

Announcing the First Arrival of This Year's Authentic Spring Styles

$35 to $70 Is Official Price of Men's Clothing,
Says News Item

Denver.—Prices of men's clothing have reached the bottom, and within 60 days suits will cost $10 more than at present, delegates from large eastern clothing manufacturing concerns said at a recent meeting here of the Colorado retail clothiers.

From $35 to $70 will be the price of a suit this Spring, they declared.

Note that the highest Fahey-Brockman Spring Prices are only $5 per garment more than the above official Quoted Lowest Price with Good Values all the way down to $20.

Fahey-Brockman are pleased to announce the first arrival of this Spring's authentic styles.

The New Spring Models

These beautiful models, like that illustrated in the accompanying original sketch, come in the conservative form-fitting, longer-waisted, longer-skirted styles that are hall-marked as authentic for this year. The overcoats are mostly of the new, smart belted and pleated variety that are distinguishable for their snap and youthful lines.

At the New Spring Prices

Every Fahey-Brockman suit and overcoat reflects the new Spring prices, which are, in every case, 30% to 35% lower than last Fall's wholesale prices.

Suits and Overcoats $20 to $40

The Fahey-Brockman Upstairs Plan

Low Rents—Plain Stores—Volume Business—No Credit Losses—Rock-Bottom Market Prices—Alterations Free—Fit Guaranteed.

SATISFACTION
Or Your Money Back

We Pass to the Public Our Own Great Upstairs Saving

In a word, we pass on to the public our own great saving due to our unchanging UPSTAIRS plan that depends upon public confidence and constant volume business instead of hand-to-mouth sales and other penalizing methods of doing business.

Reflecting Rock-Bottom Market Prices

all the year round. Whatever is the prevailing market's rock-bottom price, Fahey-Brockman's UPSTAIRS policy automatically reflects it.

RALEIGH BUILDING
Sixth and Washington

FAHEY-BROCKMAN

Up-stairs Clothiers Buy up-stairs and save $10.00

