

REPUBLICANS RULE IDAHO LEGISLATURE

Few Democrats and No Non-Partisans in Body.

NEW CHAMBERS FINISHED

Lawmakers Meeting in January Will Find All in Readiness. Organization Plans Now On.

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 13.—The republican party will be in absolute control of the next Idaho legislature, which convenes January next. The democratic party will be sadly in the minority and the Non-partisan league will not be represented by a member in either house. The result of the election was disastrous to the republicans, but it was worse for the league. It lost out entirely.

Out of a total membership of 98 in the senate and house, the republicans have 92 seats, 40 in the senate and 52 in the house. The democrats seated but two representatives and four senators and the non-partisans failed to get a seat. One of the four democratic senators is a recognized leader, but he ran as a democrat in the county from which he was elected. Never before in the history of the state has the republican party been in such complete control of both branches of the legislature.

New Chambers Completed.

The 16th Idaho legislature will have the honor of opening the new legislative wings to the state capitol, for which the legislature made a $500,000 appropriation, and which will be ready for occupancy when the legislature convenes. The house is located in the east wing of the capitol and the senate in the west wing. Both are finished in marble and mahogany and heavily carpeted. They are among the finest legislative chambers to be found in the west.

Lieutenant-Governor Moore, having been re-elected, by virtue of the office he holds will preside over the senate. E. W. Whitcomb of Lemhi county, re-elected, probably will be president pro tem. He held that post during the last session. M. E. Yeaman, re-elected to represent Bonneville county, is likely to be chairman of the state affairs committee, the administration mouthpiece in the upper house and clearly the most important chairmanship in the senate. Senator Yeaman was one of the leaders in the senate two years ago. He was selected as chairman of the legislative auditing committee, which during the past two years has supervised the audit of the books of all departments in the state and has recovered almost enough money to meet the total expenses of the next legislature.

Johnston Speaker, Perhaps.

Organization of the house is fully as important as that of the senate. While there will be a number of old members back at the next session, it is considered more than likely that Peter G. Johnston, representative-elect from Bingham county and dean of the lower house in point of service will be the next speaker. His friends are active in his behalf.

There will, however, be other aspirants. It is likely that Charles D.

Storey, ex-speaker of the house, will be available. He has served in the house a long time from Ada county. D. L. Young of Ada county also is listed among those who may be considered, as is also C. J. Hugo, representative-elect from Latah county. M. I. Kiger, speaker of the last house and a pre-convention candidate for governor, is not returning to the legislature this session.

OUR STOCK is THIS SEASON'S

Interior scene in our great upstairs store for men and young men.

And that is important to know in these days of dumping last season's high price stuff on the market in the form of "sales."

We buy and sell clothes in such large quantities that our stock is always fresh. Our buyer is even now taking advantage of the present market situation to buy the best quality of goods at prices that are ACTUALLY BELOW WHOLESALE.

Think what that means to you, especially when these same high-grade clothes are sold to you at our famous upstairs prices—prices that are far better values, dollar for dollar, than the "specials" that are sensationally advertised on every side in a last endeavor to unload out-of-date stock onto you; and prices that are guaranteed to save you at least $10 over ordinary prices on any garment in any of our three great upstairs stores.

