

ACCEPTANCE SPEECH COMPLETED BY COX

Recreation Sought at Golf After Week of Work.

10,000 WORDS WRITTEN

Ohio Governor Continues to Withhold Comment on Attack by Senator Harding.

DAYTON, O., July 31.—Governor Cox, finishing his address of acceptance for next Saturday, today sought recreation after his week's work and prepared to turn to other campaign affairs.

The speech comprises about 10,000 words, according to estimates, or somewhat over a newspaper page and somewhat in excess of that of Senator Harding. The governor spent an afternoon on the golf links.

After finishing his speech, Governor Cox today received two visitors, Professor Irving Fisher of Yale, with whom he discussed economics, and Secretary Van Dyke of the Pennsylvania democratic committee.

Comment Is Withheld. Governor Cox continued to withhold comment on the statement of Senator Harding, who charged that Cox was seeking to obscure the league of nations issue and declaring champions of the league with international interests were behind the democratic campaign fund.

It was indicated that the governor would make no response before his address Saturday and also would continue to refuse, through exchange of statements to the press, to enter into that sort of debate.

Next week the governor is expected to reply to P. J. Christensen of Salt Lake City, farmer-labor candidate, regarding the request for aid in obtaining a pardon for Eugene V. Debs, the socialist candidate.

Conferences Are Stated. George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, is expected late next week for conference with the governor prior to the notification.

The special campaign committee of 15, it is believed, will be announced soon after.

It is understood that direct management of the campaign under Mr. White will be in the hands largely of E. H. Moore of Youngstown, O., Governor Cox's pre-convention manager; Senator Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the speakers' bureau, and W. W. Marsh of Iowa, treasurer.

WHITE REPLIES TO HARDING

League Position Will Be Made Clear by Cox Is Declaration.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The position of the democratic party, with reference to the league of nations, will be made perfectly clear, when Governor Cox delivers his speech accepting the presidential nomination, George White, national chairman, declared today in answer to the inquiry of Senator Harding as to the party's stand on the administration's foreign policy.

Chairman White declared that until Governor Cox had delivered his speech of acceptance he did not care "to engage in a newspaper controversy with the republican candidate."

"It might be pertinent to ask, however," he added, "whether ex-President Taft or Senator Johnson of California correctly represents the republican attitude with respect to the league."

The appointment of William H. O'Brien of Lawrenceburg, Ind., state auditor, as western campaign manager, was announced. Mr. O'Brien will have headquarters at Chicago.

Mr. White made public a telegram which he has sent to the democratic members of the Tennessee legislature, urging that Tennessee be the 36th state to ratify the federal suffrage amendment.

BOY, AGED 13, IS DROWNED

75 Playmates Witness Accident but Act Too Late.

Winston Green, aged 13, son of Rev. and Mrs. Axel M. Green, 200 Graham avenue, was drowned in the river below the Portland flouring mills yesterday. The body was recovered by R. F. Landrum, 15, of 112 Knott street.

The drowning occurred in the presence of 75 boys who were swimming in the water and playing on the beach. One of young Green's friends called out that the lad was drowning, but the others thought it a joke until he had been under water several minutes. After the body had been recovered the boys telephoned for the harbor police and Harbor Patrolmen Frenn and Voderberg tried to resuscitate the boy with a lung mizer. Later the body was taken to the morgue.

The boy is survived by his parents and one brother. He was a student at the Eliot school.

SPECIAL DOCTORS ELECT

Dr. G. M. Swift Chosen President of Oto-Ophthalmologists.

Dr. George M. Swift of Seattle yesterday was elected president of the Pacific Coast Oto-ophthalmological society, which closed its eighth annual meeting yesterday at the Multnomah hotel. Other officers are Dr. E. E. Maxey, Boise, first vice-president; Dr. J. O. Chaple, Chico, second vice-president; Dr. Ernest E. Wheeler, Tacoma, secretary and treasurer. It

Dancing Taught

NOTICE

BEAUTIFUL COTILLION HALL, will be used EXCLUSIVELY for a SCHOOL OF DANCING.

This will undoubtedly be the largest school in the west having THREE HALLS.

Hall No. 1, third floor, Advanced classes. Hall No. 2, second floor, Beginner's classes. Hall No. 3, private lessons at all hours.

SPECIAL RATES.

Special rates will be given to all pupils who have attended either COTILLION or BROADWAY ACADEMY during the summer.

AN ADVERTISING FEATURE NEVER BEFORE OFFERED will be a FULL DANCE ORCHESTRA in main hall for advanced classes.

All classes to be under the personal supervision of Prof. D. Patterson Downey and staff.

COTILLION HALL, 14th and Washington.

was decided to hold the next meeting en route to Alaska. Speakers at the closing session were Dr. A. S. Green of San Francisco, Dr. Edward Glaser of San Francisco, Dr. Harrington B. Graham of San Francisco, Dr. Robert Levy of Denver and Dr. J. Gordon Wilson of Chicago.

THREE SEEK TO BE CHIEF

Veteran Firefighter Holden Throws Hat in Ring.

Battalion Chief Holden will be a candidate in the competitive examination to be held some time this month to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Fire Chief Dowell. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday.

