

SEATTLE HAS RIOT BASEBALL PARK

Police Quell Outbreak With Difficulty.

NO ONE IS BADLY HURT

Three Umpires, Five Detectives and Several San Francisco Team Members Take Part.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—More than 1000 fans, a number of the San Francisco baseball players, three umpires and five detectives were engaged in a riot for all that on the Coast league ball park this afternoon following an assault on an umpire by a disgruntled San Francisco player.

As a result of the fight at least five of the San Francisco players were suspended for the remainder of the season and the San Francisco team is practically out of the pennant race this year.

The fight started in the last half of the sixth inning, when the Seattle second baseman, was put out of the game for throwing his bat at the grandstand after being struck out by "Smoky" Mack, pitcher of the Seattle team.

Umpire Escorted to Dugout. The fight that ensued involved the San Francisco players, three umpires, five policemen and more than 1000 fans. A battle royal followed in which blows were struck indiscriminately against friend and foe.

After the police quieted the riot Umpire Croter was escorted to the dugout amid the cheers of the fans on account of the manner in which he acquitted himself under fire.

The trouble started when Seattle made six runs in the sixth inning and threatened to tie the score which stood 9 to 1 in Seattle's favor at that time. The whole San Francisco team, smarting from the sting of the defeat suffered in the last four days, seemed to welcome the fight.

Walsh Refuses to Leave. When the bat was thrown at the grandstand, Walsh was immediately ruled out of the game. Walsh, refusing to leave, struck Croter and the fight was on. Sam Agnew, captain of the San Francisco team, rallied to the assistance of Walsh, and was followed closely by Charlie Graham, manager of the Seattle, who struck Croter.

By this time the field detectives took a hand in the scrap. The detectives succeeded in quieting the rumpus and time was taken out for a few minutes.

Following the renewal of the game, O'Connell, first baseman for San Francisco, again attacked the umpire and was worsted in the encounter, Croter throwing him down and sitting on the player's head.

Fans Take Hand in Fight. The San Francisco team again started out on the field and the signal for the fans to start cheering. They crowded out of the bleachers and surged across the diamond and the fight that ensued was a regular Kilkenny affair. It was minutes before quiet was restored and Croter was triumphantly escorted from the field by five detectives.

The three umpires, after a conference, ruled the offending members of the San Francisco team off the field for the rest of the season. Photographed to President McCarthy of the Pacific Coast league the details of the fight and requested confirmation of their ruling.
