

COX AND COCKTAIL CAMPAIGN SLOGAN

Democrats Seek Support of Opposite Elements.

TAMMANY OUT FOR LIQUOR

'Americanism Vs. Alcoholism' Is Republican Answer.

OLD WAR CRY IS REVISED

Prohibition Leaders Predict Big Surprise When Votes Are Counted in November.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17.—"Americanism versus Alcoholism" is to be the answer of the dry leaders of the United States to the appealing campaign slogan, "Cox and Cocktails," already echoing through the sub-irrigated states of the east. Just as slogans counted for much in the campaigns of 1914 and 1916, they are certain to be features of the contest of 1920, now getting under way. Looking over the slogans of the past, democratic managers have decided to scrap the one, "He kept us out of war," but they have found another which still holds a little salvage value for use among the leaders, though not safe for public parade. It was emblazoned on every piece of campaign literature which went out of the democratic national headquarters in 1914. It read: "War in the East, Peace in the West. Thank God for Woodrow Wilson."

Old Slogan Overhauled. A little overhauling it is found to fit quietly into the exigencies of the present campaign. As remodeled, however, it can only be a war cry for the leaders whose strategem calls for promises in the east of the return of the good old days of the cocktail and the highball and assurances to the arid west that "the law will be rightly enforced," if Mr. Cox is elected.

The paraphrased slogan expresses the plan of political strategy in far fewer words than it could otherwise be told, being "wet in the east, dry in the west. Thank God for Jimmy Cox."

This campaign is to offer many original features. This will not be the first time that an entirely new issue has forged to the front in a national political contest, but it comes forward this time in a new form. McKinley made his appeal in 1896 to the hunger of the masses, and now we have another Ohio candidate, Mr. Cox, seeking to play on the thirst of those whose parched tongues are pained to every tune except that rasping and unmusical chorus, "How Dry I Am, How Dry I Am."

Conditions Different Now. McKinley won because hunger in those days was universal, with factories closed down and "For Rent" signs on every other shop door. The starving workers got a thrill out of that sententious inscription which lauded Mr. McKinley, "the advance agent of prosperity."

Opponents of the saloon say, however, that conditions at this time are not at all analogous with the period of 1896.

It is asserted that Mr. Cox and his supporters in Tammany Hall and elsewhere in the east over-estimate the number of voters who standing at the verge of hydrophobia, are waiting eagerly and anxiously the day in November when they may be able to make sure of the installation of a wet president in the White House.

Since the nation went dry it is declared that many who formerly opposed prohibition have been won over

LIGHTNING STARTS 11 FOREST FIRES

RAIN KEEPS BLAZES FROM GAINING HEADWAY.

Ten Fires Are in Small District, but Are Believed to Be Well Under Control.

ALBANY, Or., July 17.—(Special)—Lightning started 11 forest fires in the Santiam national forest in the course of a thunder storm last night. Because of rain which fell during the storm, none of the fires got a good start, and reports received at the forest headquarters here indicate that all are small thus far and that there is a good chance of keeping all under control.

Ten of the fires are in the Detroit district, in the northern half of the forest. The other is near the southern boundary line of Linn county. The rain was heavy in the vicinity of this latter fire and there will be no danger of its developing into a big fire.

These fires are the first which have started in the Santiam national forest this season.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., July 17.—(Special)—A big forest fire is raging in the Long Lake district, 13 miles west of Klamath. A large crew of firefighters is on the ground. The fire is in the Weyerhaeuser, Western Pacific and Christ tracts, which contain some of the best timber in the county.

GIRL, AGE 15, DROWNS AFTER SAVING FRIEND

LOIS J. NEPTUNE OF SALEM LOSSES LIFE IN CREEK.

Experienced Swimmer Collapses Evidently From Exhaustion and Sinks From Sight.

SALEM, O., July 17.—(Special)—Lois Ida Neptune, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Neptune of this city, was drowned in Mill Creek this afternoon after she had rescued Winnifred Rinehart, who had floundered while learning to swim.

Miss Neptune, together with Ethel Livesley and Miss Rinehart, were wading in the stream not far from the shore when Miss Rinehart, overwhelmed some water and showed evidence of distress. Miss Neptune, who was an experienced swimmer, hastened to the rescue of her companion and pulled her to the bank.

Probably due to exhaustion of the victim of cramps, Miss Neptune then was seen to fall forward and an instant later disappeared beneath the surface of the water. Miss Neptune's parents were notified. Firemen, with a pulmotor, reached the creek a few minutes later but were unable to recover the girl's body before all hope of resuscitation had vanished.

Miss Neptune was born in Ohio and with her parents came to Salem nearly ten years ago. Besides her parents Miss Neptune is survived by one sister, Dorris.

LONE ROBBER LOOTS BANK AT STARBUCK

THREE LOCKED IN VAULT AND $3000 IS OBTAINED.

Bookkeeper Uses Screwdriver to Work Lock, but Outlaw Makes His Escape.

STARBUCK, Wash., July 17.—A lone robber, wearing amber glasses, entered the Starbuck bank shortly before noon today and after locking the cashier, C. M. Zintheo, the bookkeeper, Miss Gladys Brotherton of Walla Walla and C. H. List, a customer in the vault, robbed the cash drawer of between $2000 and $2500, all in bank notes of less than $100 denomination.

Zintheo released himself and the others from the vault within five minutes, with the aid of a screwdriver, by taking the plate off the combination and moving the tumblers with his hand.

With only a meager description of the robber, the officers were handicapped in their search, which was started at once. Today was payday in the railroad shops and the robber evidently knew that the money was due in the bank.

The outlaw was described as 30 or 35 years of age, tall and slender, and about 150 pounds. He wore a blue shirt and work clothes. No one saw him enter the bank or leave. The fact that the robber apparently vanished into thin air after he stepped out of the bank leads the officers to believe that he may have been no stranger in Starbuck.

Suspicion of Foul Play Is Seen by Jury.

CHILDREN'S FATHER IS HELD

John Roesch Unable to Explain Origin of Blaze.

RESCUE EFFORTS FAIL

Husband and Father Declares He Tried to Save Family but Flames Had Early Start.

BOONERS FERRY, Idaho, July 17.—The coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. John Roesch and her seven children this morning brought in a verdict that "the family was burned to death under suspicious circumstances."

Mrs. Roesch and the children, all of whom were under 14 years of age, perished in their home which burned at 2 o'clock this morning. The husband, John Roesch, was awakened by the fire, telling of the disaster. Soon after he left the scene and went to his home, about five miles from Copeland. He was taken into custody when Prosecuting Attorney O. C. Wilson, Coroner D. D. Simons and Sheriff Dunning went to Copeland for an investigation.

Roesch declared today that the whole family was asleep when the fire broke out, and that he did not know how it started.

The seven children ranged in age from 1 to 14 years.
