LOSER OF FIGHT BET WHEELS WINNER OVER BRIDGE.

BUD BLACK RIDING, FRANK CHURCHLEY PROPELLING.

Bud Black, 326 Benton street, knew Jack Dempsey in Salt Lake City when the latter did not derive the principal source of his livelihood from his handwork with his boxing gloves. But when Frank Churchley, a neighbor, came over into the Black front yard and announced that he was strong for Carpenter because he believed the Frenchman was too shy to fight for the champion, Black used judgment rather than sentiment and let his neighbor a wheelbarrow ride across the Broadway bridge that there would be no celebration in Paris last night.

Promptly at 7 P. M. Black took his place on a rickety old wheelbarrow, that had seen its best days long before Utah heard of Jack Dempsey, and with Churchley at the handles took his ride across the bridge.

"I figured that Carpenter was so shy that he would wear the Irishman out and then whip him, but this is what I set for my error in judgment," said Churchley, as he puffed up the west end of the Broadway bridge.

Sunday afternoon and give exhibition flights and do stunts Monday morning. The grand parade will also take place Monday morning, when the patriotic programme will be held. Dr. H. E. Pence of Portland will be the principal speaker.

Store Closed Monday on Account of Independence Day

Washington, D. C., July 2.—The federal market bureau at Washington, D. C., is getting out a wireless report each day on general prices, and Director French would like to apply the system to state reporting from Seattle or other market controlling points through a general sending wireless station in which he is trying to interest the federal marketing bureau to the extent of establishing and maintaining the central station.

Either by amateur wireless receiving stations in the towns or county stations, or by sets maintained by the local farm bureaus, this daily morning report would be taken and relayed on rural telephone circuits to town and also what was in demand at that particular time.

Receiving sets can be purchased for $75, if the bureau care to maintain their own local receiving stations. Standard blanks with wireless designations conveniently arranged have been prepared by the federal bureau, and these will be supplied local receivers to be filled in from the wireless stations.

The reports would come at the rate of 15 words per minute and do not involve complicated or difficult labor.

The matter will be given consideration by the farm bureaus of the different counties in the state.
