

GOVERNOR ON HIKE OVER ROAD ROUTE

Executive Wants to See District Highway Would Serve.

TRAIN CAUGHT BY PLANE

Mr. Olcott Visits Tillamook to Get Idea on Kind of Country Road Will Pass Through.

NEWPORT, Or., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—After a strenuous trip of personal inspection of the surveyed route from Neskowin, in southern Tillamook county over the divide into the Salmon river country to Otis, thence to Newport, walking nearly the entire distance, Governor Olcott, accompanied by Herbert Nunn, state highway engineer, and Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, arrived Tuesday in Newport in time for himself and party to vote. Wednesday the governor and his party inspected the jetty and left for Yaquina by the hydroplane "Curtis Seagull," piloted by F. E. Harding, where they caught the train for home. In relating his experience during the trip the governor said:

"We left Salem Wednesday of last week for the coast for the purpose of inspecting the surveyed route of the proposed road running from Neskowin in southern Tillamook county over the divide into the Salmon river country to Otis.

"This road will start at the mouth of Neskowin or Slab creek at the ocean and run easterly over the divide, a distance of approximately 10 miles, to Otis where it will connect with the present road from Willamina to Taft on Siletz bay.

"This road is to be built co-operatively by the federal government, the state and the two counties interested, Tillamook and Lincoln. The funds representing the state's share have been appropriated by the highway commission. Mr. Nunn believes the work will start next year.

"The object of our trip was personally to see the proposed route and country it will serve. The proposed road from Willamina is almost impassable even for a four-horse team with light load. There is fear evidenced by the local citizens that it will shortly be so bad that the mail service will have to be discontinued and which would naturally work the greatest possible hardship on the settlement and would prove nothing short of a calamity to them.

"Road to Help District. "This road, when completed, is expected to relieve this situation and prove a great boon to the suffering people of the southern end of Tillamook and northern end of Lincoln in that it would give them access to the outside world and at the same time form an important link in the Roosevelt highway. The road south from Otis past Devils Lake to Taft is also in fearful shape and should receive early attention.

"From Taft we went up the Siletz river, spending two days on it. It is a wonderful river. Tuesday we reached from Siletz bay to Newport ending our week's trip in a good old-fashioned Oregon rain. We walked practically the entire trip from the ocean.

"The Salmon river and Siletz countries present wonderful opportunities as soon as highway transportation is afforded. We were greatly impressed with all we saw there. It is probably the greatest and richest area lying undeveloped in our state today. Very few of the people of the state at large know anything at the present time of these countries or their vast possibilities. This arises from the fact that they have always been almost inaccessible. With good highways, which I earnestly hope will reach realization in the early future, the great fertility and richness of the country in question assures very rapid development and bring to the sturdy pioneers of the territory their just and long delayed due."

LINCOLN ELECTION FREAK

HARDING CARRIES BUT OTHER REPUBLICANS ARE BEATEN.

Chamberlain and Most of Others on Democratic Ticket Win County by Close Vote.

TOLEDO, Or., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—All election day was a drama in Lincoln county. The county, by registration 4 to 1 republican, gave Harding a 2-to-1 vote and defeated Chamberlain by a small majority, then defeated every republican candidate, with one exception, who had democratic opposition.

John Fogarty, democrat, of Newport has been elected judge over Henry Howell, republican, of Toledo. Ed Stocker, democrat, Newport, won over Al Swartz, republican, Toledo, for the office of assessor. W. M. Simpson, democrat, Toledo, eliminated R. E. Gwynn, republican, in the race for sheriff. George Schenck, democrat, by a margin of one vote, defeated Arthur Nye, republican, as city marshal.

The only other case of democratic opposition is for the position of county surveyor and as to whether Z. M. Derrick, democrat, or Ord Castle, republican, will win depends upon the returns from the official count.

Toledo Mill Suspends.

TOLEDO, Or., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The Roberts sawmill of this city shut down yesterday for an indefinite period. Lack of orders was given as the reason. The sudden closing of the mill was a surprise to local people, as the mill had established a remarkable record of persistent running. It is rumored that the Chesley mill will also be closed soon.

153 EGGS IN FEBRUARY FROM SIX 5-YR.-OLD HENS

If you will notice there are an innumerable number of tiny YOLKS in any HEN'S body that needs developing to cause her to lay.

Feed her "PEPTONE," develops the tiny YOLKS and she will lay, and it does not matter how old she is either or how cold the weather may be.

Green stuff causes these YOLKS to develop in summer and in the same way "PEPTONE" will cause them to develop in the winter.

The direct road to success—Big profit for winter eggs. ORDER TODAY. A life income, $100 box postpaid. Address: Peptone Company, Springfield, Mo.—Adv.

SPEAKERSHIP BOOMS ON

CANDIDATE ALREADY SCOUTING AMONG MEMBERS-ELECT.

Howard Lucas, Banker and Lawyer of Yakima County, One of Best Prospects.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—With the last faint echo of the late election hardly lost in oblivion, the political pot of Washington already finds itself being stirred by a series of booms for various candidates who are allowing themselves to be listed in a race for speaker of the house of the next legislature.

While none of the legislators named in the boom have come out openly with any sort of a campaign, it is definitely known they will make the race if prospects look good enough after two or three weeks of scouting among the legislators-elect.

Howard Lucas, prominent lawyer and banker of Yakima county, is believed to be one of the best prospects for the speakership and many leaders of the last legislature are for him. E. H. Guie and Robert Grass, both of King county, are mentioned as candidates. It is the gossip that Grass has already sent letters to members of the next legislature warning them that Representative J. H. Davis, of Pierce, Representative Mark Reed, of Mason, and Republican National Committeeman Guy E. Kelly have begun an "offensive" in an effort to organize the next legislature.

Just before the close of the last legislature in Olympia last year, 65 members of the house signed a "round robin" that they would not take any part in a preliminary programme for the selection of a speaker, but would devote the first week of the session at Olympia to an open election on this matter.

Welfare League Organized. PRINEVILLE, Or., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—At a call meeting held Tuesday at the Methodist Episcopal church, five delegates from each of the city churches met and organized the Crook County Welfare league. The purpose of the organization is to study the social, moral and educational conditions of the community.

JAIL BOOTLEGGERS, PLEA

Official Says Offenders Do Not Care About Fines.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Send the bootleggers and other violators of the prohibition law to jail rather than fine them," is the plea made by Washington State Prohibition Director McDonald to District Attorney Saunders.

Mr. McDonald says the violators of the prohibition law do not fear a fine, and asks that heavy sentences, as well as fines, be given them. In most cases where an arrest is made by the government men, more than one person is caught, and in these cases the conspiracy charge could be made more effective. Mr. McDonald also hopes to increase his force, as he has received complaints from assistants all over the state to the effect that their forces are inadequate to get all the violators.

People who are looking for some specific thing to buy naturally look where the range of choice is the greatest. This has been, to a large extent, responsible for the phenomenal result-producing power of the "Oregonian Want-Ads."
