

300 MEN TO ENTER SUMMER TRAINING

Special Cars to Carry Corvallis Students to Camps.

SPORTS TO BE FEATURE

Baseball, Track Events, Swimming and Rifle Matches to Add Gaiety to Military Life.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, May 21.—(Special.)—More than 300 men, students of the Oregon Agricultural college, will be in army training camps scattered from Virginia to California, June 15, one week after vacation begins. Special cars will be put on regular trains to carry the five units to their destinations. Engineers will go to Camp Humphries, Va., cavalrymen to the Presidio of Monterey, Cal., infantrymen to Camp Lewis, Wash., field artillerymen to Camp Knox, Ky., and motor transport unit to the Presidio, San Francisco.

Several men are planning to make the trip on motorcycles or in autos. In such instances a mileage rate of five cents is allowed by the government.

Extensive plans have been worked out by the war department for the programme of instruction. Not all the Aggie's time will be taken up by military work. Other features will include concerts, weekend trips, dances, motion pictures, camp newspapers and horseback riding.

Athletics of all kinds are included in the activities. Each unit from the Oregon Agricultural college will take uniforms for baseball, track and polo. Swimming events are to hold an important place on the programme. Competitive rifle and pistol matches are to be held in each camp, the winners to compete in the national matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Captain L. L. Partlow will head the artillery detail from the college; Captain F. H. Tansey, the engineers; Major Cushman Hartwell the cavalry; Major E. Butler the infantry and Captain L. W. Card the motor transport unit.

Students going with the engineer unit to Camp Humphries are:

CHINESE DEPORTATION RECALLS BANK ROBBERY AT THE DALLES

Cheyu Sim Enters America by Posing as Son of Cheyu Gum, Minor Actor in Clever Plot.

DEVELOPMENTS that bring to light again the story of one of the most cleverly executed and successful bank robberies in the criminal records of Oregon, the tapping of the safe of the First National bank of The Dalles on September 13, 1920, in which $3,500 in gold double eagles fell into the hands of Chinese robbers, have come about through investigation of a Chinese deportation case by R. P. Bonham, immigration inspector for the Oregon district.

The records in the case of Cheyu Sim, formerly president of the Suesy Sing tong in Portland, now under federal sentence of four years on McNeil island for his part in the operations of a local narcotic gang, have recalled the interesting case of more than 20 years ago and will result in the deportation of Cheyu Sim as soon as his federal sentence is served. It has developed that Cheyu Sim is not a member of the Cheyu family but of the Lee family and his entrance into the United States in 1910 was gained by posing as the son of Cheyu Gum, a minor actor in the bank robbery plot at The Dalles and the only member who ever was apprehended for the Oregon district.

Robbers Tunneled Under Bank. Cheyu Gum, known as Ah Sin at The Dalles, had conducted a laundry there for a number of years. A clever Chinese crook, Ah Jung, conceived the scheme of tunneling beneath the First National bank and tapping the treasures in the vault of the bank. Two robbers are prevalent—the Chinese version of the affair that has become almost a tradition in Portland Chinatown, and the story given out by the Wasco county officers and the bank officials at the time of the robbery. But both stories agree in all essential particulars. Ah Jung bribed Cheyu Gum with promises of glittering gold. He bought the silence of the laborers in Cheyu's laundry and for a year he and his gang worked upon his scheme alone, using the old laundry near the bank as his center of operations. He dug a deep ditch under the boardwalk near the bank and tunneled under the street. He tunneled under an alley, bored his way through the foundation of the bank, and dug his narrow trench beneath the foundations of the great vault.

Gold Pours on Chinaman. Ah Jung removed a section of the brick casing and laid bare the steel of the vault. With the tools in his possession and possibly with acids to melt his way upward toward the treasure, he waited until, after banking hours on Saturday, September 12, and he broke in the remaining portion of the wall. A stream of yellow gold poured down upon the lone Chinaman working by the light of one candle in the darkness of the trench. The flow yielded $3,500 in $20 gold pieces. Then a bill book slid down from above and blocked the opening in the safe. Ah Jung bunched his treasure together and fled. The safe which he thought he had drained still held $6,000 in gold, as well as currency, silver and papers more valuable than the loot he had taken.

The robbery was discovered the following Monday morning. The directors of the bank were called in and the loss made good. No word of the deed leaked out for a day or more. Detectives from Portland were called. Ah Jung had left his tools, a candle and a bricklayer's jacket in the tunnel. Suspicion pointed to professional robbers from Portland and in British Columbia even when the 11 per cent exchange is considered.