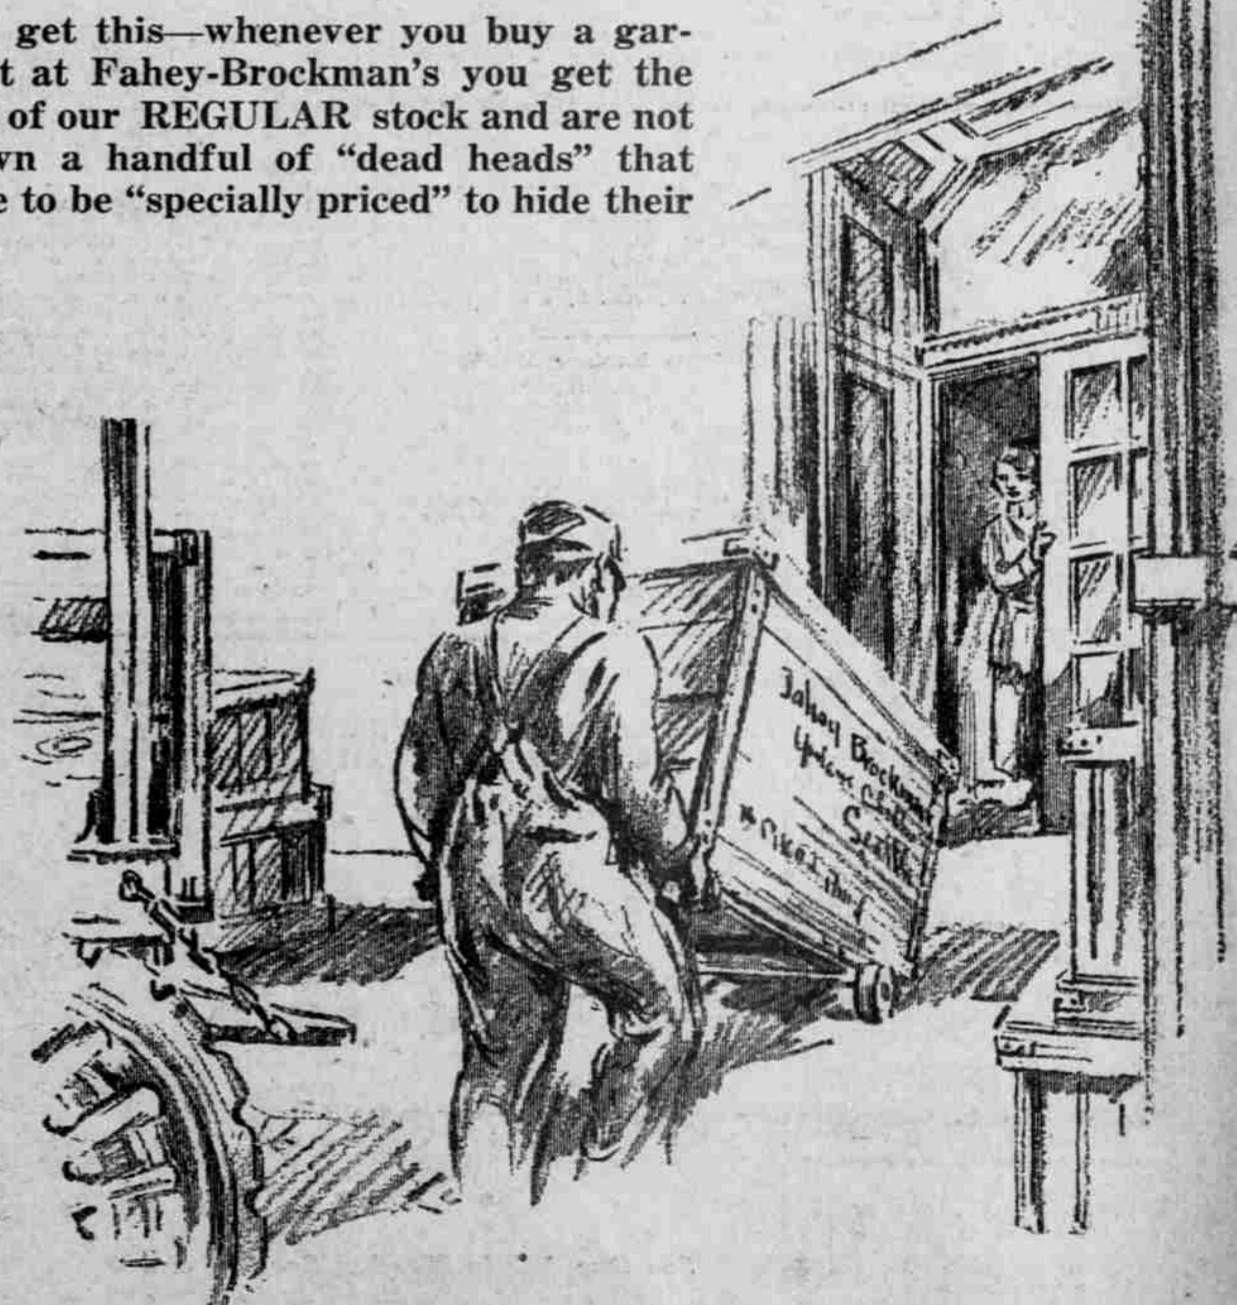

Already we have hundreds of these wonderful values in stock, and more coming daily. This week's drawing shows a typical everyday scene as our large cases of clothes arrive.

Which goes to show—

Our Stock is THIS Season's!

The only thing old-fashioned about our stock is the low prices we ask. Every garment in our three great stores is up-to-the-minute in styling, cut, finish, fit and fabric.

And get this—whenever you buy a garment at Fahey-Brockman's you get the pick of our REGULAR stock and are not shown a handful of "dead heads" that have to be "specially priced" to hide their age.

Elevator leading directly to our great showing of exclusive models—THIS SEASON'S!
