KEY TO DESCHUTES

Members of Appropriations Com mittee and Reclamation Service Give Verdict.

BEND, Or., July 10 .- (Special.)-Definite approval of the Benham Falls storage reservoir site, the key to the Deschutes irrigation project, which was visited by members of the congressional appropriations committee and Arthur P. Davis, director of the reclamation service, now tourof the reclamation service, now tour ng the state, was announced here today in a telegram received from Rep-resentative N. J. Sinnott in Washington. The telegram, copies of which were sent to Bend and Tumalo irr gation advocates, stated that the rexamined the reservoir site last summer for the reclamation service, is now in the hands of the acting direc-tor at Washington, and quoted the report as stating that the reservoir would be practically proof against enkage, even under full head, and that the dam site would prove satisfactory for an earth dam.

Tannels Project Visited.

According to the 1914 co-operative state and federal survey of the Deschutes project, the Benham Falls dam would raise the water of the river $1.5 feet, and back up the Deschutes 18 miles, flooding 19,000 acres of land and storing 440,000 acre feet.

The visiting representative and of-ficials left Bend this morning and to-day went over the Tumalo and central Origon irrigation projects, stopping at Princeille for luncheon and going on from there to Madras, where their special car waited to take them to Portland.

Sincere interest in the chief prob-lem of the central Oregon countrythe problem of bringing water to the land and adding to the mation's food supply by making productive many thousand acres of now arid soll—was thousand acres of now arid soil—was shown last night by the members of the official party in addresses at a banquet given in their honor here at the Pilot Butte inn. Representative Sinnott as toastmaster was intro-duced by T. A. McCann, general manof the Shevlin-Hixon company.

Oregon Called Progressive. Only the fact that private development started 17 years ago shut out the reclamation service at that time prevented the Deschutes project from being one of the first to be undertaken by the government, Mr. Davis said. "Oregon has been particularly progressive in irrigation matters," he remarked. "and there are now several projects which we would like to take up in this state if funds were available. I hope that as other pro-Only the fact that private developavailable. I hope that as other pro-jects in the west near completion, and as our income is increased by oil land leases, that the day will not be far distant when we can come to the assistance of such projects as that in the Deschutes valley."

Burton L. French of Idaho, pointed out that the west is at a disadvantage in the house because of its small number of representatives, and C. L. "Farmer" Smith, Union Pacific vet-eran agriculturist, fortified his stand for irrigation by asserting that an increased food supply is needed if America is to continue as an orderly, law-abiding country.

"The largest production to the aere and the least cost of cultivation to the acre is on the small farm," he said, "and that means the irrigated farm. Putting water on and leader farm. Putting water on arid lands is the best investment the government can make. Every dollar put into irrigation will return a hundredfold in the increased wealth and wel-fare of the country.

trees, tracts of sugar beets, attractive homes and prosperous towns.

There was no difference in soil in favor of today's view, the land was no higher, no more level, and the same hot sun was glowing overhead. All the one lacked to make it as beau-tiful a garden spot as the other, and a much larger one, was water-wate that tumbles away off to the north-east only to waste itself in the already brimming Columbia.

Contrast Declared Great No greater contrast can be imag-ined than that between last night's point of departure and tonight's stopping place. The party's final view of the dry lands yesterday was of a once prosperous village, now virtually deserted by man to the monotonous wind and drifting sand. Cunningham, on the Northern Pa-cific, is no longer a town.
