ROOSEVELT HAS NO DOUBT WHATEVER

Democratic Nominee Is Sure of Party Success.

DR. LOVEJOY INTRODUCES

Candidate Believes Women Will Break Away From Party and Hunt for Principle.

According to schedule, Mr. Roosevelt leaves Portland via the Southern Pacific at 1 o'clock tonight, bound for San Francisco. He is tentatively scheduled to make 20-minute talks at Roseburg and Ashland and may find it possible to greet the citizens of Medford and Grants Pass, it was said. velt leaves Portland via the Southern Pacific at 1 o'clock tonight, bound for San Francisco. He is tentatively

Opening his address by expressing regret that he could not carry out the original programme which called for meetings in several other Oregon cities, saying. "I have learned better than ever before the truth of the old axiom that 'It is impossible to be in two places at the same time' and 'Possession is nine points of the law, for my Washington friends selzed me and would not let go."
"I want to start off by making a prophecy," he continued.
"I recognize that the State of Oregon is claimed as absolutely safe by the republican leaders; but on the other hand, a large number of independent observers, who have studied the situation, have stated it as their opinion that the electoral vote of Oregon must be placed in the doubtful column. If these independent observ-ers are right, as I believe them to be, my prophecy is definite that Oregon will be found casting the majority of its votes on November 2 for the demo-cratic ticket.

Voters Using Their Heads.

"I base this prophecy on two great big fundamental facts in our modern public life and political contests. These two facts are scarcely open to dispute. Either one of them is sufficient to bring my prophecy true— with the assistance of both of them there can be no room for doubt. The first of these truths is that today, more than ever before in our national history, the voters of the United States are using their heads. It is very evident in every state of the union that narrow partisanship is becoming less and less prevalent. It is equally evident that what might be called inherited partisanship is also passing away. A generation ago very large proportion of the voters of the nation, in both the democratic

"Many elements contributed in the old days to this unfortunate tendency, but the greatest factor probably was the existence of rancor and bad feeling between political opponents. A hundred years ago people in the United States used to fight duels over politics. The feeling ran high prior politics. The feeling ran high prior to elections, and violence was not an exception. The fighting of the civil war did little to eradicate bad feeling.

war did little to eradicate bad feeling.

"But as these later years have passed by this old antagonism has largely disappeared, and with its disappearance we are losing, gradually but surely, an antiquated and un-American method of voting a ticket because "grandpa" did.

"I am perfectly willing to let two classes in the community vote for Senator Harding this year, without any effort to call them away. Those who have studied the relative merits who have studied the relative merits of the two platforms, who have studied the relative merits of the two candidates, and who after that are honestly of the opinion that Senater Harding would make the best president for the next four years, should vote for him. So, also, those who are guided by the opinions of their republican grandfathers and would vote for him anyway. It would be useless to argue with that type of mind

Conviction Vote Wanted. "I do not ask the vote of any man, democratic or republican, unless it be a vote of conviction.

"It is because I am so certain of the appeal which democratic ideals are making this year to those who are willing to use their individual judgment that I give this as one of the great reasons for my prophecy of democratic success in this state this year.

"The other great reason is that the American people are on the whole a pretty wise people, and that they will not be fooled or misled by lies or misstatements; and the campaigr of the republican leaders, as disclosed thus far, is so full of misrepresenta-tions that the voters have plenty of time to discriminate—to call the bluff—to discover the truth, and to punish those who are the guilty

Methods Held Despicable. "I suppose it is because the demo-cratic campaign has put the republic-ans on the defensive that they are driven to the use of despicable methods. Let me give you an example. During the last week I have been demolishing the silly argument about England being able to outvote us six to one in the league of nations. I have shown, first of all, that it is the council of the league which is the true governing body, and that in that council the whole British empire has but one vote, just the same as the United States; and I have shown that while in the assembly, a driven to the use of despicable meth shown that while in the assembly, a very large body which has primarily only recommendatory powers, five of Great Britain's dominions, like Can-Great Britain's dominions, like Canada. South Africa and Australia, each have a vote, the United States of America will undoubtedly have the support of twice as many of our neighboring and friendly republics in the West Indies and South America. I cited, for instance, the fact that the republic of San Domingo is at the present time being administered by the United States navy, and that as the interests of the two countries are closely bound up together, the votes of both countries would undoubtedly be found in the same column. "The same thing is true of the republic of Haiti, though in that particular case they have a president and cabinet of their own.

Interests Declared Akin.

Interests Declared Akin.

"It is true also that the interests of other republics, such as Cuba, Panama, Nicaragua and Brazil, are so akin to ours that we shall be of mutual support to each other in the assembly of the league of nations.

"What I am driving at is this: The above simple and clear statement got under the skin of the partisan re-publican leaders to such an extent, and under the skin particularly of Game on Level Sought. "That is a very good illustration of the kind of misrepresentation to which they have been driven. By they I mean the present people in control of the republican campaign. That kind of campaigning is not acceptable to the voters of this nation—to the voters of any political party, and they partment the other day and misrepresented me, saying that I had said that the United States had control over the governments south of us. A cleverly worded story appears from Washington, making it appear that the state department has denied my claim about these republics in the league of nations. I am glad that the state department has denied the absolutely false statement given to them as coming from meli wholly agree with the state department. I reiterate exactly what I said before that the United States will have voting side by side with it in the league of nations, not six states but at least twice that number, and this because of the simple fact that these little republics have the same kind of interests that we have and that it is even more certain that we will all be voting the same way than that Canada, Australia and South Africa will be found voting with Feedward. to nominate presidential electors in this state. It is the policy of the non-partisan league not to function in national politics, and in North Da-kota and Minnesota, for example, where the league is most active, its candidates are running for state or Farmer-Labor Organization county offices on either the republican or democratic ticket, which necessarily must elect presidential elect ors of the party under which it seeks to gain state and county control, In many states the farmer-labor party will not have presidential elec-tors, but the Washington state com-mittee voted today to nominate can-didates for every office, on the theory that if it can win in the state it can just as easily name its own presider tial electors. You can pay as little as 5c or as high as $3.00. The "Todco" line ranges from 25c to $2.50 with 35c as a standout price because of the real ebony brushes featured. They have a bristle set, grooved back for cleaning the nails. Whiting-Adams Hand Brushes, from $1.25 to $3.00. Prophylactic Hand Brushes - 2 styles at $1.25.

Bath Brushes

The "Todco" line is all-sufficient. There's a superior value brush at an easy graded range of prices from 75c up to $4.50. Even the cheapest ones have well-seasoned, hard-wood backs and handles so that splitting and cracking is eliminated. All have detachable handles.

Bath Sprays-An accepted companion bath essential. Here again the "Todco" line dominates with prices ranging from $1.25 to $2.00.

Hair Brushes

You can judge general value conditions in The Owl Drug Stores by the fact that prices on brushes with real ebony backs start at $1.00. Prices go as high as $9.00 and the same value standard applies in every case.

Shaving Brushes

Every shaving brush in every Owl Drug Store has that most essential feature—bristles set in rubber. The prices start at 25c and range up to as high as you care to go. Many well-known brands are featured.
