Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Chamberau entertained at a box party Tuesday evening at the horse show following a dinner party at the Benson hotel. Their guests were Dr. and Mrs. Harry Boury of La Grande and Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Thomas George (Ida Foster) were recent hosts at their new home in Richmond, the occasion being their first wedding anniversary. They were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Elmore Foster. The dancing by talented pupils of Miss Dorothy Rasmussen, little June Murtling gave a fairy dance and mazurka. The Misses Elsie Lovegren and Troutwine pleased with original and Grecian dances and Miss Cora Ash recited. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gell, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Foulkes, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ash, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. George, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ricketts, Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Moore, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. George, Basil Cross and Mr. Pulver.

Of interest to many Portland friends is a recent Seattle announcement made by Mrs. J. C. Ford, telling of the engagement of her daughter, Eunice to Philip Peabody of Seattle. Miss Ford is a sister of Mrs. Emil Emma of this city and Dr. and Mrs. Emma, with their daughter Ellen, will go to Seattle to attend the wedding, which will take place December 4.

Miss Florence Dawson entertained with a charmingly appointed luncheon Saturday at the Hotel Portland. Covers were placed on a table made attractive by the use of carnations and ferns.

One of the main socials for Thanksgiving week will be the college from Thanksgiving night to the Multnomah hotel. Both ballroom and garden will be used. This is the fourth annual Thanksgiving ball and the students are anticipating a large attendance. The committee, composed of students of the different colleges and high schools, have arranged a little stunt which with the regular programme, will make a very interesting evening. Several successful committee meetings at the University of Oregon, University of Washington, Oregon Agricultural college and Washington State college prove that the young folks are taking a deep interest in the affair.

Those in charge are Edward Miller, University of Washington; Curtis Phillips, University of Oregon; Alma Scharf, Oregon Agricultural college; Mildred Selert, Jefferson high; Bert Haynes, Washington high; Hal Garner, Lincoln high; Frank Haller, Franklin high; Peter Sweeney, North Pacific; Edwin Seer, Multnomah club. Those assisting the different chairmen are Harlan Gram, Earl Clarke, Mildred Lauderdale, Gus Hixon, Charles Scallon, Hazel Weiden, Elizabeth Wiggins, Peggy Denmore, Adele Jones, Dorothy Mitchell, Eva Versteeg, Richard McLeod, Alys Sutton, Cecil Dunn, Albert Dugan, Conrad Roth, Truman Bidwell, Edward Burns, Helen Kirschner, Janet Peters, Edward Stout and Lawrence Smyth.

Seventy members of the staff of the Portland library association assembled to honor Miss Zulema Kostomatsky at a breakfast at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, November 14, in the grill room of the Portland hotel, which had been reserved for the occasion.

As retiring assistant librarian and acting head, Miss Kostomatsky's resignation will soon go into effect and it was to express by their presence on Sunday morning their appreciation of Miss Kostomatsky's difficult labors during her faithful service of the past two years and their gratefulness for all she had accomplished during those months in Portland that the librarians from every branch of the library's widespread system gathered in the cheerful grill room, where, through the courtesy of the park board in sending some beautiful yellow chrysanthemums, the tables were enlivened with charming effect.

From St. Lawrence, Lowell, East Portland, Gresham, Albina, Vernon, Woodstock, Lente, Brooklyn, North Portland, Astoria, South Portland, University Park, Montavilla, Peninsula and all the high school libraries the guests came. From the reference department, the technical, the juvenile, the shipping, the art, the circulation, the order, the catalogue, the office, the periodical, the information desk and municipal reference department there were representatives.

By a happy coincidence the occasion happened to fall on Miss Kostomatsky's birthday and her friends and associates were enabled to offer in person their good wishes for the anniversary.

As a memento of the breakfast, members of the staff unable to be present joined with the others in the presentation of a little token to Miss Kostomatsky. The following were guests at the breakfast: Misses Zulema Kostomatsky, Anne M. Mulheron, Constance R. Ewing, Ruth Haynes, Janet Stirling, Pearl Dural, Nettie V. Drew, Grace Jones, Hilda Lancelfield, Katherine Klemle, Frances Norval, Ruth Hall, Helen H. Sawyer, Frances Richardson, Mildred Davis, Elsie Statter, Lotta Fleck, Mrs. Alice Walker, Misses Alice Williams, Mary Henthorne, Jera Jessen, Ruth Crocker, Helen R. Montague, Alice Taylor, Ruth Kahan, Jessie Melville, Abbie Gammons, Lena Brownell, Jessie Millard, Amelia Reble, Beatrice Doty, Ann Fossler, Dorothy Cook, Mary Warrack, Mrs.

