. Bainbridge Colby, wife of the secretary of state, is spending the summer season at Long Island, leaving for there when her husband left for the San Francisco convention.

TERRIBLE LIQUOR DOLED OUT AT HIGH PRICES IN CHICAGO

Delegate to Convention Laid Out by Single Pint of Whisky That Bellhop Produced for $12 a Pint.

BY JAMES J. MONTAGUE.

(Copyright by the Bell Syndicate. Published by arrangement.)

IF YOU hear of a couple of Chicago bellhops who are buying apartment houses in New York, you'll know—when you have finished this narrative, where they got it.

Also, if you know their address, business or residence, or where they only that, but he also underestimated the capacity of Pullman porters, which in those days is fast appraising by the ordinary methods.

When he left for Chicago, he figured that six quarts would be about right for out there and back. But the Pullman porter, having taken a correspondence course in burglary, had skeleton keys that fitted all suitcases. And when the subject of this case got to Chicago he had four quarts.

Friends Help in Disposal.

Four quarts is a good deal of liquor for one man. But at Chicago it was too hot to go out and ice was cheap. When a man who has studied drinking for years is confined to his room with four quarts of liquor and plenty of ice, he knows exactly what to do. Not only that, but if he has any true, dependable friends, not just fair-weather friends, but friends who will stick to a man while there is a drop left in the bottle, he can always get them to help him.

The four quarts were gone the second day. They must have contained a benign distillation, because the effect on my friend and his drinking companions was not noticeable, except that it had engendered a thirst that would not down.

His first thought was to send out for a doctor. The doctor came, took four dollars for a fee—and, when my friend winked at him, wrote out a prescription. The prescription was sent to the hotel drug store by a messenger who brought back a pint bottle containing a nerve tonic.

The doctor couldn't be reached to repair the damage, which was obviously not accidental.

A conference followed. It was plain that liquor was all about. What little breeze was wafted down the corridors from other rooms was redolent of it. But how was it to be had?

Somebody suggested that the bellhop might know. The bellhop was summoned and carefully cross-questioned. At length the confession was wrung from him that while he did not know himself, he had a friend who might know. He would go and see about it. He went and saw. He returned to say that his friend did know. "How much?" inquired my friend. "Twelve dollars is the best he allows he can do."

"No, sub, not twelve dollars a quart; twelve dollars a pint."

There was an argument, but it was of no avail. The twelve dollars was forthcoming and the pint was produced from under the bellhop's coat.

One Drink Produces Anesthesia.

My friend seized the bottle, poured quarter of it into a tumbler, added

Every man—every boy—will want these summer shoes

Many new types for outing and everyday use

Sturdy sport shoes—with or without heels. Made of heavy white or brown duck. Brown leather trimmings with ankle patch—red rubber soles and toe cap.

WHEN the mercury begins to climb, you want solid comfort in footwear. You want shoes that are light, cool, and flexible—shoes that give your feet perfect freedom. That's the sort you get when you buy a pair of Keds.

Keds are the ideal shoes for work or play in warm weather. Their cool, pliable fabric and light springy soles have made them popular with men and boys all over the country.

Besides the familiar tennis or yachting shoe, Keds are made in many special models. There are sturdy work shoes, light gymnasium shoes, and heavy reinforced models for hiking.

An entirely new feature

Some of the newer models are made like leather shoes, with regular welt construction soles and firmly boxed toes. They are just the shoes you need with your white flannels, or for business wear in warm weather.

With these additions, Keds have become a complete line of canvas summer shoes—ranging from the easy, less formal tennis shoe to the latest and most fashionable styles of footwear. Last year millions of pairs of Keds were worn by men, women and children.

Good dealers everywhere carry Keds. Try on the different models. See how light they feel, and how perfectly they fit. Look for the name Keds on the sole.

For men and women $1.50—$7.00
For children $1.15—$4.50

One of the smart special types for summer wear. Made of the finest white canvas—in high or Oxford models—with welt construction soles.

The standard shoe for tennis, boating and vacation wear. Made of light canvas, in high or low models—white or brown—with black, gray or red rubber soles.

United States Rubber Company

Cal., where an automobile salesman had one of the biggest surprises of his life when an Italian farmer, who had ordered a car, made an old-fashioned specie payment and all in silver coin. The salesman was asked to "wait a minute" for his money. After an hour and a half he was summoned to the back yard, where the farmer had laid out the price of the car on two tables. The coins were all quarters, halves and dollars, piled $10 in a stack. When the salesman undertook to check up he quickly understood why he had been left sitting on the front doorstep so long. It took him another hour and a half to make sure that he hadn't been overpaid.

Bolshevik Propaganda in China.

AMOY, China. — Bolsheviki propaganda is being carried on in southern Fukien under the direction of Governor Chen Chung-ming, whose advanced socialist leanings have long been recognized. A society has been formed with headquarters at Chang Chow and quantities of literature issued citing the bolshevik achievements in Russia and declaring that China must follow in the footsteps of Russian bolsheviks. The effort aims at abolition of the marriage relation and of private ownership of property.

Barrage Fire Expensive.

Barrage fire, used extensively throughout the war, consisting of concentrating hundreds and thousands of pieces against an objective, trenches or other defensive works in order to batter them to pieces, was very expensive, both to the aggressor and the target. One British barrage which lasted only three days cost $67,000,000.

Summer Beauty Hint

Hair is by far the most conspicuous thing about us and is probably the most easily damaged by bad or careless treatment. If we are very careful in hair washing, we will have virtually no hair troubles. An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair, that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, can easily be used at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox (which you can get at any druggist's) in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. This chemically dissolves all impurities and creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a stiffness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After canthrox shampoo arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Adv.

Warning to Mothers

We wish to announce that Koveralls is our registered and common-law trademark, and can only be rightfully used on goods made by us.

It does not matter whether the name is spelled "Coveralls" or "Koveralls"—this name when used on any one-piece garment for children, one to eight years, is an infringement, unless the garment is made by Levi Strauss & Co.

Should any dealer try to sell you any garment for children one to eight years of age under the Koveralls name, you may be sure that he has an inferior article he is trying to sell on the reputation earned by the genuine
