

CROWD EXPECTED AT CAPITAL TOMORROW

Wilson, Harding and Congress Attractions.

SENATOR BIG FIGURE NOW

Whether President Will Deliver Message to Congress in Person Not Yet Disclosed.

THE OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Dec. 4.—When the president convenes at noon Monday after an absence of exactly six months, the longest recess in several years, it is expected that the capital will witness such a human congestion as has not been seen here since the last inaugural day.

The last day at the capitol in the least resembles an inaugural was the occasion of the visit of the king and queen of the Belgians, something more than a year ago. The royal Belgian pair appeared and it was known that they were coming, but Monday's crowds will not assemble with any assurance of seeing anything or anybody unusual.

This time the crowd is to gather on a more rumor and expectation than on a misapprehension. In the first place, it has been reported, even stated positively in some quarters, that President-elect Harding will be in the senate. In the second place, the members of some folks are short and the impression has gone abroad that the president's message will reach congress on the opening day, which is never the case. There being some speculation as to whether Mr. Wilson will appear in person with the message, there are some who would regret to miss him.

Senator Big Figure Now.
Mr. Wilson, if he does go to the capitol in person, however, will not go until Tuesday, but there is a chance that his successor will be on the ground. Senator Harding has been around Washington for six years, and charming, likable human being that he is and always was, there never before was any special rush to see him.

Being a president-elect seems to have created a new image of him in the public mind, so much so that today the one leading question from the curious and otherwise has been: "Is it true that Harding will be in his seat Monday?"

Nobody knows save the president-elect himself, but the residents of Washington and visiting tourists will take no chances. They will be there dressed in their Sunday best, and there will be a splendid opportunity to ascertain what is the prevailing style in millinery this season.

Washington Dressed Up.
Congress comes back to find Washington, the municipality, all dressed up. The statues which stand everywhere as reminders of the great statesmen and military men of the past have had their faces washed and their marble pedestals scoured. The old street-car platforms at many places have been replaced by concrete piles ornamentally lighted. Some of the emergency war-time buildings have been demolished and everything changed to a degree, including house rent, which has gone up.

When the senators and representatives began to get back this week they were met by a volley of questions as to their stand on the proposed blue laws. Some of them took time to think over, and in the course of thinking discovered that much of the publicity given to the movement for stricter Sabbath laws was nothing but heated atmosphere.

The movement was never entitled to the attention which it received. But all the world could not know or understand how it came to be heralded about as something seriously threatening the Sunday recreation of a large portion of the population.

Little Scare, That's All.
The facts are the most of the people never would have heard of the matter had it not been the wish of some of the opponents of prohibition to throw a little scare into that class of persons who are dry as to liquor but liberal on other questions, such as Sunday amusements. The purpose was to make the liberal-minded who helped to bring about prohibition feel that by doing so they had pulled the house down on themselves; that the reformers who led the dry movement were now to continue to work, taking all the joy out of life.

After some frenzy it was discovered that Senator Jones of Washington, who sponsored the Sunday bill now before congress, had not considered it seriously himself. He had simply introduced it to give his supporters a chance to be heard.

AID FOR FARMERS PROMISED

Move to Restore War Finance Corporation Assured.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—First steps toward remedial legislation for farmers by congress will take the form of a concurrent resolution directing restoration of the war finance corporation. This was made clear today in statements by Senators Harrison of Mississippi and Heflin of Alabama and Representative Byrnes of South Carolina.

Necessity of action by the president would be avoided, it was contended, by making the resolution concurrent in form and it would become effective on adoption.

"We intend during the first week of congress," Senator Harrison declared, "to adopt a resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to revive the war finance corporation so that our agricultural products may be marketable."

"The south and west have voted enough to put such a measure through next week," Senator Heflin said.

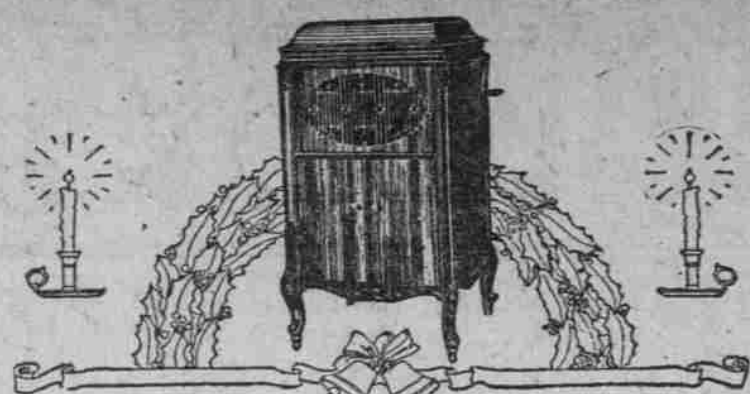

Sufficient sentiment had been created.

CHRONIC CATARRH

Follows Repeated Colds When Blood Is Impure.

Your body suffering from a cold does not properly attend to digestion and elimination. As a result your blood becomes impure, it inflames the mucous membrane and brings about that condition in which chronic catarrh occurs and on which it depends. Purify your blood, make it clean, by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and if your bowels are not healthfully active, take Hood's Pills. These medicines have relieved and prevented thousands of cases of chronic catarrh. Economy is one of the strong points of Hood's Sarsaparilla—100 doses in a bottle. Why not get it today?—Adv.
