

CROWDS TO ATTEND FAIR, SEPTEMBER 28

Rosarians, Prunarians and Radiators to Be on Hand.

BOOSTERS' DAY SET ASIDE

Cherrians Promise No Dull Moments Will Prevail—Big Programme Arranged.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—Thousands of members of the various civic and commercial organizations of Oregon will invade the state fair grounds here September 28, the day having been officially designated by the state fair board as "Boosters' day." The Salem Cherrians will act as hosts on the occasion, and it is expected that practically every section of the state will be represented. Invitations to be present on "boosters' day" have already been accepted by the Royal Rosarians of Portland, Radiators of Eugene, and Prunarians of Vancouver, Wash.

For the entertainment of visitors the Cherrians have outlined a programme that promises to allow no period of dullness during the entire day. A reception committee will meet the out-of-town arrivals in the morning, and after an exchange of greetings they will be escorted to the fair grounds, where they will be formally presented with the keys of the city by Mayor Otto Wilson. Special features will include drills by various marching bands, for which prizes will be presented to the best uniformed organization, largest community club, best booster yell, largest delegation from the greatest distance and best booster song.

Racing Provided For.
There also has been arranged for the occasion a special racing schedule, including the Royal Rosarian 2:25 trot, Radiator 2:25 pace, five-eighths-mile run, one-half-mile dash, Prunarian special and Cherrian handicap. Auto races, a booster meeting and dancing will culminate the day's activities.

Saturday will be Shriners' day. Al Kader, temple of Portland, with its famous band, patrol and chanters, will attend, and will participate in many activities of their own making. The Al Kader, upon arriving in Salem, will appear first on state street with an exhibition drill, after which they will be escorted to the fair grounds, where they will drill and dance before the stadium box in the afternoon and again in the evening. The entertainment for the visiting Shriners is being arranged by the Salem Shrine club, and will be one of the features of the fair.

Horse Show to Excel.
J. D. Farrell, in charge of the Union Pacific railroad lines in Oregon, and an ardent supporter of the state fair, has written H. Lea, secretary of the state fair board, that the horse show will be one of the greatest night attractions ever witnessed in Oregon. Already horses have been entered in this event from Canada, California, Washington, Idaho and Oregon, while inquiries have been received from horse men and horse women of other states. As in previous years this show will be featured by a showing of the Pacific coast's prized horses, enhanced by the appearance of women riders attired in the most brilliant costumes. All space in the livestock barns has been reserved, according to Secretary Lea, while prizes to be offered are made to take care of many automobile and tractor exhibits outside of the machinery hall. Advance reservations indicate that practically every make of automobile and tractor will be represented, with the Ford and Buick dealers exhibiting the latest models. This year's poultry exhibit will be augmented by the showing of pet stock, and already hundreds of the latter animals have been offered for display. There will be rabbits, cats, dogs and other pet stock which their entirety will make up one of the most novel exhibits ever assembled in this state.

Portland Musicians to Play.
Provision has been made to care for the boys' and girls' industrial clubs in tents to be pitched on the main grounds. The exhibits to be entered by these clubs will be far superior to those of previous years and will occupy a conspicuous place in the agricultural pavilion and livestock sheds. An added attraction for this year's fair will be the appearance of the Portland Symphony orchestra in the Stadium Monday night. This orchestra is composed of the members under the direction of Carl Denton, May Dearborn Schwab, dramatic soprano, formerly of New York city but now a resident of Portland, is the soloist. This orchestra will appear under the supervision of the Salem Music Teachers association, and will be one of the features of the fair.

The speed programme promises to be one of the best ever in Oregon, and already all the races have been filled and a number of horses are on hand to participate in the special events. Lone Oak track has been put in the best of condition, and it is predicted new records will be established before the close of the fair.

This year's "White Way" will be chock full of clean and entertaining shows, and concessions, and amusement seekers will find their fill of this sort of recreation. Special care has been exercised in selecting these shows, and no gambling or questionable concessions will be allowed on the grounds.

DEFICIENCY FUND VOTED

198.75 from January 1, 1920, to August 31, 1920. Dr. Steiner said the cost of conducting the institution until the next session of the legislature would average $25,439.94 a month.

Deficiencies Given in Reports.
The public service commission submitted a report showing an appropriation for the present biennium of $100,000, of which $48,875 had been expended up to August 31 of this year. Including the balance of $17,323.34 in the hands of the commission on August 31, based on the past monthly average expenditures of $411.52, Fred O. Buehl, chairman of the commission, said a deficiency appropriation of $42,000 would be necessary to carry on the work of the department until January 1. He also explained that this appropriation would allow the commission to employ four needed experts in order that car shortage complaints and other demands made upon the body might be attended to more promptly than at the present time.

A report submitted to the emergency board by Sam A. Koster showed that the appropriation for the employment of accountants, clerks and stenographers for the years 1919 and 1920 was $24,000. Out of this sum $22,910.74 had been expended on Sep-

September 19. Because of the natural increase of work in the state department, together with the demands for higher salaries and advanced costs of materials, Mr. Koser said, an appropriation of $750 would be necessary to care for the expenses of his office until January 1. Another appropriation of $200 was allowed the secretary of state to meet the salaries of the superintendent of capitol buildings and grounds, janitors and other employes until the next session of the legislature.

Salaries and Supplies Advanced.
The appropriation of $15,000 allowed the state training school for boys was based on increase in salaries, new employes, advanced cost of materials and supplies, improvements in institution, clearing land and unpaid balance on wood. There was appropriated to this institution in January, 1918, $97,220, of which amount $1,422.44 has been expended. For the first 20 months of the biennium the average monthly expense of operating this institution was $4900.

A letter from the Oregon Social Hygiene society indicated that the funds of that department were exhausted and that $5000 would be necessary to continue the work of the organization. Under the deficiency appropriation for this society two instructors will be employed, a woman to work among the girls in the high schools and a man to conduct similar instruction among the boys.

The deficiency appropriation asked by the state veterinarian, according to Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, will be used to defray indemnities resulting from the killing by the state of diseased horses and cattle. Appropriations for the blind school in the sum of $2000, based on child labor inspectors in the amount of $650 the supreme court library for $8000 were authorized after brief discussion by the board.

Other appropriations asked by the state industrial school for girls and board of control were passed by the board, while the appropriation sought by the medical school of the University of Oregon was withdrawn.

LOG JAM BLOCKS RIVER
7,000,000 Feet Tied Up in Cowlitz by Freshet.
KELSO, Wash., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—One of the biggest log jams that has ever formed in the Cowlitz river now blocks the stream at Rocky Point two miles above Kelso. These logs were brought down the river by the freshet of the fore part of the week, and are in the jam. The timber belongs to the Silver Lake Railway & Lumber company and

Suspect Held After Disappearance and Recovery of $5000 in Watches.
ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 18.—(Special.)—A reward of $500, offered by M. Osme, a New York jewelry salesman, for the return of a sample case containing $5000 worth of watches which Osme says was stolen from him in an Aberdeen rooming house Wednesday afternoon, was paid yesterday to Robert and Ben Johnson, employees of the Western Junk company of this city. The Johnsons, who are brothers, found the case two miles from the city on the Wiehka river road, re-hid it, notified the police and took them to the scene.

Land Title Laws Discussed.
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—A discussion of the advisability of proposing changes in land title laws was begun today at the second day's sessions of the annual meeting of the California Land Title association here. Worrall Wilson of Seattle, Wash., spoke on "A Message From the American Association of Title Men."