Acting Chief Young and Fire Marshal Grenfell will also be candidates in this examination. The municipal civil service board will hold its next meeting on August 12, at which time it is expected that the date for the examination of applicants for the position of fire chief will be announced.

Battalion Chief Holden is one of the veterans in the Portland fire department, having joined the department in 1887. In 1907 he resigned and reentered the department in 1911. Chief Holden is the designer of the Irvington "bungalow" fire station and the new central fire station under construction at Fourth and Taylor streets.

Missing Woman Found.

Mrs. John A. Norem, 59, a resident of Astoria, for whom police had been on the lookout since Friday afternoon following notification by her husband that she was missing, was found yesterday morning at the corner of Front and Market streets. Mrs. Norem, who cannot speak English and is nearly helpless with age, was unable to account for the time spent while missing. Mr. Norem, who also is old and feeble, told the police that his wife wandered away while he was attending to their baggage as they were en route from Oregon City to Astoria.

BOLTERS UNITE FOR WASHINGTON FRAY

Farmer-Labor Party May Get Support of All.

FUSION PROBLEMS SEEN

King County Conventions Separate in Sessions, but Likely to Emerge as Entirety.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 31.—(Special.)—Conventions of the King county branch of the triple alliance, the Non-partisan league and Railway Men's Welfare league and the committee of 48 were called to order in separate halls of the labor temple Saturday and at the close of afternoon session C. R. Cottrell reported to the triple alliance that the Non-partisan league had voted to unite with the independent units that have endorsed the farmer-labor party.

The four bodies, upon completion of their own work, will meet in joint executive conference. No report had been received by the alliance convention from the Railway Men's Welfare league up to the hour of afternoon adjournment.

Mercer Complication Foreseen. If the King county branch of the non-partisan league does merge with the other organizations in support of the third party, it will complicate the situation within its own ranks, because the state convention of the non-partisan league voted to go into the republican primaries, and the railway men took similar action. Officers of the triple alliance expressed themselves as being confident that the four bodies will fuse in this county, and to that end conference committees have been appointed to discuss ways to reach a basis of apportionment for county and legislative officers.

Campaign Fund Wanted.

Coincident with the work of organizing branches the triple alliance in these Washington counties which have thus far worried along with only two political parties represented among their voters and of strengthening the third-party machinery in other sections of the state, the campaign managers of the alliance purpose to raise a big campaign fund for work in this state. The organization has its hopes centered on $100,000 as the amount most appropriate for the cause.

Only cash will be accepted in the campaign fund drive, as pledges of support are elusive and things hard to convert into tokens of wealth.

POLITICS WARMING UP

Many Candidates in Cowlitz County to Make Campaign.

CASTLE ROCK, Wash., July 31.—Politics is warming up in Cowlitz county as there are a number of candidates in the field. In the third commissioner district there are three candidates in the field from Castle Rock with Silver Lake to hear from.

The candidates are D. J. Hille, the incumbent, P. A. Parker and William McKinley. A strong fight is in prospect for the office of state senator. Hon. F. G. Barnes is out for a second term and is opposed by John Bogart of Woodland.

For sheriff J. W. Hoggatt is asking for re-election and is opposed by Andy Carter. A non-partisan fusion ticket is in the field but is not considered dangerous.

Read The Oregonian classified ads.

OLD VULCAN HARNESSSED

ITALY USES LATENT POWER OF VOLCANIC AREA.

Utilization of Natural Heat, at First Counted Dream, Developed to Considerable Extent.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Industrial Italy, forced by the enormous prices for imported coal, is turning attention toward the utilization of the latent power of the country's volcanic area, according to advices received by the Italian embassy.

The idea of exploiting the natural heat emitted from the soil in the volcanic regions seemed a dream at first, but already it has been developed to considerable importance. Successful experiments have been conducted in the past and today at Larderello in Tuscany a heating plant of 15,000-horse power is operating without interruption and distributing electric current to Florence, Livorno and Grosseto. Its capacity, it is planned, will be increased.

First experiments with volcanic power were made some years before the war by Prince Ginori-Conti at Larderello, near the salt mines of Volterra, a region extensively covered with volcanic vents emitting powerful jets of hot steam containing boracic salts and various gases used in the extraction of boracic acid.

Instead of limiting the use of these steam-jets to extracting the salts contained in the exhalations of these natural vapor-vents, the election of the steam is stimulated by boring holes. In this way it has been possible to obtain jets at a pressure of 30 to 45 pounds per square inch and in some instances as high as 75 pounds a square inch, the temperature varying from 150 to 165 degrees centigrade.

In 1905 Prince Ginori-Conti applied this natural steam to a 40-horse power engine, using only a small section of the Nemella fissure, the ejected steam from which has a pressure of 75 pounds per square inch. Seven years later another experiment was successful with a 300-horse power turbine-alternator, and later the Larderello heating plant was started with three turbine-alternators of 2000 kilowatts each, these being fed by boilers at low pressure heated by the natural steam, superheated to 165 degrees centigrade.

The natural steam has been used thus far only for heating purposes because it contains substances, among them sulphuric acid, which corrodes metals, particularly iron.

