INTERVIEW SENATOR

Becoming Diplomat.

CLAIMS ARE PRESENTED

Office of United States Marshal fo Time Attracts More Attention Than Others.

If no news is good news, then applicants for federal appointments who succeeded in holding Senator Stanfield long enough to buttonhole him his week must be elated. For that is exactly what the senator gave them-no news. Anyway, Senator Stanfield must have developed into diplomat, because each man who saw his own status was good. Coincident with the arrival of the junior Oregon senator came rumors of changes in the federal patronage situation, particularly with reference to United States marchal, although why this office should attract morattention than the others is difficul for the average citizen to comprehend.

Among the first to jump a train and come to Portland to confer with Senator Stanfield after the latter's arrival from Washington, D. C., was Asa B. Thomson, mayor of Echo. It s violating no confidence to hint that Senator Stanfield has been quite par tial to Mr. Thomson as a suitable and man to fulfil the duties of United States marshal. The interview concluded, Mr. Thomson returned to Echo, but whether he received assurance or consolation from the senator is not known, for neitner the senator nor the mayor discussed weat de-

It is known, however, that there has been growing up against the candidacy of Mr. Thomson a formidable array of opposition, even in the ranks of Senator Stanfield's personal foreign nations to participate in an hoped, will result from the working ranks of Senator Stanfield's personal location and in the senator's intifriends. Later Mr. Thomson was appointed to a land office position. So bitter was that contest that the and house, ction of Mr. Thomson still rankles after all these years.

Then, too, some other friends of the senator consider it a poor political nove for a senator's relatives to be appointed to "spotlight" jobs. mson and Senator Stanfield are elatives by marriage. As things stand, it looks as if Mr. Thomson was sitting in with a bob-tailed flush. John L. Day, republican chairman for Multnomah county, candidate for marshal, also had a talk with Senator Stanfield. When he took his leave e was probably no whit wiser than before.

Day's Claim Substantial. Mr. Day has this advantage over certain other candidates for this and other federal appointments-he represents the organization. Because of his long activity in the party, since 1892, and the organization he has British Report Says ex-President dustries of the country center, and built up in Multnomah county, the elaims of Chairman Day for recogniaside by either Senator McNary of Senator Stanfield. Portland has adopted the community ohest plan as a definite function of the city and before this week has elapsed, it was predicted yesterday, the citizens of this city will have subscribed to their allotment of $850,000 required to care for the crippled, homeless and ill babies children and adults within the city. "The community chest will function in Portland just as it is functioning in a hundred other progressive cities in America," said Mayor Baker yesterday after reviewing the returns, "With more than $400,000 subscribed in the first week of the drive, the dea has received definite and hearty indorsement by something over 20,000 citizens of Portland who have helped fill the chest."

Week's Drive Brings $425,049.

Tabulated returns at the chest headquarters last night showed that week's results had brought $425,049 into the community chest. Unofficial reports, untabulated, would bring this total to an amount in excess of $500,000, it was announced. Mayor Baker announced yesterday the community chest plan was a permanent institution. "I want to serve notice on these birds that the chest is going through."

Financiers Summoned to Help.

Three of Portland's foremost financiers and captains of industry have been called into service for the community chest campaign for the coming week, and Mayor Baker and his staff bave charged them with the remainder of the chest quota, approximately 50 per cent of the total.
