

NEW ATTENDANCE IS SET AT COUNTY FAIR

Livestock Parade Features Day at Gresham.

FAIRVIEW BABY WINS

Efforts Made to Have Multnomah County Exhibit in Place at Salem Next Year.

GRESHAM, Or., Oct. 9.—(Special.)—Dearly day attracted a record-breaking attendance at the Multnomah county fair grounds this afternoon. H. A. Lewis, president of the fair board, pronounced this year's fair 50 per cent better than any previous event, with the livestock exhibits 100 per cent improved. The rains early in the week cut into the receipts, but all things considered the fair has been a great success.

At noon today the juvenile exhibitors of livestock led the parade of blue ribbon winners around the grounds. The fine string of Jerseys from the R. C. Altman farm, Clackamas county Guernseys and Ayresbires, Multnomah farm Holsteins and other fine higher-ups followed the school boys in the procession.

Dry Falls to Appear.
B. Lee Paget, prohibition candidate for senator, did not appear as scheduled for the noon prohibition rally. Henry Henningsen, from the Damascus section, was there with a jug of home brew for himself and kindred spirits.

He was gathered in by Constable Squires. Two other wet offenders paid $10 fines to the city recorder. Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered, fair board director, had her pocket picked and later salvaged the empty purse from a rubbish heap.

The baby show, held in the main auditorium, attracted large gallery. The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie St. Clair of Fairview was adjudged the prettiest baby under 1 year, and the owner of the finest head of hair. Mrs. Dean Taylor's baby was the latest entered. Mrs. K. W. Edinas mothered the prettiest brunette, and Mrs. Ben Speer owned the prettiest blonde baby. The judges were Walter Holman and Mrs. Edith Jackson of Portland and Mrs. Herbert Kelling of Gresham.

Annual Banquet Held.
The second annual banquet of the fair board officials, exhibitors, judges and boosters was held last night in the cafe of the fair grounds, bringing together an aggregation of "Oregon First" enthusiasts from Portland and eastern Multnomah county and from many other parts of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. Credit for the success of the event must be divided between Edith Tozier Weathered and C. D. Minton, manager of the land products show and county fair.

In his capacity as toastmaster Mr. Minton kept the two-minute speeches of the spellbinders flowing easily. Mrs. Weathered's Oregon-products-and-Oregon-payroll exhortation was followed by Judge Stapleton's plea for co-operation and a Multnomah county exhibit at the state fair next year, regardless of cost or politics or any other obstacle. The duck was passed back and forth in the discussion of the county's failure to exhibit at Salem this year, responsibility finally seeming to rest with Commissioner Holman, who was not present to discuss the matter.

Efforts Pledged for Exhibit.
H. A. Lewis, president of the fair board, pledged his best efforts for next year's exhibit at Salem. R. L. Sablin declared that he felt like an "experiment station" after participating of the Oregon products meal of Morrow county cabbage, Washington county cucumbers, Coos county cheese and other tidbits, and congratulated the exhibitors on this year's county fair, especially commending the efforts of the officials in charge of the children's industrial club work. County agents from Coos, Clatsop and Clackamas counties spoke, as did Fred Lockley of Portland, Theodore Brugger and B. C. Altman of Gresham and others.

MAYOR BAKER INDORSED

UNION LEADERS ORGANIZE CAMPAIGN CLUB.

Administration of City Affairs Praised in Resolution Adopted Unanimously.

One hundred labor leaders met last night in Bricklayers' hall at Fourth and Madison streets to organize a "Baker-for-Mayor club." The members unanimously indorsed Mayor Baker's candidacy for reelection.

The resolution adopted follows, in part: "We as Mayor Baker on account of his remarkable administration of public affairs at a time when the hearts of men in public office have certainly been tried. "We have had differences with his administration as to his policies at the time, but we feel, now that the time has passed, that he has always acted wisely as a public official, and we do therefore indorse him for reelection to the office of mayor of the city of Portland."

The following officers were elected to direct the affairs of the new club: Harry Anderson, president; H. E. Kidney, vice-president; T. G. Lowry, secretary; and Fred Happner, James Cranon, D. E. Nickerson, H. E. Kidney, P. W. Sleeman, Ed Chyne, Jack Lewis, Charles Schumann, Frank Hannan, W. D. MacLean, Lee Rusk, Fred Ream, J. J. Stout, C. W. Eaton, Robert Tait, Sam Harris, Frank McLean, Jack Sebott, J. D. Crockwell, Fred Cole, A. H. Stein, Ed Mitchell, C. A. Meeker, R. A. Whissett and R. A. McInnes, members of the executive board.

