Miss Doris May Sawtell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sawtell, and

Dr. Lyle A. Baldwin were united in marriage Saturday at 4 P. M. in the First Presbyterian church, the pastor, Dr. Harold Bowman, officiating in the presence of relatives and immediate friends. The wedding march was played by Edgar E. Couren and during the ceremony Mrs. Grant Thomas sang "At Dawning." The church was beautifully decorated in potted palms and Easter lilies.

The bride was lovely in a gown of ivory satin with ornamentation of lace and from a coronet of orange blossoms a tulle veil fell in misty folds. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and freesias. The matron of honor, Mrs. E. W. Burlingame (Ethel Tait) of Astoria, wore a smart gown of jade green satin and tulle and carried pink roses and sweet peas. Adria C. Mann was the best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Following the ceremony dinner was served in the blue room of the Hotel Portland. Covers were placed for 12, including the bridal party and members of the two families. The table was attractive in spring flowers and fern. After a short wedding trip Dr. and Mrs. Baldwin will reside at Lucrictia Court. Dr. Baldwin was educated in California and later graduated from the North Pacific Dental college. Mrs. Baldwin attended the University of Oregon.

Perfect Fit
—the essential of becoming apparel.

A WOMAN derives no end of satisfaction from the knowledge that the particular garment she is wearing is a perfect fit. The cynosure of admiring eyes, and the means of many sincere compliments.

That is one of the many advantages of "tailored-to-measure" clothing—they not only give you becoming style and an opportunity to emphasize your individuality, but they assure you of perfect fit—without which no style is becoming.

Let one of these leading Portland tailors fit your spring suit or coat.

Those interested in the life and works of the late Jack London probably will be interested to know that his daughter Joan was married recently in Oakland, Cal., to Park Abbott. Her sister, Bess London, was her maid of honor and Joan Elizabeth Madson, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. The London girls are lovely young women who had the training and influence of a sweet womanly and distinctly intellectual mother. They strongly resemble their father in appearance.
