JUST when the days for society are supposed to be aimless days and when many persons are having vacation, the Junior League girls are planning to give a fête that will be a big and important social event of the early season. And when the Junior League announces a festivity that means something worth while to take place.

Many are the merry motoring parties to beach and mountain resort. There are charming guests to be entertained and they like to come to Portland. One wise young hostess entertained her guests at a luncheon at the Waverley Country club one day; had dinner at a Columbia river highway wayside inn and invited a few friends in for an informal musical evening. The guests appreciated these forms of entertainment far better than a big formal tea or card party. But there are many who like to play cards and dance no matter what time of the year it is and if one cares for dancing the evenings are cool and porch parties and country club affairs are enjoyable.

Miss Dorothy Corbett of Brookline, Mass., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Alvord, is one of the most popular of the young visitors here. The Shanon girls, who are guests of Mrs. Frederick Kishie, have gone to Seab-kah-nie for a month and the Polier Johnsons are in the Kishie residence at present.

Many of the city homes are deserted and the beach and mountain resorts are most popular, but even though the society maid and matron are away they are scanning the fashion columns and are dreaming of the smart suits, coats and gowns they will have for fall. The buyers who were here this past week had a treat that society will not have for quite a time. They saw some of the advance styles, some of the most wonderful furs, coats, hats and gowns that have ever been shown here. Perhaps, after all, each season has the most attractive gowns and hats and wraps. There is variety enough to suit the many types of womankind.

For the first teas and informal afternoons of the season the new, chic tailored suits will be most suitable and effective. Moussine cloth and Orlando cloth will be correct and they should be cut on straight line effects and should be trimmed with moleskin, beaver, squirrel or some other becoming fur. Coats must be longer and skirts still short, Dame Fashion predicts.

Mrs. John Scott and Mrs. E. S. Jackson presided at the supper table and Mrs. Lewis Thompson at the punch bowl. The rooms were artistically adorned with hydrangeas and gladioli. The couple left later for a motor trip to the north, and on their return will reside in their own home, which awaits them at 3705 Sixty-second street.