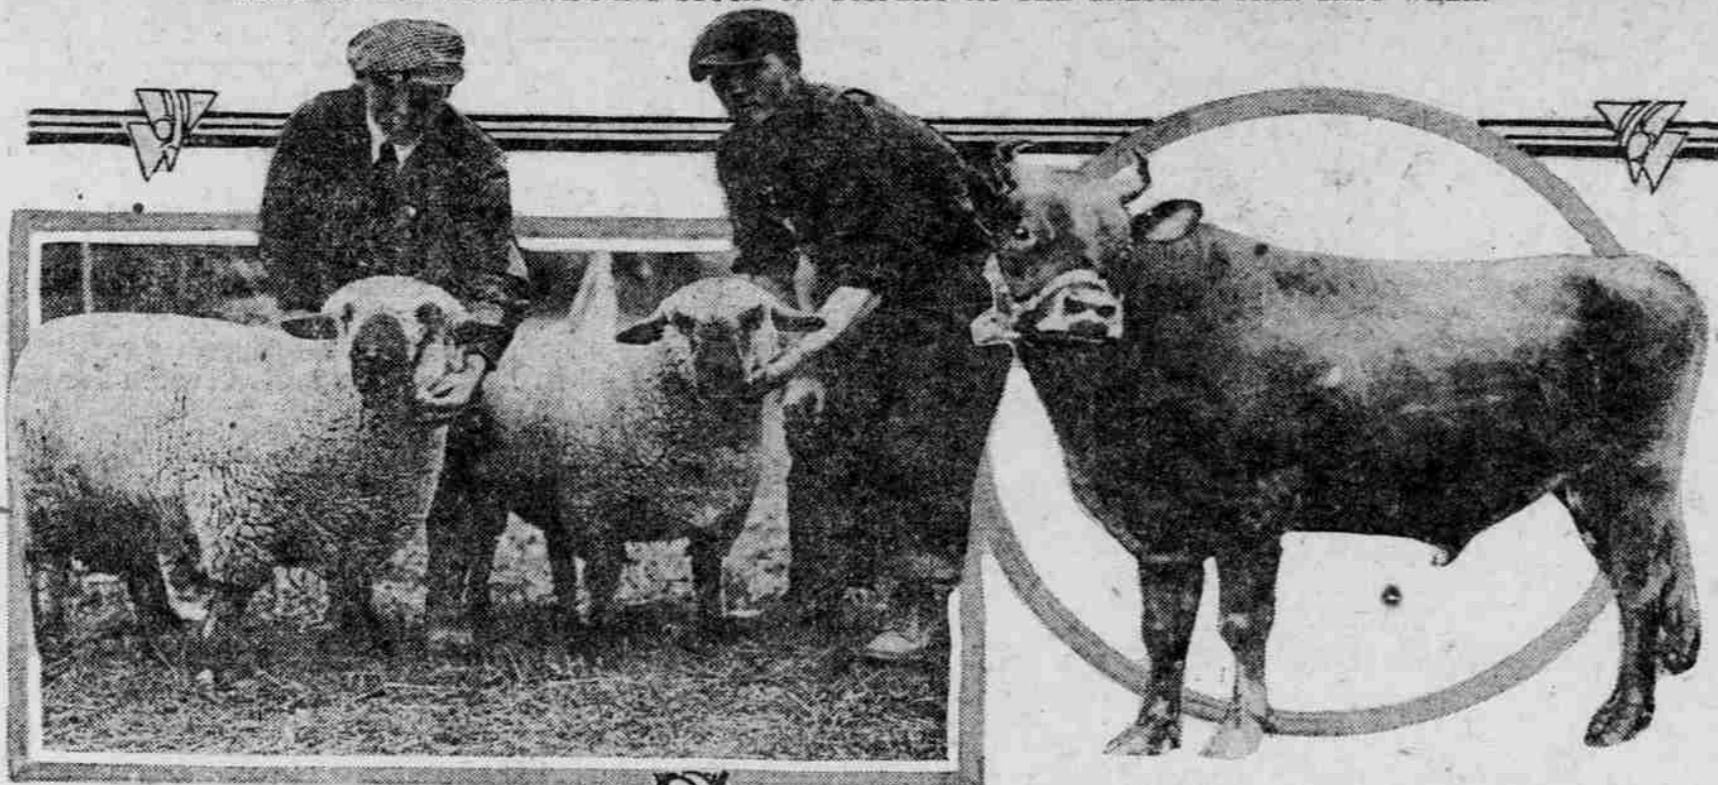

The club was adjourned to meet not later than Saturday night, with the possibility that the officers might call another meeting during the week if they thought fit.

Dry Law Violation Charged.

Carl J. Carlson, 41, contractor, and Sam Wallace, 40, negro, were arrested last night by Patrolmen Meacham and Regan and charged with violating the prohibition law. The police say the pair drove up to the Multnomah hotel in a taxicab and that the negro had seven quarts of Scotch whisky. Carlson had an empty bottle. He was released on $100 bail and the negro on $250 bail.

WORLD FAIR IS INDORSED

25 BUSINESS MEN APPROVE HYDRO-ELECTRIC "EXPO."

Scheme is Outlined at Conference and Steps Taken to Insure Success of Enterprise.

A world exposition for hydro-electric engineers, to be held in Portland in 1925, last night received the approval of a committee of 25 leading business men of the city, appointed to put the plan over. A meeting was called by F. E. Beach, chairman of the Hydro-electric league, at the Central library last night, at which time the scheme was outlined.