A delightful party was given Saturday night by Mrs. W. B. Sheets at her home, 321 East Forty-seventh street. Those present were: Mrs. J. H. Roberts and daughter Lauranae, Mrs.

Golden weddings were celebrated recently by several Portland couples who had rounded out 50 years of wedded happiness and who for the occasion entertained their relatives and friends. Of these Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Green of this city were among those who received in their home to celebrate the anniversary and who were showered with gifts and good wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. William Loudon, another couple, gave a family dinner and reception and received flowers and gifts as tokens of the esteem of all their many friends.

A Letter from Miss X to her sister, visiting in New York, published with the former's permission.

Portland, Oregon,
November 20, 1920.

Dear Helen:
Hurray! You'll be home next week. You certainly are the luckiest girl in the world to be playing around old New York—wish I could join you for a few days.

In your letter you said you were afraid you couldn't get the gift things you wanted here. Perish the thought, for I've found the most attractive gift shop in Portland, and I know you can't find a more artistically selected stock where you are.

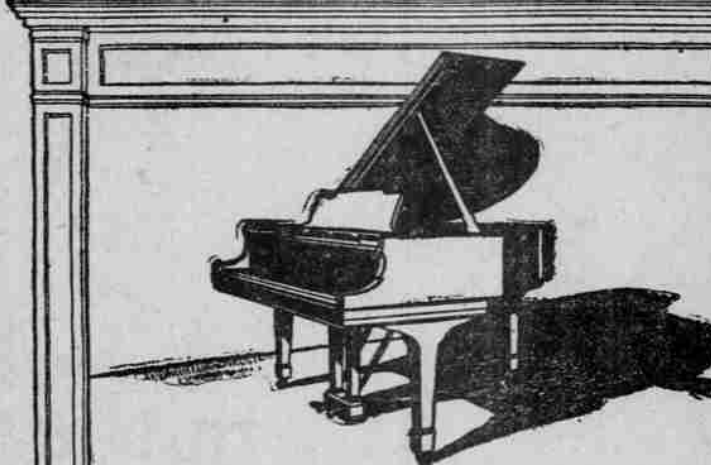

Of course, I have always known Gill's as a gift shop, but you can't imagine my delight as I stepped off the elevator at the second floor and actually saw the new stock. I never dreamed that such a selection was available in Portland.

The first thing that caught my eye was a table brimming with some of the cleverest designs in pottery that I've ever seen—fruit baskets, bowls with blocks to match, hanging baskets and all. You must see them, Helen. The very next thing that attracted me was a great display of Oregon myrtle wood novelties. You know this wood grows only in Oregon, and so the things made from it make fine gifts for Oregonians. Although there were many suggestions in this assortment, a particularly neat nut bowl struck my fancy immediately. By the way, everyone here is using quill pens, and at the next counter I saw some beauties—real pheasant quills dressed with the most artistic color scheme.

Going on, I ran across some lovely polychrome candlesticks and lamps, which were marvelous. I know you'll want one. Of course, I am passing over entirely the wonderful line of leather goods, photograph albums, etc., because I know you always associated such goods with this store. I do want you to see, however, the Rust Craft novelties, which no words of mine can adequately describe. I remember a darling little tea ball and stand, and some exquisite pine-comb candles with sticks to match particularly, but there were so many more lovely things that a choice is difficult.

It's hard to find a place to stop, for I haven't half covered the stock, but you must see it for yourself. Above all, don't bother to bring any gifts clear across the continent, for you can get practically anything you want here at

For distinction: a grand piano

Thousands of people viewed our windows last week.

They looked in upon two distinctive rooms—as alike as two peas—except that:

One room was glorified by a Grand piano. The other had an out-of-place Upright.

There is a definite place, of course, for an upright piano. But let us never forget—That an upright MAY be the "wrong" piano for its setting, but a Grand is NEVER "wrong."

Let us discuss with you this vital matter of the RIGHT piano. We have a wonderful collection of grand pianos on our floors this week. Your present piano will count liberally in the exchange.
