JUXORICIDE ANGERED WHEN HE SLEW WIFE

"Out of Head" When Crime Was Committed, Says Man.

Prisoner Contradicts Himself and Finally Admits Seeing Wife's Body Float.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—
"It was not my intention to commit murder. I was out of my head and I did not know what I was doing. I am not a murderer at heart. Had I been in my right mind it would not have happened. It was not my fault at all."

With that short statement, Olaf Anderson outlined the basis of his defense as temporary insanity, at his preliminary examination in the Jus-tice court this morning, on manslaughter information charging him with the murder of his late wife, Mrs. Minnie Cecil Anderson, whom the defendant threw overboard from a boat and drowned in the Columbia river last Saturday.

Anderson was held by the court to Anderson was held by the court to await the action of the circuit court grand jury and committed to the county jail without bail. The only witness called by the state was Coroner Hughes, who testified regarding the signed confession which Anderson made and which was introduced but not read in open court. On cross-examination, Anderson said that he lost control of himself as the result of a quarrel with his wife, and added:

one and that I would keep the other, but she would not agree to this. It was after we ate our lunch and about II o'clock. My wife was sitting at her right side.

"I got sore and out of my head. If I had known what I was doing I never would have done it. I stood up, stepped behind my wife, put my arms under hers and threw both of us into the water. Three or four minutes later I looked at the boat and saw the children were about to fall overboard, so I went to the boat to save them. I grabbed hold of the boat, looked around for my wife, but she was gone."

Later Anderson admitted he saw his wife floating on the surface of the water, after he returned to the boat, but made no effort to save her.

Faving of Bend's downtown streets has become the issue which is drawing chief attention here. The matter was first taken up by the Commercial club, certain members being opposed to further improving roads and streets with gravel, which is clearly inadequate to present needs. Meanwhile the Western Willite Road and Construction. Construction company, which is paying for the Shevlin-Hixon Lumber company here, filed a proposal to pave a section of a downtown street as a sample. This brought the matter to a head in the city council.

As the mayor was opposed to action before the will of the taxpayers was expressed, a special meeting is called for Monday night, when property owners will give their opinion for or against the proposition. It is practically certain that a large part of Bend's business streets will be payed soon.

NEW MUNICIPAL INSTITUTION AT KELLY BUTTE WILL BE READY FOR OCCUPANCY BY CITY CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL.

Portland's new contagious hospital adjacent to Kelly Butte, is nearing completion. It is believed that the city will be able to throw the institution open September 15. Construction of the new hospital, under force account, has been under the supervision of City Commissioner Barbur, in charge of the department of putile works. The actual work is being directed by H. E. Plummer, chief building inspector.

Although modern in every respect, the new hospital is an example of economical building, the total cost being estimated at less than $60,000. The building will have a capacity of 60 beds under normal conditions, although in the case of an epidemic room can be provided for approximately 200 beds by use of the attic.

Protest at the use of the Kelly Butte jail as an isolation hospital resulted in the authorization of the new hospital. For years Portland has been without a modern contagion hospital, a heavy handicap upon the city health board.

The county commissioners have appropriated $15,500 toward the cost of the building, the remainder having been expended by the city of Portland.
