Humiliation Over Decision Made by Justice White in Costa Rica Dispute Held Unwarranted.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 19.—The decision of Chief Justice White in the Panama-Costa Rica boundary dispute "must be the unalterable position" of the United States government, President Harding declared today in reply to an appeal from President Porras of Panama.

He expressed regret that Panama should feel wounded by the decision, described by Porras as "painful and humiliating."

The exchange between the two executives was in the nature of an interim discussion while the state department awaited Panama's reply to its note. Costa Rica has accepted the White award.

President Porras recalled the expressions of friendship for Panama given by Mr. Harding last November during his visit there and voiced a hope that the Panamanian people might not be disappointed in their faith in the new administration. To this, President Harding renewed his avowals of cordiality, but added that the exercise of friendly relations always must be tempered by justice.

President Porras' cablegram said: "Demand from state department that my government accept the White decision is painful and humiliating. More so when two legislatures and all the municipalities in the republic have petitioned for the rejection of that decision on the ground that the arbitrator notoriously exceeded his jurisdiction, giving to Costa Rica more than her representative asked from President Loubet, and also because it is against provisions of Panama's constitution."
