

ART HIGH SCHOOL HOLD OBSERVANCE OF GOOD ENGLISH WEEK

Many Means and Devices Employed to Stress Need for Correct Speech—Franklin Music Department Has Theater Benefit.

Cartoons and Slogans Teach Good English.

Franklinites see an abundance of good speech resources—Theater Benefit is Success.

BY EDNA MAY ROOT.

GOOD English week was observed in many clever ways at Franklin. In Miss Graham's English classes some good cartoons were drawn by Anna Peterson, Catherine Blood, Gertrude Young and Evelyn Bushnell. Each of Miss Garrison's classes decorated a section of the blackboard with cartoons and slogans, all of which were very good as to ideas and drawings.

The cartoons were drawn by Oma Bell, Hazel Harlan, Henry Sorenson, Donna Steever and Ruth Morrison.

The students of Miss Burns' English classes were colored tags with "good speech" written on them, and these were distributed to the other classes. Between acts the girls of Franklin entertained. The boys' glee club sang "Punctilious and Precise" and "The Art of Speaking." The girls' glee club sang "At Twilight," "Pins for You" and "Two Dimes." In "Pins for You" Celia Balle danced in costume.

Theater-party night last Tuesday. Under auspices of the music department was a great success, both socially and financially. "Lombardi, King of the Football" was the play presented by the club players. Between acts the girls of Franklin entertained. The boys' glee club sang "Punctilious and Precise" and "The Art of Speaking." The girls' glee club sang "At Twilight," "Pins for You" and "Two Dimes." In "Pins for You" Celia Balle danced in costume.

At the Baker production held Tuesday night the executive board of the parent-teacher association accepted the honor of the year. Those present were Mrs. M. Nelson, Phoebe Moffatt, Bernice Mullen, Hilmar Anderson, Donna Steever, Miss F. L. Enter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lesaire, Mr. and Mrs. James Kenney, Mrs. William P. Hauch and Mrs. W. S. Kalk.

The June '22 class had a meeting last Tuesday after school, presided over by the president, Howard Hobson. Plans for the future of the club were discussed and the colors decided upon as jade and silver.

The regular parent-teacher meeting was held Tuesday evening. Principal Ball gave a cordial greeting to all and assured the patrons that they were welcome to visit the school rooms at any time.

Robert Dorn of the faculty gave a splendid explanation of the Sterling Memorial fund. Knowledge and respect for the fund were emphasized. The series of lectures on drama and poetry to be given by Ellen Van Valkenburg, Mrs. Maurice, Mrs. Frank W. Vining, Fisher, campaign manager of the 1922 exposition, gave a stirring talk on that subject, followed by a song by the girls. The evening closed with the exposition by Miss Frank Sella.

Miss Jean Harper, a talented pianist and member of Franklin's orchestra, gave a recital of piano pieces. Refreshments were served and a social hour followed. The girls who served were Delores Sland and Juanita Powell.

The freshman girls reserves of the Portland high schools were guests at an afternoon party on Friday, October 13, in the Y. W. C. A. social room. The girls of Franklin acted as hostesses and the Lincoln girls reserves served dainty refreshments.

The Science club reorganized the week ago. Friday afternoon, Emil Purper, vice-president, Glenn Moore, secretary-treasurer, Anna Young, chairman of the committee on drama, and Miss Winchell, many plans are being made for good times in the future. This club is open to all students and teachers interested in scientific problems.

Classes Present Pointers on English.

Girls' Polytechnic Student Groups Impress Need of Correct Speech at Special Assemblies.

BY KATHLEEN SHAW AND HARRIET BOLLEN.

GOOD English week was observed by having an assembly each day to show the importance of using correct English. The third-term girls entertained on Tuesday with a buffet fare. The girls of the chorus dressed as a pied piper drew after him and out of school all such languages as slang and common errors.

On Monday the first-termers presented a clever play written by members of the class. Each part of speech was impersonated and its work in language explained. On Wednesday, a play by Miss Lindsey, "The Ship We Meet Again," was presented in the auditorium. On Thursday the school was entertained by a talk by Mrs. Harry Heale Torrey.

The glee club, under direction of Miss Maguire, is preparing to give a concert at the school. The chorus is doing excellent work and the school is confident that the concert to be given at the auditorium in the near future will be a great success as was the last one.