Cedar logs remain soft and booms of cedar, running one and two in grade, can be had at a rate of $15 a thousand. Hemlock is a drug on the market, but number one spruce logs are in good demand. Rebuilding the burned part of Tokyo is evidently having a marked effect on the requirements of that market as the Jap square trade is still fairly good.

Small orders running under $50,000 feet of Douglas fir are being received occasionally from Australia and New Zealand, but no large orders have been booked for a week. In five months the only orders received from South Africa amounted to about 2,000,000 feet.

American Demand Brisk. In the rail trade there is a good demand for lumber coming from the United States market, but while Ontario and Quebec are using large quantities of lumber nearly all of their requirements are being filled by lumber from the United States. Lumber merchants are optimistic over the summer trade. They say the small home idea is gaining throughout the central states and while the orders will be in small lots they will be coming in steadily. The lumber rate here and New York dropped this week to $13, but buyers continue to do business by rail as they do not wish to finance a large shipment of lumber when a few cars will meet their requirements.

The rate on shingles from here to New York is firm at 75 cents and the rate on water shingles from the Canadian prairies are taking neither lumber nor shingles with the result that the British Columbia sawmills and shingle mills are operating to the extent of 85 per cent capacity and orders are coming in for both rail and water shipment. The Canadian prairies are taking neither lumber nor shingles with the result that the British Columbia sawmills and shingle mills are operating to the extent of 85 per cent capacity and orders are coming in for both rail and water shipment.

Loggers to Start Work. Booth-Kelly Crew to Save Timber in Danger of Fire. EUGENE, Or., May 21.—(Special.)—Logging camp No. 23 of the Booth-Kelly Lumber company will resume operations soon to take out timber that is down and subject to fire, according to A. C. Dixon, manager. The crew required to do this work will probably not exceed 60 men, said Mr. Dixon, and the work will occupy several weeks.

"We do not contemplate starting either of our mills at this time, but will store the logs in ponds and filled ponds to operate the mills whenever the demand for lumber justifies. In securing a crew for the logging we are to undertake now, preference will be given to former employees and especially to the Four-L men. Nothing under the Four-L scale of wages will be paid."

MURRAY WILL IS FILED. Montana Mining Capitalist Leaves Estate Worth $10,000,000. SALINAS, Cal., May 21.—The will of James A. Murray, picturesque Montana mining capitalist, one-time partner of Augustus Heinze and owner of business property in Seattle, Tacoma and Portland and mining interests in Montana and Idaho, was filed in the superior court here today. The estate was valued at from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. Under the will his widow, Mrs. Mary Hammond Murray, and his stepson, Stuart Haldorn of San Francisco, are the principal heirs. W. S. K. Brown of San Francisco, executor of the estate, said he expected a contest from May Murray of Seattle and James E. and N. E. Murray of Butte, Murray's niece and nephew, who were left about one-quarter of the Monidah trust, a holding corporation comprising about half the properties of the estate. Haldorn received three-quarters of the stock of the Monidah trust, while Murray's widow fell heir to the remainder of the estate. Murray died May 11 at his Monterey home, La Hacienda, where he had lived for about 14 years.

More than 400 school districts throughout the province of Saskatchewan, Canada, are at present requiring teachers and so great is the demand that some of the districts are offering to supply a teacher's house and the necessary fuel in addition to the salary.

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va., May 21.—While citizens in many cities were celebrating the 178th anniversary of Thomas Jefferson's birth, Jefferson was seen chatting with visitors on the broad verandas of his beloved Monticello. The Marquis de Lafayette and other gentlemen in powdered periwigs were among the callers, and after showing them about the grounds and offering them refreshments in tall mint-covered tumblers, Jefferson invited his guests to step into a colorful stage coach, which immediately lumbered away toward the University of Virginia. This unusual ceremony was part of the University's Founders' day celebration. Jefferson founded the historic old institution at Charlottesville 100 years ago and its officials decided that April 13 was the most appropriate time to record the activities of their father and sponsor in moving picture films. William L. Morton, secretary of the Charlottesville and Albemarle Railway company, took the part of Jefferson yesterday at the state game warden's office. Both men refused to pay the fine, and are serving 12 days in the Marion county jail. The arrests were made by Roy Brommer, district game warden.

Fishermen Are Jailed. J. E. Chamberlain and G. B. Toons of Newberg, arrested May 19 for fishing in Skookum lake, Marion county, without a license, were fined $25 and costs, according to reports received yesterday at the state game warden's office. Both men refused to pay the fine, and are serving 12 days in the Marion county jail. The arrests were made by Roy Brommer, district game warden.
