DRIFTWOOD ROUSES FANCIES

Strange Relics Come Ashore at Twin Rocks Beach.

TWIN ROCKS, Or., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—The unusual amount of fine driftwood which has been coming in along the beaches in front of Twin Rocks, besides supplying a great deal of the stove and fireplace wood for the summer cottagers, has resulted in more thorough examination than usual of the curious products cast on the shore by the waves.

Finds recently reported include such things as seaman's chests, bales of three-ply lumber, timbers of ships, great quantities of grass matting, bars of paraffin and fragments of lifeboats. The imagination is easily set going by such fragments and many a story is thought out while idly examining a bit of some jettisoned cargo or any wave-worn object connected in some romantic way with those "who go down to the sea in ships."

Social activities have continued to take up a large amount of the time of the summer visitors here.

One of the parties of the week was given by Mrs. Curtis Gardner in the Twinberry cottage. The evening was spent in playing five hundred and in dancing. Delightful refreshments were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett, Mrs. Chester A. Downs, Miss Mabel Downs, Miss Mary Shaver, Mrs. R. R. SPERM WHALES VISIT RESORT

Vacationists at Manhattan Beach See School of Monsters.

MANHATTAN BEACH, Or., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—Visitors at Manhattan enjoyed the rather unusual sight along these beaches of a school of sperm whales which spouted frequently a short distance beyond the breakers. The mammoth visitors appeared to have just swung in for a short glimpse of the Tillamook beaches before swinging off for Japan, since they disappeared from view beyond the horizon straight out from shore.

Trout fishing in the Tillamook river during the day and bonfire parties at night have taken a great deal of the recreation time of summer visitors at this resort. PIRATE TREASURE IS SOUGHT

Treasure Seekers of Neah-Kah-Nie Make Futile Search.

NEAH-KAH-NIE, Or., Aug. 20.—(Special.)—Social activities were the outstanding features of the week for the more permanent summer residents as well as for the guests at Neah-Kah-Nie Tavern and Cain's Place. Teas, bridge parties and musical entertainments were the favorite forms taken for the week's affairs. Of the more shifting population of the resort, hiking parties, coming in from other beaches, vied with auto-touring groups in furnishing the larger proportions of visitors.

Several groups of young people during the week conducted vigorous searches for the pirate treasure which legend about Nehalem clearly shows was one time carried up the sides of Neah-Kah-Nie mountain by a group which landed from a wrecked vessel. No treasure finds have been reported, but good appetites and a better idea of the size of the mountain have been gained by all.

On Tuesday afternoon a tea was given in the Cadwell cottage by Mrs. Harry Sargent, assisted by her two daughters, Mayanna and Susan. The invited guests who enjoyed this "at home" were Mrs. M. H. Insley and niece, Miss Julia Morse, of Chicago; Mrs. S. G. Reed, Mrs. Edward Failing and Miss Henrietta Failing.

The guests at Cain's place have been largely occupied in taking advantage of some of the beautiful hiking trails which lead into the mountains in various directions.

Mrs. Edward Failing, assisted by her daughters, Henrietta Failing and Mrs. Simeon Winch, on Thursday gave a tea at her summer residence at Neah-Kah-Nie. Guests who called during the afternoon included Mrs. H. Van F. Taylor, Mrs. William Case,