MANNIX OFF FOR IRELAND

(Continued From First Page.)

ters as a promoter of strife. As a matter of fact, I am working for peace, peace within the British empire and without the empire, a peace, however, that I hope will rest not on force, but on justice and on the free will of the people concerned. There are those who think that an archbishop should not speak as I have spoken and act as I have acted unless he be a Belgian cardinal. I believe Ireland is a nation, as Belgium is a nation, and that Ireland has just the same rights as Belgium to say what form of government she will have.

"Further, if Ireland's cause be just and sacred, then, even though I happen to be an archbishop, I am certainly within my rights in following in my own humble way the glorious example of Belgium's patriots and heroic cardinals. Further, I will say that if the Irish people are right in their struggle to be free they have a right to look to me for something more than mere tolerance or barren sympathy; for like them I am Irish, bone of their bone, flesh of their flesh."

Two Scenes Show Contrast.

As the ship swung out into the Hudson, the archbishop was seen on the after-deck. His serious face, surrounded by iron gray hair, was continually bowed in recognition of the well-known chorus of cheers wafted toward the boat. In his left hand he held two roses, the only floral offerings that flung from the dock could reach him. With the other hand he waved a silent blessing.

In contrast to this scene was one staged at the opposite pier on the British liner Olympic.

There was a different spirit manifested. Instead of the white, yellow and green flag of the Irish republic appeared the flaming colors of Great Britain. The crew, several hundred strong, waved the union jack and lining the rail, answered with cheers for England every shout raised for Ireland and her "president." The Hudson, separating the factions, alone prevented serious trouble.

As it was, it was a day of action, with fights enough for even an Irish county fair.

British Premier Mocked.

Hours before the ship sailed men, women and children carrying American and Irish flags and signs mocking Premier Lloyd George, assembled. The prelate was forced virtually to fight his way through the throng to get to the gangway.

When trouble began, an Englishman standing on the upper deck hurled a taunt at the archbishop. In a second husky longshoreman climbed up the ship like flies and pummeled the passenger. Only detectives with revolvers pressed into the ribs of the huskies brought rescue to the stranded Britisher.

This was the most spectacular of the brawls. Every insult to the Irish republic was met with a punch, and there was many a sore head.

Ordinarily only those who have passed from the American customs authorities are permitted within the fenced enclosure around the gangway on sailing days.

Today, however, the friends of Archbishop Mannix defied regulations. They rushed from their feet the regular guards and before police reserves could arrive, they were all but on the ship. Prompt preparations to lift the gangways only prevented demonstrators from getting aboard.

It is just 100 years since the manufacture of quinine was begun in Philadelphia.

NEW LAW TO BE ENFORCED

MOTOR VEHICLE OPERATORS TO ANSWER FOR VIOLATIONS.

Secretary of State Sends Letter to Peace Officers in All Parts of State.

SALEM, Or., July 31.—(Special.)—Strict enforcement of the motor vehicle operator's license law enacted at the 1920 session of the legislature will begin at an early date, according to a letter prepared by Sam A. Koser, secretary of state, and sent today to every sheriff, police officer, justice of the peace and constable in Oregon.

"Section 2 of chapter 3 authorizes the secretary of state to appoint three field deputies or inspectors solely for the purpose of enforcing provisions of this law," said Mr. Koser's letter. "It is not intended that these field deputies or inspectors shall in any way supplant regular peace officers of the various political subdivisions of the state, the purpose being merely to appoint additional officers to further aid in carrying into effect requirements of the law providing for the registration of motor vehicles and the licensing of operators and chauffeurs."

Omaha Visitor Here.

Among the welcome and delighted visitors in Portland just now are Mrs. Frank W. Robinson, her mother and her daughter, Miss Margaret, who arrived yesterday from Omaha, where they have resided since Mr. Robinson's appointment as freight traffic manager of the Union Pacific system and transfer to headquarters in that city. Their sojourn in Portland and hereabouts will be for several weeks and they contemplate spending a portion of August at Seaside, North Beach, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Wilson.

Here's Another of Those Liberty Standard Programs Playing This Entire Week

LEAH LEASKA

(LEAH COHEN)

PORTLAND'S PEERLESS SOPRANO

KEATES' CONCERT

On Our Giant $50,000 Organ

CONCERT

- | | |
|----------------------------------|-------------------|
| No. 1. DARDANELLA..... | Bernard and Black |
| No. 2. CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA..... | F. Mascagni |
| No. 3. THE LORD IS MY LIGHT..... | Leah Leaska |
| No. 4. IL TROVATORE..... | Verdi |
| (a) Miserere..... | Verdi |
| (b) Anvil Chorus..... | Verdi |
| No. 5. FAUST..... | Gounod |

TODAY AT 12:30

MACK SENNETT COMEDY 'GREAT SCOTT'

NEWS WEEKLY—MAGAZINE—CARTOON

WALLACE REID

IN THE FUNNIEST BEDROOM FARCE YET SCREENED.

SICK ABED

with

DEBBE DANIELS
WINIFRED GREENWOOD
TULLY MARSHALL