Part of the studies for the Polytechnic Maid was elected at the senior meeting last week. The officers elected were: Leah Hall, editor; Margaret Cleverly, advertising manager; Harriet Bolten, assistant advertising manager; Twila Armstrong, joke editor; Helen Robinson, exchange editor; Mary Mikarek, subscription manager; A. committee. A list of the upon pictures of the senior class was also elected.

A pretty display of kimonos was held in the upper hall by the first-term girls. The gowns are made of crepe or flannel and are bound with ribbon.

Attractive silk waists embroidered with glass beads and silk are now being made by the first-term sewing classes. Many new styles are used and the result is seen in extremely pretty and modish garments.

A trip to a meat market was made by the third-term domestic science classes for the purpose of learning more about the different cuts of meat. These cuts were shown to the girls and notes were taken by them for future reference.

Jefferson Observes Good English Week.

Assemblies and Posters Call Attention to Correct Language—Dance Involutions Out.

BY HARRY G. JOHNSON.

GOOD English week was formally observed Wednesday and Thursday at Jefferson by a better English assembly. As the length of the programme made it impossible to hold two of the assemblies, under the double assembly system, the same programme was presented on successive days.

The first assembly was given by the students, under the leadership of Miss Alice Robinson as Mrs. Fallon; Gertrude Patton as Mrs. Tully; Logan Roe, James Ryan, and James Smith, as the boys; and Miss Alice Robinson as Mrs. Fallon; Gertrude Patton as Mrs. Tully; Logan Roe, James Ryan, and James Smith, as the boys.

After the skit, Edgar Pengra made a report on the advance of school work during the week. He explained which the students repaired to their classes.

Jefferson also employed other tactics to bring about the use of good speech. The art department has made posters emblazoned with slogans and the students are to make them.

The first meeting of the term for the usher corps was called on November 2. At this meeting many new members were taken into the corps and the membership in this body increased to 40, and almost the entire number was filled at this meeting.

The bids have been issued for the new building. The bids are to be given at the Laurelhurst club on Saturday evening, November 13. The bids are engraved with the emblem of the organization.

The weekly fire drill was held at Jefferson on Wednesday, November 3. After the student body had made its exit from the building, the timers announced that the drill had lasted 1 minute 20 seconds.

The Jefferson Trails club is looking for a new home. The club is to be held during the holiday vacation. The club expects to remain at the lake for several days.

The Clatsop of Jefferson held a meeting last Tuesday, at which they decided upon their pins, the design of which has not been made public. The meeting is expected to be out within a short time.

The Art association has loaned Jefferson a number of pictures through the medium of the Portland School Art League. These drawings show a rare skill, and Jefferson is considered fortunate to obtain the loan of them.

The senior class of June '22 received its class pins last Wednesday, which they all donned with their class colors, jade green and silver. The club expects to remain at the lake for several days.

The Tri-L plan to act as big sisters to the freshman girls. The club will endeavor to assist the freshmen in keeping up their work and in their high school program in general.

The class of January '22 has chosen the cast for its play, "The Road to Yesterday," which is to be presented in the auditorium. The cast includes Florence Bowit, Emily Buford, Alice Joy, Mary Rice, Beulah Blackwell, James Bodin, Joe Fry, and others.

The Spanish club gave a party at the home of Lloyd Eberly in Alameda in honor of the new members of the club on last Thursday. Dancing was the principal feature of the evening.

Students Take Interest in Stock Show.

James John Hears About Exhibition at Assemblies—Prizes Offered Users of Good English.

BY ELOISE GRAY.

TWO popular songs, "Tomorrow Land" and "Make Believe," were delightfully rendered by the Girls' Glee club in their first appearance before the student body, Thursday morning, November 3. Three representatives from various civic organizations made interesting talks to the students.

Mr. Noonan, postmaster of the St. Johns branch, explained the rules and regulations of the parcel post money order and postal savings systems. Mr. Bronaugh of the Pacific International Livestock exposition, urged the students to support the show, and Mrs. White, head of the Portland Campfire girls, explained the benefits of such an organization and announced that new groups are being formed.

Trappers Realize Millions.

SASKATOON, Saskatchewan—Furs to the value of more than $2,000,000 were sold by Saskatchewan trappers during the year 1920. Muskrat pelts brought the highest revenue, $1,099,476. They sold 2,421 pelts. Coyote skins were next, with a sale of 15,000 pelts, value $294,176. A total of 9274 skunk pelts, valued at $49,870, were sold.

