Y. M. C. A. MAPS SOCIAL AND RELIGIOUS PROGRAMME FOR WINTER

Bible Study Clubs Will Be Promoted by a Special Committee, Pastors and Laymen Co-operating.

A PROGRAMME of numerous ac-tivities, socially and religious-ly, has been mapped out by the Portland Young Men's Christian as-Sure." A. N. Wills will be the min-ute man in the morning. The chorus Portland Young Men's Christian as sociation for the winter. J W Palmer of the social and religious work department of the association announces that a number of Bible study clubs will be promoted by the special committee. Already a series of Sunday afternoon meetings have been heid. Dr. William T. Mcbeen held. Dr. William T. Mc-Elveon, pastor of the First Congregational church, was the principal speaker. The series attracted the young men and the attendance was large. Pristors and laymen, members of the social and religious work committee, are co-operating fully to make the senson's activities successful. The work will include shop and theater meetings, personal work groups, or ganization of gospel teams, formation of religious literature clubs, membership dinners, stag parties, presentation of motion pictures to aid the Bible study, stereopticon lectures. smokers, musicales, receptions, dormitory dinners, open-house events and various other gatherings.

One of the largest tasks ever undertaken by the Young Men's Chris-tian association in Portland is ai-ready under way in the factories and lumber mills of the city. Noon shop meetings, at which prominent minis-ters and laymen of the city present a Bible message, are held. The xpeakers are being trained to conduct the meetings by A. M. "D IRECTION AND DESTINY" will be the sermon subject at the be the sermon subject at th

First Methodist church on Sunday morning and Dr. Stansfield will seek to show that character and destiny are not determined by any one act or fact but rather by the attitude and trend of the life. By unthinking persons it is often assumed that in the actualities of conduct one misets only right and wrong and a choice deter-mines character; but really, life and conduct are far more complex and difficult. In nearly every issue of conduct, it is not a simple question of "ight and best." If we always clearly know what was really best, we could eadily decide and usually would decide aright. The text for this sermon will be Genesis xiii:12 -- "And Lot pitched his tent toward Sodom." Direction mostly determines destiny. Beginning next Sunday night Dr. Stansfield will give Sunday night ser-mons on Job. The following are the dates and the subjects: October 31. "The Conflict of Life"; November 7, "The Mystery of Suffering," and No-vember 14, "The Only Source of Light." In dealing with this oldest and greatest of the world's epic po-ems, Dr. Stansfield hopes to give a philosophy which will practically and helpfully touch some of the vexed problems of human life, and present some working principles which will make men victors. There will be special music each night.

The Rev. W. J. Herwig of the Anti-Saloon league of the state of Oregon will address the "Hustlers' Men's Class" of the Rose City Park Metho-Class" of the Rose City Park Metho-dist Episcopal church at the regular Funday school hour, 9:45. In view of present conditions, both state and na-tional, this address will possess very unusual interest. Strangers will be cordially welcomed.
