rose point lace and embellished with pearls. Orange blossoms in tiny clusters also were employed in trimming the gown and train. The veil was of lace. The court train fell from a collar of lace, pearl trimmed and wired. The train was lined with pale Nile green satin and was overdraped with the tulle and lace of the veil.

H. U. Peterson of Seattle gave his sister in marriage. A. M. Hare, of Seattle was best man and Margaret Shively was ring bearer. She wore crisp white organdie. Flower girls were Elizabeth Shively and Lenore Peterson, whose frocks were of pink and blue organdie and who carried baskets of flowers. Miss Grace Johnson of Marshfield was maid of honor. She was gowned in orchid taffeta.

One of the distinctive features of the wedding was the music. Mrs. Esther Collins Chatten sang the wedding song and Gladys Morgan Farmer played the march. The singing of the Lohengrin bridal chorus by Gertrude Porter, Marguerite Feeningshoff, Esther Johnson, Ruth Lange, Marie Dooley, Eunice Parker, Blanche Barreth Johnson and Mrs. M. Wolcott was a most impressive and beautiful part of the ceremony. After the marriage Mrs. Milylene Fraker Stites sang a group of songs.

During the reception that followed a buffet supper was served. Miss Helen Bishop cut the loaves and Mrs. Sidney Rasmussen presided at the coffee urn. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. James A. C. Tate, Mrs. Horace E. Thomas, Mrs. Merle Reder, Mrs. R. U. Peterson and Miss Mary Rice.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesler have gone for a trip and will be away for a fortnight, after which they will reside in the city.

Mrs. Wesler will continue her work as soprano soloist at the First Methodist church.

Several social affairs doubtless will be given for the couple on their return from their wedding trip.

Miss Marie Louise Feldenheimer is the guest of Miss Marion Voorhies of Medford. Miss Feldenheimer has been most delightfully entertained. She will motor home with her brother, who has been spending the summer on their father's ranch. Miss Feldenheimer is a gifted and clever member of the local colony.

A delightful tea was given at the residence of Miss Elizabeth Hulme, 762 Schuyler street, Saturday. About 100 guests called. The guests were met at the door by little Miss Agnes Hulme, cousin of the hostess. Mrs.

C. K. Zilly poured. Mrs. J. W. Sweeney cut loaves. Assisting about the rooms were Lenore Thomas, Dorothy Dant, Maud Neighbor and Mildred Seufert.

Mrs. Edward Houghton Prentiss (Ruth Elliot) of Vancouver, Wash. was the honor guest at a tea given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Willard A. Elliot and her daughters at their home on Willamette Heights. During the course of the afternoon occasion was taken to announce the engagement of Miss Mignon H. Elliot, a daughter of the house, to Theodore S. Elliot, son of the Rev. and Mrs. William G. Elliot Jr. of 681 Schuyler street. The two families are in no way related. Miss Elliot is a senior at Reed college. Mr. Elliot, who is a Reed graduate, is doing advanced work in biology at the University of Kansas, where he holds a graduate fellowship. Guests at the tea included a few of the many friends of Mrs. Prentiss and Miss Elliot, among them were a number of college classmates. Assisting about the rooms were the Misses Clara Elliot, Ann Shepard, Jean Pugsley, Florence Craven and Callista Elliot.

One of the lovely brides of the year was Miss Elsie Feldman, whose marriage to Herbert Sichel was solemnized Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the Benson hotel. The Tyrolean room had been banked with autumn foliage and flowers, including larkspur and pink gladioli. An altar had been arranged for the ceremony and over it was a canopy of woodland greenery and dainty pink and pale blue flowers. The effect was artistic and beautiful, typifying the interior of a church or temple in which tall candles burned at either side of the altar and branch candlesticks held tapers placed on a long table covered with blue and gold brocade. The color scheme of decoration was emphasized in the delicate blue delphinium and the pink gladioli and asters, and these same flowers with touches of foliage and vine and her sister from the east had been unheralded and so the pleasant surprise made the affair most delightful for the group of intimate friends.

Colonel and Mrs. Frank French Eastman are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss May Louise Eastman, to John Brian Fitzgerald. The marriage will be solemnized at Trinity chapel on Sunday, September 25. The bride-elect is popular in army and society circles. She was born in Vancouver when Colonel Eastman was stationed there with the 14th Infantry. Mr. Fitzgerald is editor of the "Four L" bulletin.

Miss Julia Morse, who visited here this summer, left on Tuesday for Chicago. She was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Insley. Miss Morse is a talented musician and is socially popular and during her stay here was entertained at many smart gatherings.

One of the brides of the week was Miss Goldie Peterson, a prominent and gifted singer of Portland, whose marriage to Vernon Wesler took place Wednesday evening in the home of her sister, Mrs. W. B. Shively. The ceremony was at 9 o'clock, and Rev. Joshua Stansfield, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated. Masses of autumn foliage adorned the rooms and the green and fall tints were intermingled with gladioli and pink asters. An improvised altar had been arranged for the ceremony. It was formed of pink asters and foliage. Wax candles placed at either side lighted the scene. The bride was
