attend the regular meetings every second Wednesday of each month, at Portland Social Turn Verein hall at 8:30 o'clock. Considerable enthusiasm

Four dainty girls, Miss Edna Murphy, the bride's sister, in a frock of sunshine yellow; Miss Catherine McNary, wearing pink; Miss Marguerite Humphrey, in orchid, and Miss Mary Clarke, in delicate green, carried bouquets of pink rosebuds. Their dresses were of pussywillow taffeta, cut short and draped over silver lace. Miss Margaret Phelps, as maid of honor, chose a gown of pastel blue, also of pussywillow, finished with silver, and she carried a great arm cluster of pink roses. In artistic semblance to the coiffure of the bride, her maids wore coronets of tinted tulle from which depended delicately tinted veils falling to the hems of their gowns.

The bride's gown was of ivory satin, chiffon and tulle lace, the heavier material falling in dainty apron effect over an accordion slip and forming, with her veil, a full court train. Orange blossoms outlined the tulle coronet which banded her dark coiffure, and her bouquet was a great shower of bride's roses and orchids.

The attendants proceeded up the white carpeted aisle to the chancel, encircling the altar as the impressive service was read. Strains of "At Dawning" (Cushman), accompanied the exchange of vows, the wedding music being played by Mrs. W. C. E. Finitt at the organ, Bert A. McDonald, violin, and Carl Franseen, cello.

A reception at the E. J. Murphy home on Perkins avenue, followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Slusher receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Temple. Roses in profusion decked the rooms and orchestra music added its charm.

An inviting punch bowl stationed in an arbor on the enclosure, which was in charge of Miss Alberta McMonies, Miss Genevieve Phelps, Miss Murphy, Miss McNary, Miss Clarke and Miss Humphrey.

In the dining room the bride's cake in a bed of roses centered the table, from which strands of tulle were caught up by the electrolite. Presiding at the samovars were Mrs. S. P. Sturgis, Mrs. Wilson D. Murphy, Mrs. W. J. Clarke and Mrs. Gilbert W. Phelps. Assisting them in serving the guests were Mrs. E. J. Finitt, Mrs. H. J. Stillman, Mrs. Ralph Temple, Mrs. Walter Cresswell, Mrs. John Meeker, Miss Vera Temple, Miss Elsie Pittman, Miss Laura Jerard, Miss Claire Raley, Miss Mildred Berkeley, Miss Beth Smith and Miss Marjorie Williams.

Just before the guests departed the bride tossed her bouquet from the porch and as it fell into the arms of Miss Pauline Dohmert, a shower of tiny packages scattered wee tokens into the crowd of girls—a ring, a bumble, an anchor, a button—and all the symbols proverbially hidden in a bride's bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Temple departed last night for Portland, from where they will motor to California. The bride chose a travelling dress of embroidered blue navy tricotine, worn with a coat of brown velour and beaver, and a hat of velvet trimmed in ostrich feathers.

Mrs. Temple, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Murphy, is a charming girl. After being graduated from high school here she attended Ward-Belmont college in Nashville, Tenn., later attending the University of Oregon, where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta society. She is the possessor of a delightful soprano voice.

Her husband, who is a well known young farmer, formerly attended Oregon Agricultural college and later served during the war in the United States navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Temple expect to be in California until Christmas time and upon their return will make their home on the bridegroom's ranch near Pendleton.

H. B. Compton, Women's Relief Corps No. 52 held its sewing with Mrs. R. Shatto last Friday. The attendance was good. A fine luncheon was served and much work done.

The Laurelhurst study club met at the clubhouse for its opening meeting of the season on Monday.

The Minnesota state society held its first meeting of the season Wednesday. The new officers elected for the ensuing year are: William Moser, president; M. J. Achem, vice-president; Mrs. L. W. O'Rourke, secretary; K. H. Bestland, treasurer. All Minnesota persons and their friends are cordially requested to

for a pleasant, profitable year was displayed at the last meeting.

Thursday was "banquet day" for Orpha Rebekah lodge of Montavilla. A class of 26 candidates was initiated into the mysteries of the Rebekah degree. The work of the drill team brought forth much applause. Jessie Jarvis, past president of the Rebekah assembly, was present and gave an enthusiastic talk. Many visitors from other lodges were present.

The Laurelhurst club dancing classes were opened for the season by A. C. Holmes, the instructor, on Monday evening. A large crowd was on hand for the opening classes.

The Laurelhurst club fortnightly card party was held at the clubhouse on Thursday evening with a large attendance. Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Perkins were the hosts. The high scores in bridge were Mrs. James Forbes and W. P. Richardson; in "five hundred," Mrs. R. C. Bradley and W. M. Rice.

The members of the East Side Business Men's club were hosts on Thursday evening to the members of the Kiwanis club and their ladies. After a dinner served by the women of the Central Presbyterian church the floor was cleared for dancing. The room was decorated with choice dahlias. The feature of the floral exhibit was the fact that each bloom was of a different species, and the combinations of color were unique. A musical programme was given by the Dixie quartet. L. M. Lepper and Wilson Benefield told of the work of the east side club, and Ernest R. Wiggins spoke of Kiwanian activities.

ties. Twenty-five prizes donated by east side business houses were awarded during the evening. More than a hundred couples enjoyed the event.

In honor of Miss Sara Herna, attractive young bride-elect, Miss Tillie Spellman entertained with a pretty trousseau shower at her home on Wednesday evening. The rooms were tastefully decorated with gaily colored autumn foliage and flowers. Music and dancing were the features of the evening. At a late hour a delicious luncheon was served. Miss Herna's engagement to Edward Nudelman of Seattle was recently announced. No definite date for the wedding has been made, but probably will be an event of the early winter.

An interesting social event of Thursday was a dinner given by Mrs. Nina G. Neimien and daughter at their Laurelhurst home, 180 Laurelhurst avenue. The affair was given for the department officers of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic. Seated at a beautifully decorated table were Mrs. Courter, department junior vice; Mrs. B. Underwood, department chaplain; Mrs. Iona Hancock, department inspector; Mrs. Eugenia Wasserberg, practical instructor; Mrs. Belle Elwood, Mrs. Daisy Abraham, and the hostess and her charming daughter, Miss Lucille.

In honor of Miss Adrienne Shemanski and Miss Alma Shemanski, the employees of the Eastern Outfitting company gave an informal dancing party Tuesday night at the Portland Heights club.

Miss Alma, who recently announced her engagement to Abe Cohen of San Francisco, has been employed as cashier at the Eastern Outfitting company for ten years, and her fellow workers showed their regard for her in the gift of an electric grill and percolator with tray. Miss Adrienne also from the employees of the Shemanski received a bouquet of flowers also from the employees of the company.

The elaborate mock wedding was an entertaining affair, the principal parts being taken by the following: Bride, Mr. Bishop; bridegroom, Mr. Irwin; bridegroom's father, Mr. Krause; bridesmaids, Mr. Litman and Mr. Wright; ring bearer, Mr. McMullen, while Mr. Duffield impersonated the minister.

William Krause was chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by Jean Terry, Mrs. E. Yerkow, L. J. Connor and L. A. McMullen.

A group of young people pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. Frank Womack last Thursday evening at their home, 531 East Main street. The occasion was Mr. Womack's birthday. An enjoyable evening was had by all present. Music and dancing supplied the entertainment of the evening. Dainty refreshments followed. Those present were Estella Womack Julia