Everyone watched everyone else for "it don't" and "that there," and those forgetting to "watch their English" were gently reminded to do so by acquiring a blue tag for every mistake made.

Posters, too, had their place in the campaign, for every day the students were confronted with clever and timely reminders posted in the halls. Suitable prizes are to be awarded the student making the least number of mistakes in many places in the country and the class having the best poster, and the class having the best slogan.

On Thursday, Clarence J. Young, a Portland attorney, addressed the student body on the value of good speech, emphasizing the particular need of good speech in the business world.

The girls' basketball teams have elected the following captains: Eighth term, Vesta Simmons; seventh term, Merle Chowning; sixth term, Ruby Brown; fifth term, Helen Bader; fourth term, Margaret Holbrook; third term, Phyllis Conn; second term, Margaret McGregor; first term, Margaret McFarland.

Los Dudes, the Spanish club, is planning a party for its new members at the first regular meeting to be held Monday. Twenty-five new members are expected to join the club. Activities will begin at once. Mr. Garcia is the faculty adviser for this term.

Nearly 175 of the students were the guests of the Hikers last Saturday evening at a masquerade party given in the school gymnasium. The evening was spent in dancing and games. Refreshments, consisting of doughnuts and cider, were served. Mrs. Newell and Mrs. Winger were in charge of the affair.

The student body is looking forward to the Neakkie vaudeville, which is to be held on November 18. The Neakkie Literary society, the oldest club in the school of its kind, will entertain the evening. Tickets Wednesday of this week.

The regular Wednesday assembly was postponed on account of the two assemblies that were to be held on Thursday in honor of Armistice day and better English week.

Tableau Programme Pleases Lincolnites.

Living Pictures Emphasize Lessons of Correct Speech—Seventh-Termers Hosts to Seniors.

BY MARGARET KRESSMANN.

THIS last week was Better English week in all the city schools, and Lincoln celebrated in some special way the registration-room teachers gave short talks during the study period, on an extensive good vocabulary. On Tuesday, during the regular assembly, a special programme was given by the English department.

Wednesday all the students signed a pledge that they would add five words to their vocabulary by December 20, and by Thursday all the students had memorized the poem, "The Beautiful Willamette," by Samuel L. Simpson, one of the greatest poets of the West. The Tuesday assembly was the biggest event of the week and the programme was said to be one of the best ever given in the school.

The general exchange of pupils ordered by the Portland presbytery for today, the pupil of the Mizpah Presbyterian church will be occupied at the hour of morning service, 11 o'clock, by the pastor, Rev. The Sabbath school is crowding the present capacity of the room. There are 19 new members, and on Sunday, Sabbath school begins at 10 A. M. There are classes for all.

Pack Club Rounds Out Its Membership Roll.

Washington High Hiking Society Initiates 10 Boys—Spanish Club Plans Reception.

BY TED MOORATH AND TED HEWITT.

SINCE its organization, the Pack club, a fishing, hunting and hiking society, has progressed more rapidly than most clubs of its class.

The club began with an enrollment of 45 members and, due to certain conditions, it was found necessary to limit the membership to 50 boys. The quota was reached last week when 19 new members were voted in. A large waiting list is on file.

Last term the boys made their first trip to Hoarding river, a distance of 40 miles, in two days. A few days ago they made their second trip to Hoarding river, taking the trail over the mountains instead of the river trail. Extensive plans are being made for a hike to Lost Lake by way of Wahtum lake, which will be taken during the Thanksgiving holiday.

The new members are: Ira Gardner, Eldon Beeks, Myron Kramer, Edmond Anderson, Eugene Curtis, Ed Hope, Roy Johnson, Walter Bowler, Vern Campbell, Peter McCorkle, Earl Jellison, Dr. Gustave Sonntag, Sidney Wieder, Tanya Haber, Frieda Hansen, Paul John Beckman, Klemm, Pomeroy, Isaac Davis, Mrs. Stanlaw, Mabel Shearer, Mr. Stanlaw, Vigor Kyle, Corinne Stanlaw, Florence Kalk, Mrs. W. H. Winger, Mrs. Smallen, Mr. Jellison, Howard Stewart, Beattie Dupp, Lilly Sax, Mrs. Dupp, Helen Mackay.

The first issue of the Ledger will come out Thanksgiving. Judging from the planning by each department this issue will be one of the largest and best ever produced by the students. Arthur McCormick is the editor. The first issue of the Ledger will come out Thanksgiving.
