Work Organize The Quills.

The Quills, an organization of students interested in original literary work, was recently organized at Reed college. Under the leadership of Josephine Felts and Arthur Malean, editors of the literary department of The Quest, the club promises to have a successful year. In meetings already held in the rooms of Dean Young, English professor, many contributions were read by students. Howard MacGowan offered some free verse which was well received by the club; Dean Young gave some prose by a young Canadian woman, and a play was read by Arthur McClean. Other contributors this semester have been Aired Gehri, William Scott, Anna S. Ailen and Josephine Felts.

The object of the club is to afford students who have original work to affer opportunity for helpful criticism which they might not get in the class-ness, the lure of gold and adventure in the Yukon country, but, to thoroughly appreciate the camaradèrie and undercurrent of friendliness through the mutually shared hardships and successes of the frezen north, one should attend the monthly get-together evenings of the Alaskan society.

At the last meeting Senator W. T. Hume, speaker of the evening, gave an interesting description of the discovery of gold and the government by Urited States roldiery of Arril City (vaich was later calls. Non-z City) when, equipped with a tent, a piece of tin for a sign, dry goods box furniture, wrapping paper and a fountain pen, he was "the only lawyer in the place who had an office."

The pear crop of the Medford district of the Regue river valley will not go over 730 cars this year, of which 787 cars have mired gone to the eastern auction market. The apple shipping crop is estimated at more than 300 cars, against 475 cars shipped from here last season. Only 123 cars have been shipped so far, but refrigerator cars are now coming in plenty so that the remainder of the apples will go out at the rate of eight or ten care a day.

When the father returned from work yesterday he was angered be-cause his daughter and son-in-law had taken temporary charge of his young son and started a heated argument at the Lorimer home, where he had gon, to protest against their interest in the lad. It was during this argument that the cutting occurred. Engle Put Under Arrest.

After the stabbing Lorimer was assisted to a grocery store at Third and Clay, where his wound was then washed. When the police arrived they sent him to the emergency hospital. They then went to Engle's room, 387 First street, where they placed him under arrest. The arrest was made by Lieutenant Ervin and Patroimen Wagey and Simpkins.

Engle has a single room at the First-street rooming house where he has been taking care of his son, according to Mrs. Lorimer. His wife divorced him nine years ago. Mrs. Lorimer said that she had made previous efforts to have her father take better care of her brother but he refused to do so.