Speakers were George Joseph, who told of the value of such expositions; John H. Lewis, who outlined the hydro-electric resources of the Columbia basin; County Assessor Reed, County Commissioner Holman and George L. Cleaver, who told of the discovery of the electro magnet.

The proposed exposition would celebrate the 100th anniversary of the discovery of the magnet by Sturgeon, an Englishman. Mr. Reed suggested that in order to finance it, a corporation should be formed with a capital of $2,500,000, the estimated cost of the project. A committee of five is to be appointed to formulate definite plans.

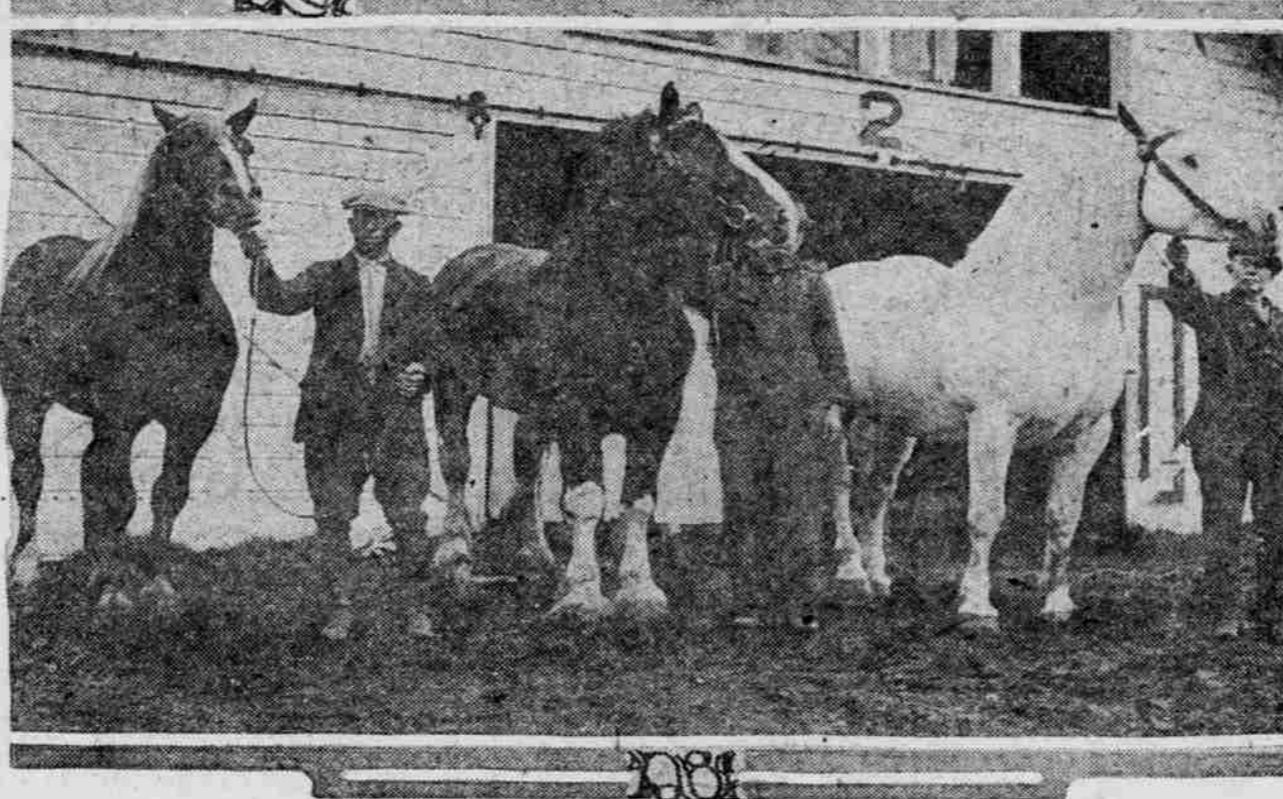

The general committee includes the following: William Killingsworth, Charles F. Beebe, C. C. Chapman, Dorr E. Keasey, H. R. Albee, R. F. Wilson, E. B. MacNaughton, John P. Dady, C. C. Colt, Emery Olmstead, Robert S. Farrel, Oscar Helntz, George W. Joseph, B. Lee Paget, C. W. Hodson, F. E. Taylor, R. V. Jones, A. F. Plesgel, Herbert Gordon, John H. Lewis, Ira F. Powers, Jesse A. THE woman on the left, if she hurries, will be through with her house-cleaning in time to start preparing the evening dinner. The other has been finished since ten o'clock and is happy in the knowledge that not only her rugs and carpets but every part of her house and furnishings are CLEANER than brooms, brushes and dusters could make it.

The woman on the left has a husband who is thoughtless or selfish. The other is married to a man who still cares and who knows that his wife will stay young and attractive only so long as she does not over-tax her strength and ruin her health. He knows that Housekeeping is truly a business—the greatest of all businesses—and requires for its efficient management the aid of modern mechanical labor and time-savers.
