THANKSGIVING. family dinners. Football games, holiday dances and activities that will be planned to welcome the college set home for a few days will claim much of society's attention this week.

One of the events of interest will be a lecture that will have the stamp of society's sincere approval. The lecture by Arno Dosch-Pleurot will be given in the First Presbyterian church house on Friday, November 26, when the noted writer and lecturer will speak on "Russia and the Bolsheviks." The money raised will go toward erecting a bronze statue of F. X. Matthies, according to a design by the late Roswell Doeh.

During the past week one of the most notable events was the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Watson to celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. It was the kind of reception society should have more of, for it brought together so many old friends. It was the most delightful, old-fashioned, new-fashioned, always charming society gathering. Lovely flowers decorated every table, every nook and corner and turn of the stairway. Roses and chrysanthemums vied for honors, and they all were admirably placed.

The decorations this season seem to have taken on an added gaiety of coloring to match the gaiety that society is showing in entertaining with all the pre-war smartness. Probably no table decoration of flowers has been more attractive than that employed by Mrs. Les Hoffman when she gave a recent tea. Golden yellow chrysanthemums and deep bronze of smaller size were used most effectively.

The harvest home party of the Irvington club next Friday night at the clubhouse will afford an occasion for unique decorating and costuming. Mrs. W. J. Hofmann will be hostess. A committee of members will assist. It will not be a mask affair, but will be an opportunity for some original costuming.

At Mrs. J. Sherman O'Gorman's smart tea on Thursday there was a good attendance. The hostess, lovely in a cream lace gown with just a touch of turquoise blue, received in the drawing room, and as a background there was a basket of pink roses that completed a most charming picture. In the dining room the table decoration included a centerpiece basket of the autumn fruits, luscious grapes, persimmons, apples, oranges. At the corners of the table were silver candlesticks, with bright tapers casting a mellow light over the table. Prominent maids and matrons assisted in the receiving party and in serving. Quite the most charming of these was Patricia O'Gorman, daughter of the hostess, who, although but a very youthful assistant, proved that she possessed true social charm and hospitality. Miss Virginia McDonough, niece of the hostess, was pretty in a blouse of emerald green, beaded and worn with black suit and velvet hat. She recently went abroad but has returned a most enthusiastic and loyal American, who tells interestingly of things in Europe as seen by the tourist of today.

The Portland Heights club's parties are proving more popular than ever before. The music has been good and the suppers, always at 11 o'clock, are attractive.

The sub-debante set is anticipating the holiday formal dance of the Hill Military Academy, to be given on December 4 in the school armory. Several prominent society women will be patronesses.

The horse show last week was a great success and each night witnessed many box parties with dinners before and after the show.

Multnomah club will give a formal ball on December 2 in the clubhouse. Bazaars and benefit entertainments will be numerous. Among the leading bazaar will be those of the First Congregational, St. Stephen's cathedral, and Trinity Episcopal churches with dates announced for next week.

Numerous box and line parties were arranged for the Amako and Kitty Beal concert of Wednesday night. Mrs. J. B. Montgomery entertained a party of six and Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Coffey were hosts for a box party. Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Dickson entertained with a dinner at Alexandra court and later took their guests to the concert.

The 14th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Watson was the occasion for a delightful reception last Wednesday night, at which nearly 200 guests were present. The Watsons have a host of friends in the city and lovely flowers and other gifts were sent in honor of the occasion. The rooms were decked with many autumnal blooms, rich copper colored chrysanthemums and yellow leaves and vines. During the early party of the evening the dining room was presided over by Mrs. Henry W. Corbett, Mrs. Solomon Hirsch, Mrs. J. B. Montgomery and Mrs. Frank M. Warren. Later Mrs. John S. Parker, Mrs. Martin Winch, Mrs. David Robertson and Mrs. James Laidlaw presided. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. A. L. Maxwell, Mrs. Marion F. Dolph, Mrs. Daniel A. Shindler, Mrs. William H. Lines and Mrs. William H. Skene. Mrs. Watson was lovely in black beaded gown and she carried delicate pink rosebuds arranged in arm bouquet.

The marriage of Miss Delphine Rosenfeld and Robert Koshland will be a brilliant event of December 8. The ceremony will be solemnized in and Mr. Koshland. Later on Mrs. Jonah E. Wise will be hostess for the bridal party.

Mrs. Louis Lang was hostess last Thursday at a smartly appointed luncheon.

Dr. and Mrs. George Ainslie have returned from the east and are at their home, 187 Melinda avenue. They have been to Montreal, where Dr. Ainslie attended the American College of Surgeons, and to New York, Washington and other cities. They are being cordially welcomed by their many friends.

A simple but beautiful ceremony was the marriage yesterday of Miss Eliza Parker and Van W. Anderson, at Trinity church, Dr. A. A. Morrison officiating. The couple will be at home after December 15 at their home on the Columbia above Vancouver.

Mrs. C. E. Runyon, Mrs. George L. Baker and Mrs. O. M. Clark are heading a committee of capable workers who are making an eloquent appeal for help for the Waverley Baby home. Extra money is needed to carry on the regular expenses, pay the back bills and pay also for nurses' salaries. Mrs. Ira F. Powers has taken the chairmanship of the flying squadron and she and her workers predict that their call for donations toward the needed $10,000 cannot meet with refusal.
