Have Courage to Change

"Say what you believe TODAY, though it contradicts your word of yesterday"

"A wise man changes frequently—a fool never." Mistakes are but stepping stones to success, if you will profit by them.

A patient said to me one day that she had always been taught by her dentist to associate "advertising" with dishonesty and incompetence, but, because she was anxious to have her dental work done as painlessly as possible and had been reading my advertising, she had come to the conclusion "that I was different from the ordinary advertising dentist."

For the benefit of others with minds similarly poisoned (by selfish interests), I want to say that I will personally vouch for the statement that the average advertising dentist will compare in morals, skill, ability and honesty with the average "ethical" dentist.

What did you have to pay for a good set of teeth before the keen competition of the "advertising" dentist brought prices down?

What did you pay for so-called "painless extractions" and were they really "painless"?

How many visits were necessary and how long did it take to have a gold crown made and placed on your tooth—and, incidentally, how much did it cost?

Have courage to change—TELL YOUR FRIENDS how I treated YOU, what I saved YOU—whether "it hurt" when your teeth were extracted here, and show by your actions that you approve of square dealing.
